TWO MEN KILLED IN TRAIN ACCIDENT

Twenty Others Were Injured—The Accident Occurred at Dorchester

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Two persons were killed and 20 injured at 11.30 o'clock this forenoon when a train on the Plymouth division of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad was derailed near the Crescent avenue station, Dorchester, on the border of a marsh.

The dead:

W. J. TYRELL, JR., South Braintree, engineer.

FRANK CAMPBELL, Cohasset, fireman.

Among the injured were:

Mrs. Fred Chandler, Weymouth.

Mrs. Sophia Lind, Braintree

The wrecked train was one which left Plymouth and was due in Boston at 11.40 a. m. It consisted of the locomotive, three passenger coaches and a baggage car. When rounding a sharp curve the locomotive suddenly left the rails and plunged for half its length into the mud of the marsh. Three coaches left the rails but the baggage car remained on the track. The engine men were crushed to death and a number of passengers were severely cut and bruised.

Dr. J. J. O'Brien of Milton, who was on board the train, escaped unhurt and treated many of those who had received injuries.

Mrs. Chandler, who was in the second coach, was caught underneath some wreckage.

About 100 passengers were on board the train. It was running from Atlantic station to Boston and was going at a high speed when the wreck occurred.

The cause of the derailment is unknown.

Four of the persons taken to the hospitals were so seriously injured that it was feared they would die. They are:

Miss Blanche Drinkwater of Braintree. Internal injuries.

Mrs. Frank Jenkins of Atlantic, burns.

A man named Llewellyn and an unknown woman.

Fifteen other persons are being treated in the hospitals.

Most of the injured were riding in the forward passenger car. While a doctor on the train was attending the injured, word was telephoned to a hospital and the police. Within a short time a number of ambulances and eight doctors had arrived on the scene Many of the injured were rushed to the hospitals in ambulances, while others were taken to the South station in a train. Seven priests reached the wreck within a short time and assisted in attending the injured.

A wrecking train was sent out of the South station and about 100 men were soon at work clearing away the wreckage. The outward bound track was not obstructed by the wreckage but traffic on the inward bound rails was tied up for some time.

J. D. ROCKEFELLER, JR. IS IMPORTANT MAN

In Rosenthal Case—Has Been Making an Investigation Into White Slave Traffic

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—By far the most interesting development in the many-sided investigation into the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, is the news of John D. Rockefeller, Jr.'s quiet complementary inquiry into conditions in the underworld, particularly as to the so-called white slave traffic.

While Mr. Rockefeller and his agents decline to discuss the matter and Dist. Atty. Whitman will furnish no details, it is generally credited that through the establishment of what purports to be a disorderly house in the Tenderloin, agents for Mr. Rockefeller have gathered a great deal of valuable material. It was gathered primarily for reports to congress and the legislature as a basis for corrective legislation dealing with the traffic in girls, but coincidentally it dove-tailed with the present inquiry into the Rosenthal case. It is said that evidence was obtained that a police inspector was getting $600 a month from such resorts for protection. This data will be at Mr. Whitman's disposal to use along with the confession of "Bald Jack" Rose and others. It is thought probable that the district attorney and Mr. Rockefeller will hold a conference some time this week.

The evidence in question was collected by Clifford Roe, a detective who was prominent in the Chicago vice crusade in co-operation with Assistant District Attorney Reynolds. Whether any of this evidence will be presented to the grand jury now in session could not be learned.

Bliss, commander of the Connecticut manoeuvres, are arriving today to look after the preliminary details of settling the headquarters camp at Paradise Green. Advance detachments of various organizations are coming by train to look after baggage and camp appurtenances and in order to guide them in the right way a bureau of information was opened this morning at the railroad station. The engineers of company B, First battalion, have completed the lay-out of headquarters camp and have marked off the space for the New York national guard division and second brigade headquarters. In orders issued by Adjutant General Cole to the Connecticut forces today the period of the manoeuvres campaign is changed from the 19th to the 18th, so that operations may conclude on Saturday, the 17th and commands may be taken home on the 18th.

SHOT BY BROTHER

IN A ROW OVER HIS WIFE WEDNESDAY

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Mrs. Frederick Denker, of Washington avenue, Mariners' harbor, Staten Island, declared yesterday that her husband, who was reported to have been shot by a burglar in his room last Thursday, was wounded instead by his brother Michael. The brothers are Standard Oil employes.

On the strength of Mrs. Denker's statement, Detective Smith arrested Michael Denker. He was arraigned before City Magistrate Marsh, at Stapleton, and committed to jail in default of $2500 bail for examination tomorrow morning. Mrs. Denker was held in $500 bail as a material witness.

Detective Smith had heard that Michael Denker, who lived with his brother, had entered the house under the influence of liuor a few minutes before Frederick was shot. He went to Mrs. Denker and she confessed to have seen Michael shoot her husband twice.

Mrs. Denker said Michael had insisted upon paying attention to her, although she tried to discourage him. Her husband remonstrated with Michael, and the shooting followed, she asserted.

FINANCIAL REPORT OF POLICE DEPT.

INCREASE OF $302.31 IN SALARIES

Due to the Promotion of Officers

The police department for the first six months in 1912 has been run on almost identically the same basis as for the corresponding months in 1911. A plain statement of figures having to do with the department was given out by Mayor O'Donnell this forenoon and while the strike cost the department somewhere in the vicinity of $1500 the mayor says that that amount will be taken care of later by special appropriation.

Under the head of sundries the department shows a saving of $641.13 for the first six months in 1912, and an increase, in the salaries of superior officers, of $302.21. This increase is accounted for by the fact that Lieut. Brosnan was made a captain in the latter part of the first six months of 1911 with the usual increase in salary, and Inspector Maher was made a lieutenant and his salary was increased accordingly. It also happens that there was a calendar discrepancy in the two years and in favor of 1911 so far as expense was concerned, for there were two months of the first six months in 1912 that had five weeks each. There has been no increase in salaries in the police department under the present administration.

There was a slight increase under the head of "patrolmen" in 1912 and that, too, is explained by the mayor. In March of 1911 two new men were added to the police force and Officer Paige, the city hall officer, was paid $500 out of the messenger's department appropriation, while this year he is paid out of the police appropriation and taking all in all the department is going along on about the same basis as last year.

The good old steamer is temporarily disabled and quite a number of the members were heard to say that the boat would be missed as the sail up and back was a very pleasant feature of the outing. But, boat or no boat, just leave it to the Martin Luthers to have a good time. They are all jolly good fellows, and it only happens twice a month for four months in the year.

ALIEN LABOR LAWS HAVE BEEN VIOLATED

According to Immigration Officials

SAVILLE IS UNDER $7000 Bonds

Many Witnesses Are to be Called

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—The immigration officials will present further evidence before U. S. Commissioner Grinnell tomorrow in support of their contention that the United States alien labor laws have been violated by the transfer of mill operatives by an English company to its American plants. Arthur T. Saville of Bradford, England, who was arrested Aug. 1 on a charge of infringing the laws, is at liberty under $7000 bonds and it is expected that the majority of 22 persons detained at the immigration station since July 31 will give testimony before the hearing which was begun yesterday is concluded.

The federal authorities allege that Saville is an employe of Francis Willey and company wool combers of Bradford and Shipley, England, and Boston and Barre, Mass.

WOMAN FUGITIVE

INDICTED FOR KILLING ARRESTED IN MAINE

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The Brooklyn police received word yesterday from the authorities in Portland, Me., that Mrs. Sadie Tietelbaum, who is under indictment in connection with the death of Leo Skamene, in a restaurant in Surf avenue, Coney Island, last May, was arrested there on Tuesday night.

Skamene was an electrical contractor and was said to have had an interest with Mrs. Tietelbaum in the Coney Island restaurant. He was found early one morning in May dying from a bullet wound on the floor of the restaurant with a revolver alongside of him Benjamin Silver, a brother of Mrs. Tietelbaum, was sitting at a table close by and his sister was in the kitchen.

Both declared at first that they knew nothing of the shooting, but later Silver said that it was done by a stranger, who made his escape. Skamene, who died within a few hours at the Coney Island hospital, refused to say who shot him.

At the hearing before the magistrate the police could not connect the woman with the shooting and she was discharged, but her brother was held.

Mrs. Tietelbaum had disappeared when the grand jury indicted her and her brother for homicide.

JOE ALBERT'S SQUIRREL IS AT HOME AGAIN

The expression, "they never come back" may be applied in many cases, but not in that of Undertaker Joseph Albert's squirrel for the latter did come back, even though it was gone nearly two months, but wherever the little creature went its spirit was changed, for "Trick," which is the name of the squirrel, is not so good humored as it was and now tries to get a nip at any one who goes near its cage.

As the story goes, Trick, which was given a lot of freedom, was one day on the roof garden, over Mr. Albert's shop in Aiken street, and was free to go wherever it pleased. The little fellow would wander out of its cage on the roof, but would never attempt to go farther. About two months ago Trick walked across the telephone wire and descended the pole into the street and that was the last seen of it. On many occasions it was reported that the little squirrel had been seen in the vicinity of the shop, but it could not be found.

This morning, however, Miss Mallet, the bookkeeper, heard a strange noise at the door. She went to the front of the office and there saw Trick, who was waiting to be admitted. The young woman opened the door and Trick had no sooner entered the room, than it jumped on her hand and bit her finger severely. Then it almost flew to its cage which was open, and placing itself in its sleeping berth, remained there, refusing food or water. The squirrel, wherever it went, must have had a hard time, for it bears a large scar over the right eye.

BOULEVARD WELLS CONNECTED TODAY

The Water Will be Pumped From Them Into Reservoir Within a Week or Two

The 250 or more new wells at the boulevard were connected today and water from these wells will be pumped into the reservoir within a week or so, in order to give the pipes a thorough cleansing before the water is sent to the reservoir, the water will be pumped through the pipes and into the river for two or three days.

Just as soon as the new wells have been put in practical operation the old wells at the boulevard, 200 or more, will be changed, taken out of the old rut, so to speak, in order that they may give better service. The old wells have been in use for a number of years and the water coming from the river and undergoing the natural process of filtration by percolating through the sand from the river to the wells, pursues certain courses, little paths from the river to the wells, is not being as well filtered as in the beginning and it is to get the water away from these old courses that the wells will be changed.

FREE TOLLS FAVORED BY THE U. S. SENATE

U.S. Ships to Use the Panama Canal Without Being Assessed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The senate voted 4 to 1 shortly before midnight last night to give free tolls through the Panama canal to vessels engaged exclusively in the United States coastwise trade. This result came after nearly 12 hours of debate.

The vote came on a motion by Senator Theodore Burton of Ohio to strike from the Panama canal bill the clause which gives free tolls to coastwise shipping. Mr. Burton's motion failed, 44 to 11.

The vote was thought to be significant as foreshadowing a vote in favor of free tolls for all American shipping and a clear disregard of Great Britain's protest. The only change in the house bill provision giving free tolls to coastwise shipping was the insertion on motion of Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia of the qualifying word "exclusively," which limited the free tolls to vessels engaged "exclusively" in such trade.

This was adopted, 32 to 16. The senator from Georgia tried to have another amendment added requiring coastwise vessels to pay the cost of the actual operating expenses of the canal during their passage through without recourse upon the United States for damages resulting from injuries, due to accidents in the passage, but this was rejected.

Senator Cummins of Iowa declared that there was only one arbitrament by which the question of our right to give free tolls to American ships could be referred and that was "the sword."

He denied that it was a question for The Hague. Senator John Sharp Williams was quickened into action by this statement from the Iowa senator.

"I rise," said he, "solely to rebuke this cry of war. The senator would plunge the nation in a war and shed the blood of our citizens for what? A few paltry dollars represented by canal tolls."

Senator Cummins' speech furnished the thrill of the evening. He denied the application of arbitration to any question affecting the canal.

"While the United States is bound to charge no more than what is fair and equitable," he said, "the United States is to be the sole judge of what is fair and equitable."

The senator inquired if the United States was to be expected to arbitrate a question in which our very national life is concerned.

He denounced the policy of those who objected to free tolls for American ships as "weak and cowardly." These advocates, he said, lack patriotism.

"They would deny to their country the right to protect itself and might destroy its honor among the nations of the world. A congress or an administration responsible for such a policy would go down in history followed by the detestations of a liberty-loving people."

Senator Burton made a brief and spirited speech in opposition to free tolls. He declared that the Senate should be the last agency of government to disregard treaty obligations.

Brandegee, Burton, Crane, Fall, Gronna, Lodge, Nelson, Oliver, Penrose, Root and Wetmore.

In the course of the debate there was an interesting colloquy between Senator O'Gorman of New York and Senator Lippitt of Rhode Island over the question as to whether the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad has monopolized both land and water transportation in New England.

Senator Chamberlain of Oregon attacked the New Haven road as a monopoly and charged that the road not only dominated transportation by rail throughout all New England, but controlled navigation between Portland, Me., and New York.

Senator Lippitt came to the defence of the road. He insisted that while the New Haven controlled some of the steamship lines in Long Island sound, there were a large number of independent lines and competition was sharp.

Senator Lippitt, reinforced by Senator Page of Vermont, contended also that there is sharp competition with the New Haven road in the matter of transportation by rail on the part of the Grand Trunk.

Senator O'Gorman said that the information as to monopolization by the New Haven in New England had been supplied by the vice president of the railroad, who testified before a senate committee.

Senator Works was one of those who spoke on the canal bill. He contended that there could be no other construction of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty than that which permited the United Sates to give free passage to its own vessels and that any other interpretation would be unfavorable to our own interests. He believed the government should be honest in dealing with other nations. Mr. Works opposed the payment of tolls by the government.

"That would be nothing but rebating," he said, "and rebating is not very popular in this country."

Senator Chamberlain said that wherever doubt exists the problem should be solved in favor of the United States. For that reason he believed American vessels should be exampted from tolls.

HINKY DINK CLUB

HAD A GREAT TRIP TO REVERE TODAY

The "Hinky Dinky club" held an outing today and it isn't necessary to say very much about it for everybody was on. About thirty of the members went to Revere beach in Jesse Trull's big automobile truck, the machine in which he transports his farm produce from the field to the city market. It's the biggest truck in this section of the country, and it was a jolly bunch of farmers that jumped aboard today and set sail for Revere. The machine was decorated with the national colors, and the "Hinky Dinky club" members wore farmers' straw hats, nine cent a copy. Jesse Trull wanted to wear a cap but the Hingy Dinks wouldn't stand for it, and just for that Jesse had to tie his hat on with a hitch rope. The bunch was photographed in Paige street just before leaving for the beach, and if properly developed it will be some picture. The Hinky Dinks made certain that they would not be dry on the way, for they took along ten cases of spring water. If they are not arrested as suspicious characters the chances are they will have a bang-up time at the beach.

Terry Leonard has charge of the party and he is being ably assisted by Park Commissioner Alex. Rountree. While the big truck was standing in Bridge street a bonny lass hopped in and seating herself beside Johnnie Lee, gave Johnnie a little hug, and declared she was a farmer's girl. She was asked to sing, said she would, and this was it:

"I am a gay and laughing girl, just turning sweet sixteen,
As full of fun and frolic as any you have seen,
But when I am a woman grown, no city beau for me,
If e'er I marry in my life, a farmer's wife I'll be,
Let other girls who love it best, enjoy the dirty town,
The dusty streets and dingy walks to ramble up and down,
But flowery fields and sunny skies and shady woods for me,
If e'er I marry in my life, a farmer's wife I'll be".

At the conclusion of this very pretty and appropriate little verse, for she was singing to the farmer heart, the dainty lady planted one on Johnnie's rosy cheek and slipped away with the agility of a Hanover ghost. It took three men to hold Johnnie.

HOUSE OF COMMONS ENDS A LONG SESSION

The Passing of the Home Rule Bill is Promised by Next Christmas

LONDON, Aug. 8.—The house of commons yesterday adjourned till Oct. 7. Except for a break of a few days at Easter and again at Whitsuntide, the house has been in session for seven months.

Before the adjournment Herbert L. Samuel, postmaster general, explained the British government's contract with the Marconi company, which provides that the British government supply the company with $8,000,000 for the building of five great wireless stations, Australia to supply $500,000 for another station and the whole to form a wireless circuit around the globe. The contract was the subject of severe attack recently, and in reply to this Mr. Samuel said the British government was unable to undertake the construction of wireless stations itself and the Marconi company was the only concern possessing the necessary experience and plant to carry out the scheme.

Decks Cleared for Autumn

While the house has not passed any important bills this session, it has cleared the decks for the autumn session, which will, according to the government organizers, continue until home rule, Welsh disestablishment, the franchise bill and another to allow trades unions to contribute to the support of labor members of the house have passed the house of commons.

All these bills have received a second reading in the lower house and the home rule bill has had a few days in committee. The program, however, is a heavy one for an autumn session, especially when the importance of the legislation is considered and the fact that each bill will have to be forced through against the united opposition of the unionists.

Many doubt the ability of the government to get through with all this proposed legislation and some disappointment has been expressed that greater progress was not made before adjournment with home rule and Welsh disestablishment.

Glad to Get Away

The government is heartily glad of the adjournment. Ministers have not had an easy time keeping their forces together and have had to depend on occasions entirely on the Irish vote to carry them through. Many liberals have found it necessary to be at work in their constituencies, and the labor members, although they support the government when present, have lost much of their enthusiasm for the coalition.

In fact, the nationalists and the very stanch liberals have been the only supporters of the government who have been constant in their attendance.

A very close watch had been kept by the liberal whips on the unionists, who have many members from the counties near London, able to get to the house easily, and who tried repeatedly to get a snap vote against the government whenever the government benches were slimly occupied, mustering in full force to drag down the ministerial majority.

Home Rule to Pass

Premier Asquith in Dublin promised that home rule would be through the commons by Christmas. It is thought, however, that it will be into the new year before the other big measures are ready to be sent to the lords.

As the upper house is sure to throw them out, the first business of the new session will be their reintroduction. This will have to be reported in still another session before the lords become powerless to further delay them.

Cabinet ministers are promising more important legislation for next year's session. One bill is a measure to settle trades disputes. This will probably be modeled on the Canadian act, which provides penalties for the proclamation of strikes or lockouts before the dispute has been referred to arbitration.

The couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts of furniture, cut glass and silver. The girls of the Lowell Textile Co. shop gave the bride a linen shower and also a chair. The fellow-workmen of Mr. Boudreau in the Lamson Co. presented the pair with a chair.

After the ceremony, a reception to friends was held in Highland hall on Middlesex street. An orchestra was in attendance and dancing was enjoyed, after which refreshments were served to the guests.

The couple will make an extensive wedding trip to Prince Edward island, also visiting in Quebec and Montreal. They will be at home to friends in about a month.

A LIVELY DISCUSSION OVER LIGHTING CONTRACT

Mayor Fitzgerald and Commissioner Sullivan Tell What They Think of Each Other

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Mayor Fitzgerald and John A. Sullivan, chairman of the finance commission, gave personal opinions of each other in the aldermanic chamber yesterday during a public hearing on a street lighting contract recommended by the commission, Engineer Guy C. Emerson, Supt. Wade of the lamp division and Commissioner Rourke, the man who drafted the contract.

The hearing, with the mayor presiding, was in progress two hours or more before Chairman Sullivan found an opportunity to get the floor, although frequently interrupting others when he deemed the commission's position and the contract needed safeguarding.

When he did finally get to the floor he made things interesting for a time, especially when he charged that the mayor directed Commissioner Rourke in November last to reject a proposal that appeared advantageous to the city and afforded the municipality an opportunity to end the monopoly that the Rising Sun company had on gas lighting for almost 25 years.

The mayor interjected that he did so because the corporation counsel, Mr. Babson, had given opinion that the proposal was illegal in form.

Chairman Sullivan took the mayor to task on that, asserting that the corporation counsel did not so rule. The contract, the counsel held, was irregular, not illegal, Mr. Sullivan declared.

Questions Board's Veracity

As the chairman was reading from a typewritten statement the mayor requested that he insert, at least, that the contract was rejected because Mr. Babson so advised. Chairman Sullivan declined to accommodate the mayor, whereupon the latter said:

"It is characteristic of the finance commission to avoid true statements when it is to the convenience of that body to do so."

"The statement in regard to the corporation counsel is true and according to fact," replied Chairman Sullivan.

"I deny it," said the mayor, sharply.

Chairman Sullivan shrugged his shoulders, said he would take the mayor's denial for what it was worth, and later might give it more attention. It cannot be questioned, he added, that the Rising Sun people have been in possession of street lighting without competition ever since 1899 and operating as reigning powers for a much longer period. It was not until Mayor Hibbard took charge of the city's affairs that an attempt was made to take from this company the control of the lighting business of the city. The company continued, however, but some good results followed, notably a reduction in the prices.

Mr. Sullivan, referring to the appropriation by loan of $300,000 for municipal lighting in 1910, said that it was then that the mayor should have objected and refused to approve the order.

"The city treasury was in a better condition then," interjected the mayor.

The chairman passed the interruption over with another shrug, adding that unless something is done now the chances are that the contract with the Rising Sun company will be further continued, probably until the mayor completes his term of office.

The mayor, at the opening of the hearing, announced the condition of the treasury and then enumerated a number of crying needs, such as a water front playground for East Boston, a contagious hospital a new building for the aged poor on Long Island, etc. He said he would not favor a change in the present system of lighting while these improvements were pending.

When the hearing started William F. Brown, counsel for the Rising Sun company, and Robert Jordan, counsel for dealers in the Graetzin mantle lamp, the one favored in the contract, and other representatives of lighting companies and lamp manufacturers, took places at the center table. When Commissioner Rourke, Supt. Wade and Engineer Emerson of the finance commission made statements on tests of lamps made in West Roxbury and Jamaica Plain and reported in favor of the Graetzin lamp, Mr. Brown took an active part in the cross-examination of each.

Referring to this, Chairman Sullivan said it was most extraordinary to witness the counsel of the Rising Sun being not only permitted but even assisted by the mayor from time to time in an effort to discredit the city's experts.

"You have over your own signature," said he, addressing the mayor, "certified when you appointed Mr. Rourke that he was in every way qualified by education and experience to conduct the business of that department, and notwithstanding that you have at this hearing permitted Mr. Brown to try to discredit him. Yes, you have even yourself from time to time, assisted Mr. Brown in his attempt and apparently for the same purpose."

As to the other public improvements, Mr. Sullivan said needs of that kind will always be found in a large city, and if harkened to by succeeding mayors, as is apparently the intention of the present, the Rising Sun company will go on holding a contract for street lighting until time is no more. Under the contract before the meeting it is estimated the city will save over the Rising Sun contract about $19,000 a year, a sum which may be regarded as a substantial revenue for the city.

To this the mayor objected. Supposing that an epidemic were to break out during the year, what would become of the people with no contagious hospital building? he asked. Would they have to wait five years or until such time as the saving amounted to a sum that would warrant a building?

Mr. Sullivan replied that such a supposition was out of place and not to be taken seriously. It is something that may arise at any time.

"If the reports of the experts, Rourke, Emerson and Wade, are to be discredited in the interest of a further extension of the contract with the Rising Sun, there appears to be nothing further to be said on the matter," said Chairman Sullivan, gathering up his papers and preparing to retire from the room.

The mayor said the statement of Mr. Sullivan called for a reply from him. He continued:

"I need not inform the citizens who know Mr. Sullivan that his remarks are characteristic of him. The finance commission, of which he is the official head, favor loans for street lighting, but will not favor a loan for improvements that are more necessary for the preservation of health and even life."

Mr. Sullivan interrupted the mayor to say that he would like to hear all the mayor had to say about him personally, but advised His Honor that his train would be leaving at 5:11.

"I can wait five minutes," said he, "and may I hope that Your Honor will finish your criticism of me in that time?"

"I couldn't tell all I know about you in an hour," said the mayor, which brought out a cheer from the back of the chamber.

Mr. Sullivan bowed and then turned to leave the chamber, but the mayor called him back, advising that he give him the five minutes at least. Mr. Sullivan returned to the rail and there remained while the mayor went into the history of street lighting.

Finally the mayor returned to the topic of the finance commission, saying it was not new to learn of their opinion of the mayor, that they have been consistently handing out reports for the past six years, yet in the face of facts, as they term things, he has been returned to the mayor's office.

"I am willing to accept my responsibility," said he, "and when it becomes a question of helping the baby or spending money for street lighting, I shall always be found on the side of the baby. The humane side never appeals to Mr. Sullivan and—"

The mayor paused noting for the first time that the chairman of the finance commission was not in his accustomed place.

"Is he gone?" he asked.

On being informed that Mr. Sullivan went out while the mayor was reciting history, he dismissed the subject by remarking:

"I am sorry he has gone and will not take advantage of his absence to say a few things that might be of interest to him."

The mayor then showed figures from other cities which he asserted went to establish the fact that Boston was today better lighted than any city in the country and much cheaper. The present contract with the Rising Sun is $22.30 per lamp per year and he had the assurance of the company that under a contract extended for 10 years would be reduced to $21 per lamp.

Easy Aids to Good Looks
(Elia Ellis in the Arch)

"After motoring or golfing the hair may be dusty—with no time for washing the head. In this dilemma you will find a dry shampoo a good friend. Put four ounces of powdered orris root in a fruit jar, add an original package of therox and mix together. Sprinkle a little on the head and brush through the hair. Therox removes dust, oil and dandruff, and leaves the hair light, fluffy and easy to do up.

"Disfiguring wild hairs can be made to vanish quickly from face or forearms by applying delatone paste, made by mixing powdered delatone with water. Cover the hairy surface with this paste for a minute or two, then remove, wash the skin, and the hairs will be gone.

"Short and thin eyelashes detract from otherwise beautiful eyes. Weak and straggly lashes can be strengthened if plain pyroxin be applied to the lash roots with thumb and forefinger. Thin eyebrows always improve with daily applications of pyroxin.

"A complexion cannot be dainty if the skin is shining from perspiration. A complexion beautifier that will not rub off or show like powder is made easily by dissolving an original package of mayatone in a half-pint of witch hazel. This 'holds' and does not smear. Gently massage with this solution daily, and the skin will be soft and satiny, velvety and smooth."

EDUCATION NOTES

Esperanto is taught in some of the state-supported schools in England, France and Germany.

Of the 523,000 public school teachers in the United States more than four-fifths are women.

The fairy tales of Grimm and of Hans Christian Andersen are excluded from the Austrian schools by a recent order, "because of their slight importance."

At Woodbrooke, England, there is a school for social service, where men and women from all parts of the world study various kinds of social work. The institution is affiliated with Birmingham university.

A German school is to be established in the city of Barranquilla, Colombia. The Germans living in that region have raised the funds for the land and building, and the German government will send out and maintain the teachers.

Men teachers in Schwarzburg-Sonderhausen, Germany, are required to ask permission of the school authorities before they can marry, according to a new law. Warning is given that this permission will be denied in case of "obvious inability of the teacher to support a family."

A course of penal studies was recently instituted by the University of Montpellier, France. Physicians, publicists, lawyers, police and court officials were among those who enrolled for the course. American educators hope that the interest in criminology will lead to something similar in this country.

In the kingdom of Saxony a new school bill is before the landstag. Some of the proposals are: Licenses required for teachers in private as well as public schools; supervision of regular school subjects by the clergy abolished; attendance upon continuation schools made obligatory for girls as well as boys. Religious instruction continues to be compulsory, despite the agitation against it.

At the invited guest of Chicago university and other institutions, Prof. Caspar Rene Gregory, of the University of Leipzig, Germany, traveled nearly 23,000 miles in the United States and Canada during the last year, lecturing before institutions in 26 states of the Union and nine of the Canadian provinces. Professor Gregory is said to be the only American holding a regular professorship in a German university.

The two needs of the present day in teaching, according to a recent publication of the United States bureau of education, are intelligent idealism and high scientific standards. "To possess these things as a guide to life, to have the intellectual gifts that are necessary for achievement, and to interpret these things to the student by sympathetic interest in his work, is to be a great teacher."

The 200th anniversary of the birth of Jean Jacques Rousseau, on June 28th of this year, was almost unobserved in the United States, though the part played by Rousseau's educational and political theories in the history of this republic have been considerable from the very beginning. Some attention was given to the anniversary in Europe. One enthusiastic German, while admitting that Switzerland was Rousseau's birthplace and France his home, claimed that Germany had "discovered him and ennobled his achievements into an eternal gift of civilization."

At the International Mathematics congress, held in Rome in 1908, a commission was appointed for each nation to study the subject of mathematics-teaching in the several countries. The members of the American commission, David Eugene Smith of Teachers' college, New York city; W. F. Osgood, Harvard university; and J. W. A. Long, University of Chicago, aided by a large number of eminent teachers from all over the country acting on various committees, made a very thorough investigation of American conditions, and prepared a series of reports which will be presented at the 1912 meeting of the congress, to be held in Cambridge, England, in August. The reports have been published for free distribution by the United States bureau of education.

CHELMSFORD STREET HOSPITAL

Institution up to the Standard Under Supt. Dowd

In spite of the recent reverses met with at the Chelmsford Street hospital the institution continues to maintain its equilibrium and the condition of affairs there is highly favorable and satisfactory.

The most recent setback was the fire of a month ago which completely destroyed the stable used for housing the cattle, besides consuming over 10 tons of hay of the finest quality. The site of the burned stable is being cleared away but as yet no plans have been announced for rebuilding the structure. It is thought that the municipal council will make an appropriation for this purpose at an early date.

Superintendent Michael J. Dowd who is in charge of the farm seems entirely satisfied with affairs there. With the exception of the destroyed stable the place is in excellent condition although many difficulties have been met with in disposing of farm wagons and implements. The building which was formerly used for this purpose has been converted into a stable for the horses and cattle. Stalls have been built and the structure extensively remodeled.

Men's infirmary, 29; women's infirmary, 67; men's hospital, 72; women's hospital, 29; men paupers, 63; women paupers, 92; nursery, 16.

Of this number very few are able to perform any work about the place. They are for the most part too aged and feeble for activity of this sort. However, a small number perform small duties about the buildings. Some of the male inmates make beds and do light work in the gardens, while a few of the women are engaged in the dining rooms and kitchen.

There are about 24 large rooms occupied by inmates of the institution. Each of these rooms has 3 or 4 beds, and in addition there are two dormitories, one of which contains 30 beds, the other 27.

The hospital occupies a large, two-story brick building and is finely fitted up. The patients are divided according to the degree of their maladies and receive the best of care, the physician in charge being M. A. Tighe, M. D.

SUPT. MICHAEL J. DOWD

The whole of the institution occupies at a rough estimate, about 150 acres. Of these 50 are cultivated. The others form pastures and hay fields. On the right of the approach to the buildings is a large field of potatoes; on the left are planted turnips.

The greater part of the produce of the farm, which is mainly corn, potatoes and other vegetables, is used right there. A small percentage, however, is sent out in the service of the outdoor relief department. There are baskets worth about $2 and contain meat, potatoes, flour, tea, etc.

Inmates receive no remuneration for services on the farm aside from their necessities. There is a payroll of laborers containing 25 names. Supt. Dowd is to be congratulated on his success and commended for his tireless work in behalf of the institution.

GAMBLING RAID

TEN ARRESTS WERE MADE IN TAILOR SHOP

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—A gambling raid was made by a squad of officers from Division 2, led by Sergts. Laffey and McGhee, in Province court yesterday afternoon. The raid took place just at an hour when hundreds of workers in the business district were starting for home. Ten prisoners were led from 10 Province court to the patrol wagon.

The officers, Patrolmen King, Buchanan and Carey, slipped in Indian file up the front stairs of the building to the third floor. Inside the men of a tailor shop were supposed to be at work.

The officers simply pushed in the door of the tailor shop. The alleged gamblers were sitting about a large table. They were arrested before they had a chance to hide cards or get away themselves. The police gathered up 65 cards and $6.70 in cash. The officers also seized sewing machines and other tailoring apparatus.

At the station the men gave their names as: Harry Roan of 22 Wayland street, Joseph Lourie of 13 Willow street, Aaron W. Weiner of 11 Anderson street, J. Goldstein of 24 Allen street; Max Kohen of 18 Anderson street; Bernard Miller of 31 Lynde street, Max Wasserman of 55 Revere street, Wolf Wasserman of 20 Hainsboro street, Dorchester, Jake Greenbery of 79 Barton street and Benjamin Snyder of 26 West Cedar street.

It is said that all those arrested are in business or work in the vicinity of Province court. They were all bailed by friends.

TROTT MAY RECOVER

Authorities of the Lowell hospital said today that though as yet the condition of William C. Trott, who yesterday was injured by an explosion while blasting a well, is doubtful, nevertheless he is resting quite comfortably.

It was found necessary to amputate the left arm. The victim, contrary to expectations, still retains his sight, though his eyes are swollen. There is a chance that he may recover.

LOWELL PARTY

WRITES ABOUT THE SIGHTS IN WASHINGTON

A Lowell party who is visiting in Washington, D. C., writes to this office about the sights in the capitol. According to this party the city is a most beautiful one and is composed of fine structures as well as numerous handsome parks.

The letter in part follows: "The past five weeks are indelibly stamped on my memory, for I have seen and heard some very fine things since I have been in Washington. I have been to the capitol, which includes house of senate and house of representatives, and was there while they were in session. Visited the Congressional library, the beauty of which is beyond description. Went to the top of the highest monument in the world and viewed the city from that point. This to my mind is one of the grandest things I have seen, although I have visited from the dominion to the Gulf of Mexico. It is a panorama, as one might say, that I can never forget.

"I visited the home of Washington, which has been kept, inside and out, as he left it, now over a century and a half. I cannot go into detail here; it would mean too much time. Washington is buried here. Visited the Soldiers' cemetery in Arlington; these grounds used to belong to General Lee. There are over 17,000 known soldiers and about 4000 unknown buried here. Visited the largest zoological gardens in the world. Every species of animal, bird and fish is to be found here. Went to the National museum, which is certainly an educational place. One might spend weeks and months here and still discover something that he hadn't seen before. Every illustration in every line of study imaginable is to be found here.

"The city of Washington is laid out in a very peculiar way, which peculiarity adds to the beauty. All the streets lead to the capitol, which is surrounded by magnificent parks and beautiful government buildings. One may say that the whole city is nothing but a park, for at every turn you come across a park with either a monument or a beautiful fountain. The streets are spacious and just lined with trees. The cars run by a cable, which is underground, as they are not allowed to have the trolley, so as not to mar the beauty of the city. There is one thing worth seeing and that is the government farms, situated on the banks of the Potomac river. I never thought that a farm could be made to look so beautiful. It is here that the government gets the seeds to send to the various schools of the states.

"The Catholic university, another beautiful property where members of religious orders pursue the summer course, comprises several buildings. There are 350 sisters there, representing several orders. The Franciscan monastery is another place worthy of mention. It is divided into courts and built like the ancient monasteries. There are eight marble altars. The altar in the very centre of the chapel is built like the temple with steps on all sides leading to it. This altar is used for exposition of the blessed sacrament. As you enter the chapel you see this temple in the centre, which is really the main court, just beyond this is the main altar which is really in a sort of gallery as there is a long flight of marble stairs on both sides leading up to it. The altars are placed right and left of this so-called temple and so arranged as to give the impression of courts. Beneath the chapel are the Catacombs, modeled after those in Rome. I wish I had the time to write more about it, for the city with its many pretty attractions is just splendid."

TO REVISE THE PATENT LAWS REPORTED TO THE SENATE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The Oldfield bill to revise the patent laws to reverse the patent monopoly decision of the supreme court was reported to the senate today. The bill seeks to set aside the decision which insured the right to an inventor to stipulate the kind of material used or sold in connection with a patented device. It seeks to cure alleged evils arising from the vendor of a patented article, fixing the price at which the article may be sold. The committee also has attempted to prevent the suppression of patented devices sold to manufacturers by inventors.

The ability of the manufacturers to withhold a patented article from the market is said to have restrained competition.

"KID" McCOY

AMERICAN BOXER WAS ARRAIGNED AGAIN TODAY

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Kid McCoy, the American boxer, was brought up again today at Bow street police court on the charge of larceny alleged to have been committed at Ostend. The magistrate again remanded him for a week, his bail being renewed at the request of his attorney, who desired time to study the papers in connection with the demand for extradition which arrived from Belgium today.

PANAMA EXPOSITION

LONDON, Aug. 8.—It is stated in well informed circles that the reason why Great Britain has not yet accepted the invitation to participate in the Panama Pacific exposition lies in the failure of the United States to settle the question of the Panama canal tolls. Should the United States favor American shipping it is declared to be most likely that Great Britain will decline officially to participate.

REBEL REINFORCEMENTS

WOUGLAS, Ariz., Aug. 8.—Reports today indicated that fully 500 rebels were in the vicinity of Puerto De San Luis, 57 miles east of Agua Prieta, and that reinforcements numbering 500 were marching north to join them. Federal reinforcements are said to be reaching Agua Prieta daily and the garrison there now numbers 500 men.

MICHAEL J. MARKHAM HOME

He Met Several Former Lowell Men in the Northwest

Michael J. Markham was interviewed today by a Sun reporter, and gave an interesting account of his journey to the western coast as a delegate representing the Lowell lodge of Elks at the National convention at Portland, Ore., a short time ago.

Mr. Markham and a party of Massachusetts delegates made the journey to Portland over the Canadian route, leaving Boston and passing through Montreal and Quebec. At Winnipeg they were joined by delegates from Indianapolis, Minnesota and Hartford, Conn. They then proceeded to Victoria, British Columbia, where their party was augmented by the Seattle lodge. From there they went directly to Portland.

The convention lasted four days, opening on Monday. On Thursday, the day of the parade, 30,000 Elks had registered.

In Portland Mr. Markham met a number of former Lowell men, among them James Holden, John Campbell, Ralph Stickney and Bowers F. Hart.

The party returned by a different route after a journey all through California and along the coast. They passed through Salt Lake City, Royal Gorge, Canon of the Arizona, Denver, Omaha and Des Moines.

In Denver Mr. Markham met Presiding Judge Gavin and Police Sergeant Russell, both of whom were Lowell boys.

Mr. Markham was greatly pleased with his trip and is high in his praise of the western country. "The people," he said, "are boosters and always eager to help along a new enterprise." There is great rivalry between the different cities, each of them striving to excell the other. He also remarked on the great progressive spirit of the cities and the eagerness of the people for advance.

The cortege proceeded to St. Columba's church where at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem was sung by Rev. John Degan. The choir rendered the Gregorian mass, the soles being sustained by Miss Frances Tighe, Miss Wholey presiding at the organ. The floral tributes which were beautiful and profuse included a pillow from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Melbourne; pillow, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Leary; wreath and star on base, Adrian L. Ferguson of Kalamazoo, Michigan; spray, Archie McCaffrey; wreath on base, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Murphy; wreath, James J. Feeney; spray from neighbors; spray, Mrs. J. McCormack of Boston; pillow, Mrs. Edward Cummings of Merrimac, Mass. The bearers were Dr. F. A. O'Sullivan, Dr. Pierre Brunelle, James J. Brown, Roger J. Lang, John Walmsley and Adrian L. Ferguson. The arrangements were in charge of Mr. James J. Feeney of Berlin, N. H., and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery under the direction of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

GENERAL OROZCO

REFUSED TO PASS NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENTS

NO GAME TOMORROW

LOWELL WILL PLAY AT FALL RIVER FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Owing to the fact that the directors of the Fall River team will not agree to the transfer of the games between Lowell and Fall River, scheduled for tomorrow and Saturday, the locals will be obliged to leave for the "southern" city after today's game. Manager O'Brien of the Fall River team expressed a willingness to play in Lowell, but the directors, who would like to transfer the game, owing to the fact that it would be a better financial proposition, say that it would bring dissatisfaction to the fans of their city and hence will play out the games as scheduled.

CATCHER LAVIGNE

OF THE LOWELL TEAM IS LAID UP

The injury to Arthur Lavigne's finger, which he sustained in the Lowell-Fall River game yesterday, proved more serious than he at first thought and it will keep him out of the game for several days. A foul tip struck the middle finger of his right hand, inflicting a bad gash. He had it bandaged and continued in the game. This morning, however, the injured finger was in a serious condition and he was obliged to consult a physician and the latter, after dressing the wound, advised the speedy catcher to remain out of the game for a few days. Joe Monahan will work behind the plate in today's game and will continue in that position until Lavigne returns to the game.

GOV. JOHNSON NOMINATED FOR VICE PRESIDENT

Progressives Select Him as Col. Roosevelt's Running Mate

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt has attained the goal of his ambition. Before the first national convention of his new party passed into history last night it handed him, on a silver platter, the honor that Washington and Jefferson modestly declined and Ulysses S. Grant, though crowned with a hero's laurels, sought in vain. He was nominated as a third term candidate for president of the United States.

Hiram W. Johnson, the militant and progressive governor of California, who was a republican until the republican convention of six weeks ago, refused Col. Roosevelt the coveted glory of a third term, was chosen as his running mate.

Both nominations were made by acclamation under a suspension of the convention rules and amid scenes which fluctuated strangely between the solemn and impressive and the spectacular and melodramatic.

One of the great figures of yesterday's session was Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, and next to the enthusiasm created by her came the demonstration for the Union and Confederate veterans. Miss Addams took the platform to second the nomination of Roosevelt after Comptroller William A. Prendergast had made the nominating speech, and she easily took the honor away from him. Even Theodore Roosevelt himself is not as popular at his convention as the woman of the Hull House. The plain, direct and forceful talk that she delivered from the platform evoked more enthusiasm and wilder cheers than Prendergast's most polished periods.

It was the first time that a woman has ever made a nominating or seconding speech in a national convention, and the significance of that fact was appreciated to the full by every one of the 109 delegates and the 5000 spectators. As she descended from the platform waving a great banner inscribed with "Votes for Women" the whole multitude burst out spontaneously and practically into "Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory of the Coming of the Lord."

Roosevelt's nomination was seconded by a number of Union and Confederate veterans, and every time an ex-rebel made a speech a G. A. R. fife and drum corps would get up on the platform and play some national air, usually "Dixie."

Gen. Horatio C. King of New York, who went to the front in 1861, started this reunion of the blue and gray, and was followed by Col. Lloyd and Florida and Gen. McDowell, the head of the United Confederate Veterans in Tennessee. There is no mistaking the fact that for once the seconding speeches were the drawing card and that the nominating speech was put completely in eclipse, although Prendergast really did very well.

FORTUNE TO NURSE WHOM LYLE MARRIED

HACKENSACK, N. J., Aug. 8.—The will of John S. Lyle, who died in Tenafly on July 26, leaving a fortune that may have amounted to $20,000,000, was admitted to probate yesterday by Surrogate E. L. D. Hester. Mr. Lyle was more than 92 years old. The bulk of his fortune goes to his young widow, who was a nurse when he married her two years ago and who is residuary legatee.

Mr. Lyle was a partner in Lord & Taylor for many years, and it was said at the time of his death that he was owner of the block in which the store is situated. He retired from active work more than thirty years ago, but his property, much of it in real estate, had appreciated greatly in the interval.

At the time of his marriage a friend said that three years previously Mr. Lyle had estimated his property at "half way between fifteen and twenty millions; he didn't know for sure," but the friend was sure it was growing all the time. No better figures could be obtained last night.

By Mr. Lyle's will many charitable institutions in New York are beneficiaries to the extent of $50,000 or so apiece. He also left sums ranging from $15,000 to $50,000 to relatives. One or two who were outspoken critics of his marriage two years ago were left out of the will altogether.

These institutions get $50,000 apiece: The American Tract society, the American Bible society, the Board of Home missions of the Presbyterian church, the Board of Foreign missions of the Presbyterian church and a similar body of the Reformed church of America. The Children's Aid society, the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, the Charity Organization society, the New York Eye and Ear infirmary and the State Charities Aid association each receive $25,000.

The largest personal bequest goes to his second wife, who was Miss Julia Gertrude Hannon, a Presbyterian hospital nurse, and who took care of Mr. Lyle for two years prior to their marriage in September, 1910. To her Mr. Lyle left $500,000 outright and the estate at Tenafly of forty acres, which has a value of $200,000. She is the executrix.

William Newcomb of Tenafly, brother of the first Mrs. Lyle, receives $50,000 outright and the house and land which he occupies at Tenafly. John C. Newcomb of Tenafly receives $15,000. Other personal bequests are: Lydia J. Hubbard of Toledo, Ohio, $50,000; Jesse F. Burton of Brooklyn, $15,000; Mary N. Crane of Toledo, $30,000; Elizabeth H. Scott of Toledo, $30,000; Louisa Patten of Plainfield, N. J., $20,000; Jeanette Hubbard of Toledo, $30,000, and to Lucy V. Nelson of Jersey City, $30,000.

As to relatives of his own blood Mr. Lyle had this to say in his will:

"In making this, my last will and testament and in deciding upon the provisions thereof, I have done so after much thought and consideration, and have not made any provision whatsoever for any relation who may be a cousin, or second or third cousin of mine, or related in any degree to me because of the fact that I do not feel that my association with or interest in them or any of them is such as to make it in any sense proper or obligating upon me as a moral duty so to do.

The will says that Mrs. Lyle, the executrix, may pay the bequests in cash or in part cash or bonds of railroads or corporations, or transfer mortgages held by the testator. It also says:

"I direct that Lord & Taylor shall pay their indebtedness to me in sums of $25,000 per month or in larger sums if they so desire.

Mr. Lyle made his will on June 14 last, six weeks before he died. The signature is that of a feeble man. The witnesses to the will were S. Stanwood Menken of Philbin, Beekman, Menken & Griscom; T. H. Marshall of the Hotel Marie Antoinette and C. R. Longenbacher of Montclair.

Mr. Lyle and Miss Hannon were married in Yonkers by a justice of the peace on September 29, 1910. At that time Mr. Lyle gave his age as 75 and Miss Hannon said she was 29. After the death of his first wife in 1908 her sister, Miss Elizabeth Antoinette Newcomb, went to Mr. Lyle's house and took care of him. Miss Newcomb was often ill and a trained nurse was sent out from New York to look out for her. The nurse was Miss Hannon.

Miss Newcomb finally went to a sanitarium at White Plains, but Miss Hannon stayed on at the Lyle house in Tenafly. In the winters she went south with Mr. Lyle. After a time Miss Newcomb was able to leave the sanitarium. She said she would go back to Mr. Lyle's house on condition that he discharge his nurse. He refused, and Miss Newcomb went to live with her brother, William Newcomb, who is mentioned as a beneficiary in the will and whose place at Tenafly adjoined Mr. Lyle's.

When the fact of the marriage became known Miss Newcomb was outspoken in her criticism of her brother-in-law. On the second day after the marriage, when she was shown an account of the marriage in a New York paper, she observed that Mr. Lyle was a foolish old man.

John S. Lyle was born in Nova Scotia and came to this country when he was 14 years old. He went to work for Lord & Taylor as a boy. He was the last surviving partner of the old firm. His first wife was Miss Mary Kate Newcomb. She was the founder and supporter of Happyland, where 6000 New York children spent a few days each summer.

DIVORCED HUSBAND MAKES HIS ESCAPE

Was Besieged by Former Wife

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—After struggling with her divorced husband in the Jamaica police court yesterday for the possession of one of her children until Magistrate Joseph Fitch warned her he would cause her arrest for disorderly conduct if she did not desist, Mrs. Isabella Crimmins, of No. 59 Bandman avenue, Jamaica, waited for several hours outside the court house, determined when he appeared with the child to get the youngster from him.

But the ex-husband, William McLean, of No. 125 Market street, Newark, climbed out of one of the court house windows with the child, letting himself to the ground on a fire-escape and disappearing through a vacant lot.

Mrs. Crimmins won a divorce some time ago and was awarded the custody of her two children—William, thirteen years old, and Melva, eight. Soon she married Edward Crimmins, a policeman. Last May McLean procured a court order giving him permission to see his children. On his first time the youngsters went for a walk with him and did not return. Mrs. Crimmins swore out a warrant on a charge of kidnapping, and the warrant was served a few days ago.

McLean was arraigned in Jamaica police court yesterday. Magistrate Fitch decided the case was outside of his jurisdiction and dismissed the charge. As McLean, with his two children, started to leave the room Mrs. Crimmins ran after him.

"Give me my children, I love them!" she screamed.

The pair struggled until the magistrate warned the wife away. Then she took up her station outside.

"Just let him come out," she cried. "Then I'll get my children, and no court can take them from me."

McLean sent his son out and the boy told his mother he preferred to remain with his father.

"All right, you can, but I will have Melva," said the woman.

DARING ROBBERY IN BROAD DAYLIGHT

Boys Broke Window of Jewelry Store

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—A pair of diamond earrings valued at $1000 which reflected the rays of the sun in the window of Henry Healy, a jeweler, of 502 Fulton street, caused a thief chase along that thoroughfare in Brooklyn yesterday, in which 500 persons took part. The result was the arrest of Samuel Wiener, fourteen years old, of 322 Rivington street, and Joseph Cohen, seventeen years old, of No. 306 Henry street.

At 5 o'clock, when the street was crowded, the boys stopped in front of the window, one of them holding a paving stone wrapped in a newspaper. They waited until two elevated trains passed each other on the structure above and their roar drowned out all other sounds. Then one of them heaved the stone into the show window. The boys grabbed and were off toward Manhattan.

There were three or four customers in the store, who thought the place had been struck by lightning. Because of the roar of the elevated trains none on the street save those in the immediate vicinity was aware that anything had happened.

Detective John Sullivan ran after the boys. They ran to Smith street, where Patrolman Blaney was on a car. He saw the fugitives and left the car to assist in the capture of Cohen in Willoughby street. Wiener, fleet of foot, continued on around the triangle of Smith, Fulton and Willoughby streets, and was caught by Traffic Patrolman Spellman, into whose arms Sullivan ran him.

No jewelry was found on the boys, but in a gutter the earrings were found, with other loot.

CITY HALL A FIRETRAP

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—Edward F. Croker, former chief of the New York fire department, after making an expert examination of the New $100,000 convention hall, declares that it is a menace to the city and that, in all his experience, he never has seen such poor construction and such a hazardous structure from a fire standpoint.

Several local insurance men had examined the hall, built to seat 20,000 persons, and condemned it as a firetrap. The municipal administration thought otherwise. John T. Windrim, architect, awarded the finances so Chief Crocker might examine the building.

For Age-Marred Skins and Dull, Streaky Hair

Fine lines, and that aged condition of the skin are caused by pore-clogging powders and creams. These should be discarded for a spurmax lotion, which is made by adding 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine to 1-2 pint witch hazel (or hot water), then 4 ounces of spurmax. This lotion protects the skin against the ravages of sun and wind, removes tan, freckles, oiliness and other upsets, and though invisible when on, lends an indefinable charm to the complexion.

An invigorating and pleasing shampoo for the neatest term can be had by dissolving a teaspoonful canthrox in a cup of hot water. This creates an abundance of rich, cleansing lather, which is a positive benefit to any scalp and hair. After rinsing, the hair dries quickly and evenly, with a brilliance and silky softness truly charming. Canthrox shampoos tend to restore the natural color to faded hair and overcome "strawiness."

FATALLY HURT

SOMERVILLE BOY INJURED WHILE STEALING RIDE

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—In an attempt to steal a ride on a freight train a Somerville boy was injured fatally last night. Dolly di Farsear, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaetano di Farsear of 33 Horace street, tried to jump on a car in the Boynton street yard of the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine. He lost his footing and fell under the wheels, both legs being cut off at the knees. He died at the Somerville hospital two hours later.

BOSTON PASTOR SHOOTS BIG BEAR

Bruin Showed Fight and Was Subdued

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—The Rev. Chauncey J. Hawkins, D. D., pastor of the Central Congregational church, Jamaica Plain, and a noted hunter of wild beasts with the camera, has proven that he is just as adept with a firearm if the necessity arises.

To this latter trait the doctor, who by the way has a remarkable collection of photographs, showing wild beasts in their homes, owes the fact that he is still alive and has in his possession a photo of a huge black bear looking for trouble.

Dr. Hawkins has been in New Brunswick for several weeks hunting wild animals, as has been his custom, with a camera. News of his adventure was brought to civilization by his guide, who came out the first of the week to meet Mrs. Hawkins and George B. Clark of Boston, who were joining the doctor.

According to the story of the guide, Dr. Hawkins and he were waiting in a blind for bears to come to a bait of meat and molasses which had been put out to tempt old bruin's palate. After waiting for two days, they saw a big bear and two cubs approaching the bait. When the bear was within 50 feet Mr. Hawkins snapped his camera, expecting to see the bear run when she heard the shutter of the camera fail.

This, however, was a mother with her little ones to protect, and without waiting to see what would follow the unknown noise, she plunged straight for the harmless hunter. She came out so quickly and so straight that the doctor could not move, and his camera was knocked out of his hands and part of his clothing was torn away by the huge claws.

The guide, who had an axe in his hands, sprang to the rescue and swung for a mighty blow, but the old animal brushed it aside easily, just getting a wound on her paw. However, it diverted her attention from the doctor and gave him time to draw his pistol, a 22-calibre pistol with a 12-inch barrel. As the bear turned on the guide, the doctor fired. The ball pierced the bear's brain and she fell dead at their feet. The guide says that it was a very fortunate shot, otherwise one of them at least might have been killed.

In spite of the exciting adventure, Dr. Hawkins has no intention of curtailing his trip and will remain in the wilds for the rest of the month.

LAKEVIEW TRIO HELD PARTY

ARCHIE CONNOLLEY
General Manager

The Lakeview Trio made their initial bow to the social fraternity last evening, conducting a dancing party at the Lakeview dance hall, and the manner in which they managed the affair would do credit to many of the "veterans." The trio is composed of William Allen, Archie Connolly and Romeo Perault, three employees of the pavilion at Lakeview. The young men have been stationed there for several seasons, and that the courteous manner in which they received their patrons has augmented their popularity to a high degree was strikingly demonstrated last evening, for never before has such a large number attended a dance there. Despite the crowd dancing was quite comfortable, and all had a most enjoyable time.

The floor was in perfect condition, and the hall was beautifully illuminated and decorated for the occasion. The music by Kittredges orchestra was excellent and every detail was carried out in a most capable manner. The party opened at 8.15 o'clock with a concert by the orchestra. The overture included the rendition of a series of popular melodies that were greatly applauded. The concert concluded at 8.30 and then the first waltz was started. The dance order included several special numbers, among them being the Marathon two-step, the moonlight waltz and the schottische and several others.

The feature of the evening, however, was the Marathon two-step and this number furnished great amusement for all those present.

There were ten couples competing and the rules were that the couple making the largest number of laps in six minutes were the winners. All couples started off slowly, gradually increasing their speed, and despite the fact that they circled the hall with great rapidity, the excellent condition of the floor was responsible in a large measure for the fact that there were no accidents and all contestants remained in the race until the finish.

The winners were Miss Tessie Hunt and Mr. Arthur Knowles, and General Manager Connolly presented the prizes. Miss Hunt received a beautiful gold handled umbrella and Mr. Knowles was the recipient of a smoking set.

After the prize number, dancing was resumed and continued until 11.30. All numbers were well received and encores were numerous. At the conclusion of the affair the officers were warmly congratulated on the tremendous success of their first party. Archie Connolly acted as general manager, and he was an important factor in the success of the affair. Romeo Perault was floor director and he performed his duties in a very creditable manner, and William Allen, was treasurer for the party, and he discharged his duties in a manner that brought complete satisfaction to all.

STANDING PAT

ROSENTHAL CASE

which to try or even suspend them. The commissioner said:

"I know that some inspectors now on the force are very greedy gentlemen. They have been grafters in the past. But they are not grafting now, because I have made it impossible for them to get the money. They are in positions where there is no reason for anyone to pay them protection money.

"Previous commissioners had the same trouble. They could get nothing tangible on which to suspend these men. They felt morally certain that all was not right, but that is as far as they could get. That is why I removed these men from their districts.

"My organization of the 'strong arm' squad taking gambling away from the uniformed force, split up and made impossible any organized protection. One squad commander watched the other two and all three watched the district inspectors.

"But they could sell immunity from their own squads, couldn't they, Mr. Waldo?" was asked.

"Yes, they might do that, but they knew there were always others right on their heels. How could an inspector graft if he knew three 'strong arm' lieutenants were right on top of him?

"I wish I did know how to 'get' these individual grafters," the commissioner continued plaintively. "I'd give a whole lot if somebody produced the 'goods' on these men."

One of the inspectors Mr. Waldo mentioned has been a storm centre for years. He has been shifted with remarkable frequency until the present administration. A prominent judge recently named him in confidence as the real brains of the "inner circle." The district attorney is trailing him now. So is Detective Burns. But he is the hardest man on the force to "land." His wealth is estimated at over $1,000,000. His salary in the past 20 years has never been more than $3600 a year.

A magistrate familiar with police conditions told a reporter yesterday how he could get rid of this man if he had the chance.

"I would never bring him up on charges of grafting," the judge said, "because that is a very difficult thing to prove. But I never knew a man yet whose job could not be made so uncomfortable for him but that he would quit. Let Waldo station him at 42nd street and Broadway to handle traffic and make him wear his inspector's uniform. Let it be generally known why he is doing such duty. Public opinion will do the rest."

BRIDGIE WEBBER

TO MAKE NEW STATEMENT AND HELP ROSE

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Dist. Atty. Whitman has evidence, it was said last night, on which he expects to seek the indictment of two high police officials and a civilian attached to police headquarters, on the charge of levying blackmail on gamblers and keepers of other illegal resorts.

The men in question was all mentioned in the confession of Jack Rose, the self accused graft collector of Lieut. C. A. Becker, who is under indictment for the murder of Herman Rosenthal.

Through private detectives and a confession of "Bridgie" Webber, the district attorney has secured corroborative evidence of the alleged graft and upon this he is convinced that indictments can be found.

These three men, together with Lieut. Becker, collected more than $2,500,000 protection money in a year, according to the story told by Rose.

Webber Also to Give Details

Yesterday "Bridgie" Webber, who, with Rose has been promised leniency by the district attorney for his confession of participation in the Rosenthal murder, notified the prosecutor that he would corroborate in writing everything that Rose had said in regard to gambling graft as far as he could, and made the additional declaration that he himself acted as collector for one of the police officials involved. The two officials, it was learned, hold positions superior in authority to that of Becker, who was ahead of the "strong arm squad" of gambling raiders.

The district attorney, however, does not expect to press the graft feature of the case before the grand jury until he has presented all the evidence bearing upon the murder of Rosenthal. Today he expects to take before the jury 20 witnesses upon whose testimony he hopes to secure the indictment of "Lefty Louie," "Gyp the Blood," "Dago Frank" Cirofici, and "Whitey" Lewis, already charged by the police with being the actual murderers, the first two of whom are still at large. Most of these witnesses are persons who either saw the murder or were on the scene soon after it occurred.

Whitman Says He Has Evidence

Among the witnesses under subpena to testify at the trial of Becker, it was further learned last night, are two servants of Jack Rose, who have promised to corroborate the charge made by Rose, that some of the money he collected from gamblers was paid to Becker in Rose's 120th street home.

Dist. Atty. Whitman's confidence that he has a strong case against Becker was evidenced yesterday when he announced in court that he had 10 witnesses who would corroborate Rose's charge that the police officials was the impelling spirit behind the murder and that it was done to prevent Rosenthal from giving further evidence to the district attorney involving Becker in gambling graft.

The statement was made by the prosecutor in opposing a motion to quash Becker's indictment on the ground that it was based on the testimony of witnesses who had confessed their part in the crime.

Judge Mulqueen reserved decision after accepting briefs from both sides, and by agreement the pleading of Becker was adjourned until after the ruling is handed down, which will probably be next week.

Becker's counsel, it was reported last night, are planning to ask for a change of venue when the case comes to trial on the ground of prejudiced public opinion against their client.

Shapiro Fails to Identify

Dist. Atty. Whitman yesterday ran against a seeming stumbling block in his murder case when William Shapiro, chauffeur of the Rosenthal "murder car," tremblingly failed to identify "Whitey" Lewis and "Dago Frank" Cirofici as passengers in that car. Shapiro will be given another chance to identify the men in custody and the district attorney hopes for more favorable results.

It was reported yesterday and denied by Dist. Atty. Whitman, only to be reported again, that a detective agency operating, as the story runs, at the expense of persons whose names are not disclosed, had as long as three months ago established a gambling house and other houses of disrepute in New York and had paid tribute to the police for protection.

The report runs further that the money so paid has been traced by secret marks to banks where it is said to have been deposited by a lawyer. It was said that the evidence thus obtained is in the hands of the district attorney.

LIEUT. BECKER

DIRECTED RAID ON SAM PAUL'S POOLROOM

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Friends of Lieut. Charles A. Becker expressed gratification yesterday at the conviction of two men upon evidence obtained by Becker's men in a raid which he directed upon a poolroom maintained at the Sans Souci, Sam Paul's place.

Policeman Herman Schwartz of Becker's raiding squad testified in the court of special sessions that Becker had given him money and told him to go to Sam Paul's and get evidence against the poolroom there.

Schwartz said he bet $10 on a horse running at the Fort Erie track, Canada, and upon other horses, and cashed some of his bets before a cashier's window with others. He then arrested David Levine and Morris Golden, the cashiers. After their conviction yesterday the men were remanded to the Tombs pending sentence.

Three other men arrested in a previous raid on the same place by Inspector Cahalane's men were discharged for lack of evidence.

HIGH OFFICIALS

SAID TO BE INVOLVED IN ROSENTHAL CASE

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Cumulative evidence piling up before the grand jury investigating police blackmail is said today to involve four or five high police officials and it is said indictments will soon be drawn. Witnesses examined by Dist. Atty. Whitman have furnished much corroboration to the confession of "Bald Jack" Rose, who gave a list of names of gamblers upon whom, he charged, Police Lieut. Becker levied blackmail. Several gamblers were before the public prosecutor and unwillingly admitted that they had paid blackmail to certain inspectors. One of the witnesses told Mr. Whitman that he had been threatened with death if he went before the grand jury and gave information about the police. These witnesses said that these inspectors dealt directly with the big gambling houses, leaving Becker to attend to the small places.

Mr. Whitman said today that evidence would be presented to the grand jury against several police inspectors. One of these inspectors is said to have kept such close watch on the gambling houses that he even examined their books and made them pay blackmail according to their profits.

"Bridgie" Webber now admits that he also collected toll from certain uptown gambling houses for a police inspector. Webber's life has been threatened and Whitman has provided him with a special guard.

Rose has sent word to the public prosecutor that he is prepared to identify the four murderers of Herman Rosenthal. Until now Rose was not ready to say that he could positively identify the gunmen.

GRAFT INQUIRY

ALDERMEN SAY THERE WILL BE NO LIMIT ON IT

NEW YORK, Aug. 8—Alderman Henry H. Curran, who is chairman of the aldermanic committee which proposes to investigate police graft, said yesterday afternoon that there was a report around that certain interested persons are trying to force on the committee as counsel a lawyer who will ask questions "just so far and no further." Mr. Curran says that the committee won't allow any such manipulation of its affairs.

"We have now before us," he said, "the names of at least 50 lawyers who want to serve the committee, among them men of very considerable reputation. It would be improper to say that we have limited our choice already to four or five men. We have done nothing of the sort. What we have done is to look up the antecedents and affiliations of the men whose names have come before us. We want a man who will be independent and will not stop at anything.

"It is reported that there is a frame-up to force upon us counsel who will bolt as soon as he reaches delicate ground. We don't want such a man. We want our lawyer to go as high as the trail leads him."

One question that is troubling the committee is immunity. Mr. Curran understands that the law gives the committee no power to promise immunity from prosecution to a witness. "I understand," said Mr. Curran, "that Mayor Gaynor withdrew his opposition to the committee after he had looked up the law and found that we could not promise immunity."

Mr. Curran added that if the committee finds that witnesses cannot be got who will testify without assurances of immunity, he will try to get the legislature to give this power to the aldermen. The legislature does not meet until Jan. 1. Mr. Curran expects the investigation to take a long time, and possibly in its natural course it may hold over until after New Year's.

Mr. Curran was asked if he had heard that William Barnes, Jr., was objecting to James W. Osborne as counsel, on the score that Mr. Osborne conducted the Alids investigation in Albany.

"When we make up our minds," he said, "as to the man we want, then it won't make any difference whether Mr. Barnes wants him or not. His opposition won't amount to anything. As I have said many times, this investigation is to be conducted on non-partisan lines. If politics creeps into it, out I go. But I don't expect to go."

A LONG HUNT

COUPLE VISITED THREE CITIES BEFORE GETTING LICENSE

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Two couples left Springfield, Mass., this week and came to New York to be married. One of the couples are Silvio Martinelli, 28 years old, an Italian lawyer of 492 Liberty street, and Miss May Adam Moriarty, 26 years old, who said that she is a school teacher living at 19 Garden street. They left Springfield on Tuesday and called at the city hall. When they were told that the would have to wait five days after the license was issued before they could get married, they went to Jersey City and applied there for a license. But the bureau had closed, and they were obliged to wait until yesterday morning. They they found that the clerk had gone to Sea Girt.

Newark was the next place suggested, and Martinelli and Miss Moriarty went there. They got the license, but were told that they would have to wait 24 hours before they could have the knot tied. They said that they would stay in Newark until this morning to comply with the law.

The other runaways were Birnie Lucius Sammis, 40 years old, an electrical engineer in the employ of the United Electrical Company of Springfield, and Miss Stella Adams Whitney, 26 years old, a telephone operator. Both live at Chicopee Falls, near Springfield. They went to Tarrytown yesterday and were married at the Episcopal rectory by the Rev. R. C. Hatch.

ANKLE BROKEN

James McMahon, employed as a teamster for the Harvard Brewing Co., suffered a broken ankle about 9.30 o'clock this morning as a result of one of the wheels of his wagon passing over his leg. The ambulance was summoned and the injured man was taken to St. John's hospital, where he received treatment. He resides at 41 Fruit street.

HUSBAND'S JEST

COST HIM $50 FOR NON-SUPPORT

LYNN, Aug. 8.—Abraham Bramson won't "josh" his wife any more in an effort to hasten her in the divorce suit which she is bringing against him. He told Judge Lummus in the Lynn district court yesterday that he was joking when he told her that he was married and police detectives corroborated him. Consequently, the charge of bigamy against him was dismissed, but his little joke cost him $50, as he was fined that amount for non-support.

Six years ago Abraham quit his wife after a family bout. He returned to Lynn three days ago to attend his sister's wedding. He called around to see his wife, Mrs. Ida Bramson, 17 Crescent street, to find if she had secured her divorce from him yet.

"You haven't?" he said when she told him she was in no hurry. "Why, I thought you had, and I married another girl in Philadelphia 11 months ago. I'm living there with her now."

Mrs. Bramson tipped off the police as soon as her husband departed and he was arrested on a bigamy charge. When the police found that he hadn't been married for the second time, they brought a non-support charge against him.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Torelli's dog and pony circus and vaudeville company still holds forth on the boards at this popular summer theatre. Owing to the free attraction at the park, business has been extremely good.

The company carries six handsome ponies and five extremely knowing dogs whose agility and ability please old and young.

Prince, the celebrated hind-foot pony with this troupe is certainly a clever animal doing both walking and waltzing on his two hind-feet. Tuxie, the funny clown pony, keeps the audience in one continuous roar of laughter from start to finish. One of the most notable features of the entertainment is Bessie, the "mulish mule," who furnishes plenty of fun for everybody. As the management offers a cash prize for any one succeeding in riding this mule, several local boys have volunteered to attempt the task and those who visit the Lakeview theatre tonight will see two shows in one. Aside from the circus, there are several vaudeville acts namely: the world's famous Luciffers, comedy acrobats; John Topp, in singing and musical novelties and William Torner, a Lowell boy, who does clever work at whistling, dancing and tumbling.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

There are four scenes from Romeo and Juliet that have stood the test of time as keen satire against ironical criticism. As portrayed by Mortimer Stone & Co. at the Merrimack Square theatre this week these four scenes are delightfully done. Another act on the bill that is going very big also is Prof. Galloway who with his funny little dummies makes the most of his opportunities. Ye Singers of '76 are scoring the hit of their lives, Mrs. Joe Fiske's song being called for repeatedly. Walter Davis who sings three popular songs in his own peculiar way is also going very big, as are the Harringtons. There will be an entire change of motion picture plays today, among them being a feature Biograph and Pathe's weekly. The supper hour shows are becoming more popular as the fall approaches, from 4.30 to 6.30. Try one.

LAKEVIEW DANCE HALL

Everybody's saying that the dance hall at Lakeview is the best in this vicinity and true they might, for while it isn't the largest around here, it is better situated than any. It also has the best floor in New England, and as this is the most important part of a dance hall, the assertion is well founded. The music, too, compares favorably with any dance music in New England, and with the best floor in New England and the equal of any orchestra, what more does a person, who enjoys dancing, wish for? The dancers are realizing the advantages of dancing at Lakeview and the attendances are larger now than ever. Last week was the banner one for the hall and the management is confident that this week's returns will compare favorably with the preceding seven days. The novelty numbers are making a great hit with the patrons of the hall and more will be introduced next week.

MASCUPPIC BATH HOUSE

The new bath house at Lake Mascuppic, near the entrance to Willow Dale, is being well patronized these days and it is easily the greatest attraction at that pleasant and picturesque resort. Messrs. Ferguson and Coburn are the owners and managers of the new bath house and it is their aim and pleasure to please their patrons. The bath house affords a splendid opportunity for women and children to enjoy a plunge in water that is just about the right temperature and where there is absolutely no danger of accident of any kind. It is a nice sandy beach and every convenience for bathing is afforded at the new bath house—the largest and best equipped fresh water bath house in this section of the country.

THEATRE VOYONS

The vogue of the costume play is coming back and the picturesque days of the olden time always make an interesting background for a story. Today the feature at the Theatre Voyons is an excellent story of the days when men wore swords and fought duels. "The Lord and the Peasant," is a novel and most dramatic story well staged and acted by the strongest of the Edison companies. Pathe's weekly has many features of interest and a brace of snappy comedies cannot fail to make you laugh.

WILLOW DALE

The free shows put on at Willow Dale by the management have proven a great attraction during the last four weeks and large crowds are attending every performance. The concert by the M. T. I. Bachelor Girls last Sunday proved a big hit and the colored minstrels this week is an act of unusual merit. The dance hall is freely patronized every day. Miner's orchestra furnishes the latest and best of music.

PRIMARIES IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 8.—Returns from 50 of the 75 counties in Oklahoma indicated this morning that each member of the Oklahoma delegation in congress was renominated in the primary Tuesday.

Senator Owens' majority over former Governor Haskel is estimated at $25,000.

J. T. Dickinson is leading B. M. Parmenter for the republican nomination for United States senator.

COMMITTED SUICIDE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 8.—An acute feeling of loneliness over the fact that he was the last of the "old school" of cotton merchants in this city is believed to have impelled Charles B. Trowbridge, senior partner of the firm of D. Remington & Co., to commit suicide by shooting at his home in the east side early today. Although 71 years of age, the veteran cotton broker attended to business regularly and was at his office yesterday. The recent death of Jeffrey Hazard, the last of his old associates, was a severe blow to him and during the past few days he has frequently spoken of his loneliness. He was born in Cambridge, Mass., and brought up at Lancaster, Mass.

COL. ROOSEVELT

WAS NOTIFIED OF HIS NOMINATION LAST NIGHT

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Theodore Roosevelt, presidential nominee of the new progressive party and the active managers of the progressive campaign remained in Chicago today, although most of the delegates to the third party's first national convention had started for their homes. Members of the notification committee appointed by the various state delegates also remained in the city, together with the members of the progressive national committee.

The notification committee members met Col. Roosevelt and Governor Johnson of California, the progressive vice presidential nominee at a reception arranged in their honor. The notification ceremonies actually took place last evening at the coliseum when the two heads of the ticket appeared before the cheering throngs at the national convention to accept the recently made nominations.

The members of the national committee planned to hold an important meeting although they had been in conference last night when Senator Dixon was chosen as chairman and O. K. Davis of Washington was named secretary. O. K. who was in charge of the progressive publicity bureau during the pre-convention campaign was secretary of the national convention.

Col. Roosevelt, who repeatedly expressed his satisfaction at the outcome of the convention, leaves for New York today at 2.30. He will rest at his Oyster Bay home until the beginning of the campaign, when he will tour all of the western states and make speeches for the new cause while Governor Johnson is doing the same thing in the eastern states.

The progressives launched into their active campaign plans with a vim. Some of the state delegations to the convention did not wait until they had returned to their homes to begin the work of organizing the states. The Wisconsin delegation and others met immediately after adjournment of the convention and selected a state chairman and a state secretary and a state legislative committee. In several instances state leaders telegraphed orders before departing from Chicago for the beginning of active campaign work.

The national leaders planned today to go into all the details of the organization for the national campaign, including the location of headquarters, the mapping out of speaking tours and the subject of finances.

MASONS BENEFIT

BY THE WILL OF LATE JOHN T. SIDERS

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Massachusetts Masons are well remembered in the will of John T. Siders of 23 Bowdoin street, Dorchester, which was filed yesterday in the Suffolk registry of probate. Mr. Siders died July 27.

By the will $1000 is given to the master, wardens and members of the grand lodge of Massachusetts, the income to be used for the support and maintenance of the Masonic Home at Charlton.

Another $1000 is given to the master and wardens of the Old Colony lodge, A. F. and A. M., of Hingham, to be known as the "John T. Siders fund," the income to be used for such charitable purposes as the lodge may deem wise; but the income may also be used for the general purposes of the lodge.

The South Shore commandery, Knights Templar, No. 31, of Weymouth also receives $1000 for the same purposes.

The rest of the testator's estate goes to the Mass. Homeopathic hospital for a free bed for the benefit of members of the Masonic fraternity and their wives and children. Frank W. Lowe is the executor of the will.

ELEVATED ROAD

HAS BEEN SUED FOR $320,500 IN DAMAGES

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Forty-seven damage suits against the Boston Elevated railroad company, with claims totalling $320,500 were filed yesterday at the Middlesex county court in East Cambridge, among the 190 suits placed on the docket during the monthly filing day.

A large number of the plaintiffs who sue the Elevated allege that the car was started before they had a chance to get off. Several suits are said to have resulted from accidents while the road was breaking in new men during the strike. The plaintiffs demand all the way from $2000 to $20,000 each.

Aside from the number of suits filed against the Elevated, the list is but ordinary for this season, the clerks say.

NO CHANGE YET

IN THE STRIKE SITUATION AT NEW BEDFORD

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 8.—At labor headquarters this morning all was reported quiet in the strike situation. The report of collections was received by treasurers of the different committees whose members worked in the center of the city yesterday.

Ten collectors were sent out this morning by the textile council. They went to Brockton, Fall River and Taunton.

LOWELL HAD BATTING CARNIVAL

Winning From Fall River by Score of 9 to 2—Lavigne the Star

By opportune hitting and fine pitching by Zeiser, Lowell gave Fall River a trouncing at Spalding park yesterday afternoon, the score at the end of the contest being nine to two, with the Grays on the long end. There was a large attendance, including a goodly representation of the fair sex, and the latter were there with the enthusiasm. After Miller and Wormwood had made their circuit clouts both were the recipients of considerable applause.

Lavigne's hitting was the best of the game. In four times up he planked out three hits, one a two bagger. He caught his usual fast game, his throwing to the bags being perfect as it generally is, and the St. Louis scout who was at the game, was most favorably impressed with Little Arthur's performance. The way it happened:

First Inning.

The visitors scored one run in the first inning. Walsh started off by flying to De Groff and Weaver was passed up. Hickman hit in front of the plate and never had a look at first. Merrill slammed the ball to centre field for a three bagger, scoring Weaver. Bowcock hit to Dee and died at first.

The Grays gathered in two in the latter half of the inning. Clemens sent a line drive to Merrill and Magee drew a base on balls and then stole second. DeGroff flied to Weaver and Magee went to third. McGamwell walked and stole second. Miller singled over second, scoring Magee and McGamwell and later he stole second and then captured third. Boultes closed the inning by striking out.

Score—Lowell 2, Fall River 1.

Second Inning.

There was nothing doing in the second. It looked kind of bad for Lowell in the first half, but Zeiser pulled out of a bad hole. Rose started off with a single to centre and then Ferrin bunted to Zeiser, who threw high to Dee and the ball went into short center field and Rose traveled to third. Ferrin tried to steal and was thrown out. Hayden flied to Magee and Wormwood hit to Zeiser and died at first.

Dee and Lavigne hit to Merrill and were out at first. Zeiser flied to Bowcock.

Score: Lowell 2, Fall River 1.

Third Inning

Walsh hit to Miller who fumbled and the runner was safe. He went to second on Weaver's sacrifice. Hickman sent a fly between short and centre field and Dee and Clemens ran for the sphere but it was a case of too many cooks and neither got the ball. Walsh went to third on the play. Hickman stole second. Merrill got hit by a pitched ball and the bases were filled. Bowcock struck out and Rose was out on a line drive to Dee.

Clemens and Magee hit to Merrill and were out at first. De Groff singled to right but in trying to steal second was thrown out.

Score—Lowell 2, Fall River 1.

Fourth Inning

Ferrin drew a free pass. Hayden bunted to Zeiser and the latter threw to Miller who got the runner at first. Wormwood flied to Boultes and Walsh flied to Clemens

Another one for Lowell in the latter half of the inning. McGamwell hit to Bowcock and was out at first. Miller, the next man up, has been shy on Bull Durham of late and just for that he sent the ball over the left field fence for a homer. Boultes hit to Bowcock and was out at first and Dee flied to Ferrin.

Score—Lowell 3, Fall River 1.

Fifth Inning

Weaver went out, Dee to first and Hickman flied to Clemens. Merrill singled to left, but when he tried to steal second he was thrown out.

Lowell scored two more runs in this inning. Lavigne singled to right and went to second on Zeiser's sacrifice. Clemens walked. Magee flied to Walsh and Lavigne went to third and Clemens to second on the play. De Groff got hit by a pitched ball filling the bases. McGamwell singled over second, scoring Lavigne and Clemens. McGamwell then tried to steal second, but was thrown out.

Score: Lowell 5, Fall River 1.

Sixth Inning.

Bowcock, Rose and Ferrin flied to DeGroff, all three being difficult catches.

Miller drew a base on balls, but was thrown out while trying to steal second. Boultes hit to Merrill and was out at first. Dee doubled to left and scored when Lavigne made a two-bagger in left garden. Zeiser was third out on a fly to Walsh.

Score: Lowell 6, Fall River 1.

Seventh Inning

The visitors scored another run in the seventh. Hayden flied to Clemens and then Wormwood sent the ball over the left field fence for a home run. Walsh hit to Miller and died at first. Weaver knocked the ball along the third base line and was out, Lavigne gathering in the ball. While Weaver was at the bat a foul tip struck Lavigne on one of the fingers but after a short delay he was able to resume playing.

Clemens singled to right field and stole second. Magee then flied to Ferrin. De Groff got a base on balls. McGamwell hit to Bowcock forcing De Groff at second. Mac then stole second, but Miller closed the inning by flying to Hickman.

Score—Lowell 6, Fall River 2.

Eighth Inning.

Hickman singled to centre and Merrill filed to Dee. Bowcock fanned. Hickman went to second on a wild pitch. Rose went out, Dee to McGamwell.

Boultes flied to Perrin and Dee, followed with a two bagger to left field. Dee took a lead off second and when Wormwood threw had the runner went to third. Lavigne singled to left field scoring Dee. Zeiser singled to centre field. Clemens filed to Bowcock. Magee got an infield hit filling the bases. De Groff singled to centre field scoring Lavigne and Zeiser. Dee went to third and De Groff went to second on the throw home. McGamwell went out, Wormwood to first.

Score—Lowell 9, Fall River 2.

Ninth Inning

Ferrin foul flied to Boultes. Hayden hit to Boultes, who fumbled, and he was safe at first. Wormwood got a three bagger to centre field scoring Hayden. Walsh singled to right field, scoring Wormwood. Weaver hit to Miller, who threw to Dee, getting Walsh and the ball was sent to first for a double play.

DIAMOND NOTES

Fall River with us again today.

Lawrence and Worcester lost and Lowell won. Going up.

Joe Ferrin, who was with us the first of the season, played a good game in left field for the visitors.

"Shorty" Dee played a good game at short, accepting all chances that came his way, and also getting two fine doubles at the bat. The Lowell fans hope that that slump he had is all over. His last two games were up to the standard.

Eddie McGamwell returned to the game yesterday after an absence of some time and he played his usual classy game. He had a finger injured last week and while the it is still sore, he was anxious to get back in the harness.

Halstein did not appear in uniform yesterday, and Kelehner, the St. Louis scout, was disappointed at not seeing the collegian in action. The big league fellow, however, was favorably impressed with the work of Clemens and Lavigne.

Rube De Groff played a beautiful game yesterday. In the sixth inning he made all the put-outs, getting three flies and all were difficult ones. At the bat he was there with two hits in three times up.

The fair sex were there strong yesterday and some of them were very enthusiastic, especially when Miller banged the pill over the fence for the circuit and one was heard to remark: "He's just lovely."

Zeiser pitched a good game and pulled out of several very bad holes. In the third inning, with three on and only one out, things looked rather bad for us, but Matty was there and tightened up in fine style and the counting station was just as far off as at the beginning of the inning.

Miller and Wormwood banged the ball over the left field fence for homers, and each received a check for 72 packages of the celebrated ball. To date there have been 33 home runs made on the local grounds and as a check for 72 packages of the fine stuff has been given for every circuit clout, needless to say Sam Scott handed out some ball during the past few months.

Billy Merritt of this city held the indicator and gave general satisfaction. Only on one play was there an argument, that being when Hickman took the throw to get Lavigne off second. Shorty thought the Lowell man was out and when Billy said "no," the little fellow yelled "Come down here and have a look." The decision remained unchanged.

Merrill, who is filling in at third played a remarkable game. He accepted everything that came his way and his throwing across the diamond was as good as we have seen here this season. The third corner has given Manager O'Brien considerable trouble during the season, but with the fast Merrill presiding over there the section is well taken care of.

CHICAGO CUBS

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Pitcher Lavender, who has done such excellent work with the Cubs this year, is not such a tremendous phenomenon when his work is compared with that of other pitchers on the team. Leifield, Richie, Cheney and Reulbach are each higher in the percentage column than Lavender, and yet you will hear more talk among the fans about Lavender than about the others who have been in the game for years. Lavender has pitched several sensational games, and he has done wonderful work for a newcomer. Much of his success is due to the able work of Catcher Archer. He is a tower of strength behind the plate. His skill and confidence steady the pitcher and the whole team.

CRUMBS OF BASEBALL

Culled by "Sul" From Circuit Dope Sheets

The New England league race has only four more weeks to go after this.

Lowell remains the best batting team in the league. The champs sure are a fine bunch of hitters.

Pretty even thing in hits in that Worcester-Lowell game—four on each side.

Van Dyke didn't have much on Maybohm, Monday, but the champs misplays were costly.

Luyster, Howard, Ferrin and Logan were the star batters in Monday's games on the circuit.

The Whalers were the only team to play an errorless game, Monday. But that didn't save them from a beating.

Walter Crum is on his way to the 300 class. Walter should be batting in the select circle in two weeks' time.—Exchange.

Haverhill leads the league in fielding. The Crossmen are putting up a fine article of ball, and have a slight lead over Brockton and Lynn.

It looks as if Lowell, Lawrence and Worcester will be the three teams to fight it out for the pennant. Well if Burkett gets a good shortstop he will have a chance.—Worcester Post.

Lawrence is the luckiest team in the league. The Barristers are away down in fielding and batting, but baseball luck has been with them most of the time.—Worcester Post.

Joe Briggs, the Barristers' center fielder, is the hardest man to pitch to in the league. A pitcher don't know just what he likes, as he can hit any kind of a ball.

Billy Hamilton is back from a scouting trip. He says that good players are scarce, the minors wanting fabulous prices for their players.

Marty Nye is playing the best all-round game for the Worcesters right now. His fielding has been sensational the last few weeks, and his batting also has been very good.

Bert Haas of Worcester has slumped in his batting. Bert has not been feeling very good the last few days and maybe that has something to do with his slump.

Fall River has a fast emergency man in Merrill, Haverhill has Cooney and Burkett feels comfortable with Christy Wilson.

With Al Bridwell back in the game, the Braves look like a regular ball club. "Bid" knows baseball about as thoroughly as anyone playing the game, and what is more valuable, he uses his knowledge, and in coaching the other men in the infield, he sets them at ease and they play far better ball.

"Hickory" Jackson is playing the best ball of his career. Jackson is an awkward fielder, but there are few men who cover more ground and are surer fielders. Hickory is fast working up into the .300 class.

Larry Gardner is making the fans around the circuit sit up and take notice by the fine article of ball he is playing for the Red Sox. Larry is one of the most natural all-around players in the game.

Johnny Evers has joined the "comeback" club, and it is his new lease of life that has put the Cubs up in the race. Evers is hitting harder than ever and his fielding is of the top-notch variety.

That cloud of dust rolling up from under the wheels of the Worcester chariot is going to get into the lamps of the Lawrence leaders if they don't keep going.—Exchange.

The little old New England league has seen Jesse in that final dash to the wire before now and they know he's best where there's the most at stake.—Worcester Gazette.

George Walsh, the Fall River outfielder, has stolen 74 bases this season and is only four behind Clemens of Lowell, the leader of the league in this department.

Because the Red Sox have lost a few games does not mean that they have blown. This slump was bound to come and the fact that it came while they were on the road is a great thing for the boys. They will be in their stride in a few days.

Local fans are becoming poor losers when they attack an umpire with stones because he made a decision against the home team. How would it be if Kerin were seriously injured?—Lawrence Eagle. Nice work, Billy.

Do the Lawrence fans want home umpires? How would they like it if very close decisions went against Lawrence when the team is on the road Give the visiting players an even break.—Lawrence Tribune. That's good dope.

It is suggested by the Worcester Gazette that if Umpire Kerin is to stay on the staff, it wouldn't be a bad idea to get armor for him. "Or, perhaps," it adds unkindly, "an even better way would be to slip him the blue ticket."

Larry McLean says it is a very tough job playing ball for Cincinnati since the club began to slip. The fans have no mercy for the players, but in former years they made goats of only a few men, while now they ridicule even the one-time favorites.

It will not be surprising to see Bill Sweeney's name at the head of the list of National league batting averages when they are published next Monday. Bill gets in his hit every day, and as he is getting a number of bases on balls, he gives the "av" a nice boost every game.

A writer in Sporting News says that "Milliman of Anderson is showing great class on the receiving end, besides hitting the pill at a .290 gait. He seems to be the best catcher in the league at the present writing." Milliman was with Haverhill last season.

The best hitters on each club are: Lawrence, Pearson; Lowell, Halstein; Worcester, Boehling; Lynn, Harrington; Brockton, Barry; Haverhill, Courtney and Carney tied; New Bedford, Griffith; Fall River, Hickman.

Clemens of Lowell leads in the scoring of runs. He has crossed the plate 78 times, which is four more than Walsh of Fall River, DeGroff, Magee, Miller, all of Lowell, follow in the order named. Of the first five leading run-getters, Lowell has four of them, which looks very good to us.

Arthur Bues, the former Pacific fence buster, who was sent to Buffalo by McGraw to burn up the International league, is not causing the great stir the fans thought he would. He gets in a homer now and then, but so do some of the pitchers.

Catcher Ted Easterly has been sold to the Chicago club of the American league by the Cleveland club.

If Sim Murch and Carney were traveling with the same team and had to bunk together, only an extension couch would accommodate them. If they tried to get along with an ordinary bed, one of the pair would find himself on the floor in the middle of the night. Some baseball giants these two.—Exchange.

The best hitting club in the New England league would be: Pitcher, Harrington, Lynn; catcher, Lavigne, Lowell; first base, Halstein, Lowell; second base, Bowcock, Fall River; third base, Cross, Haverhill; shortstop, Hickman, Fall River; centre field, Merrill, Fall River; centre field, Clemens, Lowell; right field, DeGroff, Lowell.

Seven players have made 100 hits or over. They are: DeGroff, Lowell; Clemens, Lowell; Courtney, Haverhill; Briggs, Lawrence; Hickman, Fall River; Walsh, Fall River; Cross, Haverhill; Luyster of Lawrence. Smith of Brockton and Young of Haverhill will undoubtedly be in the "century class" before another week passes into history.

The work of Lave Cross, the veteran, is attracting attention. Although he is playing one of the hardest positions in the infield, third base, he is playing the corner better than any third sacker in the league. He is leading the third basemen with the stick, his fielding is gilt edge and his throwing is sure and accurate. Cross is enjoying a most successful season.—Exchange.

An erroneous idea has gone around the New England league circuit that Monte and Lave Cross, the latter manager of the Haverhill team, are brothers. They bear no relation to each other. Monte's brother, Jerome, was in Lawrence a few weeks ago and while here was the guest of former Alderman John Abercrombie. He met Lave and they had quite a fanning bee.—Lawrence Eagle. The same general impression prevails throughout the baseball world.—Haverhill Gazette.

Hoff of Lawrence evidently isn't one of those pitchers who cherish the idea that a box "artist" is paid a salary merely for throwing balls at the plate and leaving it to his teammates to do all the hitting. He got two hits himself, Monday, besides twirling such excellent ball that the leaders defeated New Bedford without much trouble.

The Boston Braves are playing the best ball they have played all season since the return from the last western trip. The Pirates were forced to extend themselves to win, and Cincinnati is not putting up the ball that Kling's champs are displaying.

A Brantford scribe says: "The announcement that First Baseman Barry has been purchased from the Brockton team of the New England league by the New York Highlanders is interesting news in this territory; Barry was a member of the Brantford club of the Canadian league here last year under Amby Kane, though Brockton held a string on to him. Now that Pitcher Ray Keating has been purchased by the same club from the same league the fact is demonstrated that the Canadian league material is decidedly gilt-edged. Keating played with the Hamilton team last year under an optional agreement and his work was of a sensational character."

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The O. M. I. Cadets are without a game Saturday, Aug. 10.

The Graniteville baseball club will play the strong Shirley club in Shirley next Saturday.

The Hurons would like to play any 14 or 15 years old team in the city, preferably the Tyler A. C.

The North Chemsford Cadets accept the challenge of the Rockdale A. C. for Saturday, Aug. 10. Answer our acceptance through this paper.

Owing to a previous engagement with the Indians, the Beacons will be obliged to cancel their game with the Coburn A. A. for Saturday, Aug. 10.

BOXING GOSSIP

Buck Crouse and Eddie McGoorty have been matched to box in Cleveland next Monday night.

Jumbo Wells, the big New York heavyweight, who appeared here some time ago, beat Billy Shanks in fifteen rounds in a private fight. The contest took place on the outskirts of Chicago.

A broken wrist will keep Frank Hufnagle, the clever little New York examateur lightweight boxer, out of the game for some time to come. Hufnagle received his injury in a bout with Willie Brown last Saturday night.

Arthur Cote, the Biddeford lightweight, is very anxious to get back to action again. Cote writes one of his old handlers that he is in the best of condition and would like to meet any of the local lightweights.

Harry Dell, of California, a boxer rated as one of the best in the bantamweight class developed on the Pacific coast, is working his way east. Dell was coming to Boston about a year ago this time, but an accident spoiled his plans.

Johnny Cose of Boston went into the country yesterday where he will train for several matches he has in sight. Cose is an active little fellow and has invariably demonstrated his worth in bouts in this vicinity.

Danny McKettrick is trying to secure a match with Tommy Burns for Joe Jeanette, now that he has forced Johnson to retire. At least McKettrick asserts he did make the champion back down from a meeting with Jeanette.

Buffalo fans are looking forward to another meeting between K. O. Brennan and Paddy Lavin. Enter Mike (Twin) Sullivan, who has been after a match with Lavin for ever so long: "Lavin side steps an issue with me for reasons best known to himself, as he will never say why he will not make a match." Mike has finished.

Mike Cunningham, the Lewiston, Me., boxer, is said to be done with the game. Cunningham is working in an Auburn shoe shop, making plenty of money, and feels that there is no need of his boxing again. However, if a good opportunity presents itself, Mike will take a fling at the sport just for old time's sake.

The Manchester, N. H., matchmaker has landed the Young McDonough and Bobby Wilson return meeting for Labor Day afternoon at the park. Previous encounters between the pair have resulted in torrid exhibitions of boxing and there is every reason to believe that the next meeting will also prove interesting.

Luther McCarty's chief asset appears to lie in his willingness to keep on fighting regardless of what may be coming his way. It is opined by several wise critics who have witnessed the cowboy fighter in action that once he attains speed and science, he will be no time attaining championship honors. He has the heart and the courage of a lion and lacks only a few essentials which can be gained by practice and plenty of fighting.

BUNTING SOCCER NOTES

The Lowell soccer team will start very soon to play exhibition games. The first league game will be played on the 7th of September against Andover on the latter's ground. Soccer fans know of the plucky fight the Lowell boys put up last season, and they are more anxious than ever for the season to start. The team is composed of some young and very speedy players, the majority of whom are well known to the Lowell fans. The reason for the very early practice game, arranged for Saturday, is that Mgr. Flynn wants a pennant winning team from the start. The locals have secured a very fast man in J. Finkerton who played in and around Boston. Blackburn and Kelly are two big husky fellows and they look like the goods, and with three or four other new players the team will be complete. There will be a practice game Saturday on the Bunting grounds in South Lowell at 2.30 p. m. and any player desiring a try-out is invited to come out. Manager Flynn and J. Mahon are working very hard, and they expect to have a very fast team. Among the players signed are: W. Croft, S. Blackburn, G. Clegg, John Mahon, R. Clark, A. Burrows, J. Burrows, W. Kelly, J. Taylor.

FELL FROM ROOF BOYS' HEAD INJURED

Fifteen Stitches Required to Close Wound

Edward Gath, aged 10 years, living at 309 Lawrence street suffered a very bad accident yesterday while at play near his home. The little fellow was on the roof of a shed in the rear of his house, when he suddenly lost his balance and fell to the ground 12 feet below. He was removed to the Emergency hospital, where the attending physician took 15 stitches to close the wound on the little fellow's head.

Hand Injured

Herbert Merrill, aged 22 years, living at 387 Central street, had his right hand badly injured while at his work at John Brady's wood yard this morning. Merrill was busy at a circular saw, when his hand slipped and in the mishap the tip of his thumb was cut off, while the other four fingers were cut clean through to the bone at the first joint. The injured man was treated at the Emergency hospital.

FRACTURED HIS ARM

James McHale, a young boy living at 100 Lilley avenue, fractured his right arm while at play at the Greenhalge school playgrounds at 3.45 this afternoon. The ambulance was called and the little fellow was removed to St. John's hospital, where the bone was set.

94TH BIRTHDAY

WAS OBSERVED BY JONATHAN JOHNSON YESTERDAY

Jonathan Johnson of 10 Varnum avenue was tendered a dinner at Chin Lee's restaurant in Merrimack street yesterday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock, the occasion being the 94th anniversary of his birth. The lunch was given by Lucius A. Derby, with delegations from Pentucket lodge of Masons present. The dining room was decorated in an attractive manner and each member of the party wore a buttonhole bouquet of sweet peas.

There were a number of men present who are well advanced in years but are still "young." Among those were: Thomas S. Shaw, 91 years old; Hiram E. Huse of South Billerica, 88; Charles H. Hill, 88. In addition to these old members of Pentucket lodge the following officers were in attendance: Martin L. Kirkeby, master; Lucius A. Derby, secretary for the last 25 years; Avery B. Clark, treasurer; Frank D. Proctor, senior warden and Solon W. Stevens, an honorary member. Mr. Derby was toastmaster and in general charge of the arrangements.

Mr. Johnson has been a member of the Pentucket lodge for 63 years.

Mr. Derby made the opening speech, giving an interesting historical sketch of Pentucket lodge and the four old members present.

Mr. Johnson spoke reminiscently, and he was followed by Solon W. Stevens.

Mr. Johnson was born in Groton, Mass., Aug. 7, 1818, and attended the common schools of that town until the age of 15 years, when he was apprenticed to the watchmaker's, jeweler's and optician's business at Fitchburg. In 1840 he came to Lowell, and after engaging in the business with James K. Fellows for about two and a half years, he went into business on his own account.

Mr. Johnson has been a republican in politics, and an attendant of the Unitarian church. He was a member of the common council in 1855 and 1860, of the legislature in 1856, 1872 and 1873 and was a member of the board of aldermen 1856-57.

Many valuable inventions have resulted from his mechanical genius, among others being steam and hot water boilers, steam car heaters, gas radiators and gas cooking stoves.

He has been twice married: first to Sarah S. Barnard, in 1844; and second, to Sarah E. Turner in 1882. The following children were born of the first union: Helen A. Johnson, George A. Johnson and Susan B. Johnson.

GOV. WILSON

WENT TO NEW YORK TO HAVE PORTRAIT DRAWN

Governor Wilson expected to spend most of today and tomorrow at the artist's studio, returning here Saturday.

Plans for the campaign in Maine have practically been completed. Governor Marshall will stump there before the September state elections, but Governor Wilson will not speak in Maine until after the state elections, if at all.

MAN WAS FINED $100 FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

Auto Hit Lamp Post and a Tree

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Isadore J. Waters of Revere ran his newly purchased touring car along the Revere beach parkway yesterday as if he were doing stunts for a humorous moving picture film. He knocked down two lamp posts, bumped another, struck an automobile and a motorcycle, and then drove the machine up against a tree.

Later in the day he appeared before Special Justice Samuel R. Cutler in the Chelsea police court and was fined $100 for reckless driving. Sentence was suspended until Aug. 14.

Waters was operating the car under a 30-day license, granted only the day before by the highway commission in lieu of his application for a regular license. He was arrested by a Metropolitan police officer.

Yesterday morning Waters started out to drive his new automobile from his home, 53 Thornton street, Revere, to Boston. Everything went well until he reached the portion of the boulevard at Slade's mill, near Chelsea. There he knocked down one lamp post and hit another. Getting out, he cranked the car, and continued toward Boston.

Just across the Chelsea line he struck an automobile. A little farther on he collided with a motorcycle. No damage was done by any of the collisions. On he went, as if nothing had happened.

His next mishap occurred on the county road, Chelsea, where he skidded against a lamp post, knocking it over, and then bumped headlong into a tree. Waters was thrown out and the front of his machine was damaged.

Meanwhile the police at the Metropolitan station on the boulevard were wondering what was happening along the parkway. Telephone messages told of lamp posts down. Lieutenant Hawkins despatched two motorcycle officers, who found Waters sitting beside his wrecked machine.

Justice Cutler suspended sentence to investigate Waters' right to operate a machine. The state highway commission grants certificates giving automobile owners the right to drive their machine for 30 days, during the time it takes to file their applications for licenses. In the application the applicant must swear that he has driven a car at least 100 miles and is competent to handle a machine.

SIX WERE INJURED IN CAR COLLISION

Trolley Was Speeding on Wrong Track

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Four women and two men were injured last night in a car collision in Bowdoin street near Holliday, Dorchester, when an out-bound Meeting House Hill car, on the in-bound track, crashed into an in-bound Franklin street car.

Out-bound cars had been diverted past a derailed car at Upham's Corner, running over a short section of in-bound rail. The Meeting House Hill car had run past the switch-over and was making up lost time when it crashed head-on into the Franklin street car.

The two cars met on a sharp grade with terrific impact. The glass in each was splintered, and the front ends of the cars were demolished.

There were only five passengers on the Franklin street car and they escaped injury. There were about 30 on the other car.

Just before the two met, several people leaped from the Meeting House Hill car. Those who remained on the car were badly shaken up and piled headlong against the seats ahead of those in which they were sitting.

Miss Charlotte Currie of 103 Seventh street, East Cambridge, was shaken up and received a nervous shock.

Miss Gertrude Currie, her sister, of the same address, was also shaken up.

Mrs. R. M. Preston, 179 Pearl street, Somerville, was shaken up and received possible internal injuries. These three were taken into the office of Dr. W. J. Walton, treated and sent home in automobiles furnished by the Elevated railroad.

Mrs. Ella L. Vanier, 124 West Brookline street, received a strained back and nervous shock. She was treated in Dr. J. J. Sullivan's office, and sent home in an elevated auto.

Howard Preston, grandson of Mrs. R. M. Preston, was shaken up, and Hans Hunson, 178 Clarendon avenue, West Somerville, shaken up and shocked nervously. Both were treated by Dr. Joseph T. Kendricksen.

The noise of the impact of the two cars brought many from the houses in the vicinity. People half dressed thronged into the streets, assisting in carrying the injured into the offices of the nearby doctors.

The motorman of the Meeting House Hill car, in his hurry to make up the time lost on the turnout necessitated by the car derailed at Upham's Corner, neglected to take the switch over at Geneva avenue, back to his own rail.

Instead, he crowded speed on his car, racing it up the grade on the wrong track. The motorman of the Franklin street car saw the other in time to stop. But the Meeting House Hill car was at top speed when they met.

GETS LOOT BACK

CONFESSED THIEF TAKES POLICE TO PAWN SHOPS

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—The Quincy police yesterday arrested the confessed burglar who has broken into and robbed a large number of houses in Quincy, in the person of Harry Potter, 18 years old, who gave his address as the People's Palace, Boston.

They later recovered loot which they declare is worth between $5000 and $10,000 from Boston pawn shops and hiding places about the city that Potter is said to have stolen.

Potter was captured by Patrolman Charles Crocker as he was leaving the house of Harry Bacon on East Elm street, carrying two large suit cases containing clothing and toilet articles such as a business man would take with him on a journey.

He was taken to the Quincy police station, where he confessed to having broken into and robbed a large number of houses in that city, according to the police.

Accompanied by Capt. McKay and Inspector Goodhue, the confessed burglar went into a number of Boston pawnshop, where considerable loot was recovered, and in an old bag, hidden beneath a deserted wharf on Hampden street, Roxbury, was found a large amount of watches and jewelry.

The police declare that the goods recovered are worth between $5000 and $10,000.

Many Women Delegates and Advocates of Equal Suffrage Applaud Roosevelt

COLONEL ROOSEVELT

WOMEN SUFFRAGISTS ON WAY TO CONVENTION

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—There were many women delegates to the convention of the National Progressive party, and there were many times as many women present to advocate equal suffrage. They enthusiastically applauded Colonel Roosevelt every time they had a chance. The lower picture shows a group of suffragists on their way to the Coliseum headed by a brass band. The women in the carriage are: 1. Mrs. Charles Blaney of California; 2. Mrs. H. H. Wilmarth of Illinois; 3. Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago. These women were delegates and occupied seats with their state delegations.

BODIES OF MINERS

RECOVERED FROM LORRAIN PIT OF COAL FIELD

BERCHUM, Germany, Aug. 8.—The bodies of seven dead miners had up to 1 o'clock this afternoon been brought up from the Lorrain pit of the coal field near the village of Gerthe, where a firedamp explosion imprisoned a large number of men early this morning. Sixteen miners have also been brought to the surface suffering from serious injuries.

The extent of the disaster could not be estimated by the officials in charge of the rescue work, who expressed the opinion that most of the men were caged up in the various levels but were unhurt.

NATIONAL CONVENTION OF PROGRESSIVE PARTY

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—The Coliseum was well filled at all the sessions of the National Progressive party's convention. The biggest crowd of course was on hand Tuesday afternoon, when it was known that Colonel Roosevelt was to speak. Hours before he appeared the huge hall was jammed with a happy, enthusiastic crowd ready to applaud at every mention of their leader's name, and when he finally appeared the applause lasted nearly an hour. There were many more women present as delegates than were present at the other national conventions, and it was noticed that there were also more women among the thousands of spectators.

OAKDALE THE WINNER OF PENNSYLVANIA STAKE

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 8.—Oakdale, a gray trotter from New York state, yesterday captured the Pennsylvania stake, the principal trotting event of this week's meeting. The result fulfilled the early season predictions that this year's classics would be split-up affairs, for of the five big trotting stakes of the year to date, only one horse has won more than one. The exception is the Massachusetts bred Baden, winner at Grand Rapids and Cleveland.

Baden would have been favorite yesterday had there been betting. His defeat was a great disappointment to many New England friends who were at hand to see him race. He got off badly in the first heat and laid in behind until the stretch.

He was unable to get through at the pole until the heat was almost over, although he finished second. In the second heat Baden and Cheeney rubbed wheels going into the turn. This threw him back, although he came on and finished third.

In the third heat he again set off behind and was not able to get through in the stretch. In the final heat Rodney tried new tactics, and although he got off behind, he came on the outside in the stretch and almost won; in fact, many spectators thought he had, and the judges' decision was hooted by those favorig the New England bred and New Jersey owned horse.

Mixup on the Turn

The race was marred by an accident in the second heat. The Wanderer and Swanee, two far western entries, came together on the first turn and wrecked their sulkies. The New England mares, Chatty Direct and Ethel Lynne, were interfered with at the same time. The judges declared The Wanderer distanced and placed the other affected starters.

In the first heat of the big stake, Geers set the pace with Gordon Todd, but he died in the stretch when The Wanderer came from second place into a winning lead. The only contest was for place between Baden, which came from behind, and Marigold, which came up from the outside. Baden finished second. Oakdale was third at the quarter but dropped back and let the others race.

Oakdale was never headed in the second heat, there was a pretty contest between Marigold and Baden for place, with the former successful.

In the last heat, Oakdale and Cheeney raced to the stretch, where Baden came alongside and carried Oakdale to the wire. The judges saw the gray horse first. Chatty Direct, the New Hampshire entry, was very lame.

New Record for the Track

O. W. Welch, Jr., of North Adams, Mass. was unseated on the first turn in the first heat of the 2.07 pace and struck a fence post. He was badly shaken up, but was not seriously injured. This event was won by the young pacer, Braden Direct, after making a break which caused him to lose the first heat. His time in the second heat, 2.04¼, is a new record for Brunots Island track.

Doctor Mack was never headed in the 2.16 trot and won out in front in every heat, the only contest being for second money. Duchester, in Cox stable, made his first start of the year, and came second in the last heat.

The first 3-year-old pacing event of the year was the side-wheelers' division of the Matron stable. Herman Wenger went out in front in the first heat and was never headed. He looked to be winning as easily in the second, when within 60 yards of the wire Davis brought Ward Dillon up at two-minute speed and almost captured the heat.

Today's program includes the final of the professional drivers' stake and the free-for-all trot. In the latter the trotting record of the track is expected to be lowered. The summary:

WOMEN SHOULD BE PROTECTED

Against So Many Surgical Operations. How Mrs. Bethune and Mrs. Moore Escaped.

Sikeston, Mo.—"For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl."—Mrs. DEMA BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

Murrayville, Ill.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a very bad case of female trouble and it made me a well woman. My health was all broken down, the doctors said I must have an operation, and I was ready to go to the hospital, but dreaded it so that I began taking your Compound. I got along so well that I gave up the doctors and was saved from the operation."—Mrs. CHARLES MOORE, R. R. No. 3, Murrayville, Ill.

LEACH CROSS WON FROM JACK O'BRIEN

He Came Near Securing a Knockout

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Leach Cross had the time of his life trying to put Young Jack O'Brien to sleep at the St. Nicholas A. C. last night, and only O'Brien's wonderful foot work carried him through safely to the end.

Cross won and might have scored a knockout if O'Brien hadn't held one of his arms in a vice-like grip all during the fight. As was expected, O'Brien made Cross miss a good deal, but when Leach did connect, he took a lot of steam out of O'Brien.

It was a furious fight from the beginning. Cross landed his famous right almost at the start, and though O'Brien looked like a beaten man, he managed to shake off the effects of the wallop and gave the fans a wonderful display of boxing. He fought Leach to a standstill and the crowd was in an uproar. Right back they went in the second and repeated the initial spat. O'Brien danced about and made Cross go his best. Leach landed his right but O'Brien was always going away with the punch. In the third Leach pulled his old possum trick of playing groggy, but O'Brien didn't fall into the trap. The next instant Cross was fighting as hard as ever.

The fourth was a bad round for O'Brien. Cross had him dizzy from rights to the jaw and body. O'Brien seemed tired from this round on. The early pace had been too much for him. He had a bad habit of holding gone of Cross' gloves, and the referee was continually prying the two apart.

O'Brien made a good finish and had Leach missing a good deal. Cross was unmarked, while O'Brien's lip was badly cut.

Johnny Lore with five pounds advantage, gave Phil Cross the fight of his life. Lore dropped Phil as cold as a wedge in the second round, and that gentleman had to take the count of seven before the shooting stars had passed beyond his vision. Lore used a damaging right to the body throughout the entire fight, and, though Phil's knees sagged at times, he was always on top of his man. His willingness offset Lore's occasional right welts. It was a good, even thing.

KOSHER MARKETS

IN BOSTON WERE FORCED TO CLOSE

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—The opposition of the kosher butchers of Greater Boston to the newly opened co-operative kosher meat stores that are being organized under the auspices of the Mothers Protective Association, resulted yesterday in cutting off the meat supply for all of the co-operative stores, and the closing of over a dozen of the regular meat dealers for lack of trade.

A committee representing the butchers called upon the rabbis and claimed that if the co-operative plan was allowed to go on they would be driven out of business. The rabbis thereupon ordered the kosher slaughterers to kill no more meat and the co-operative stores in Boston, Chelsea and Malden were forced to shut down at noon, after selling all that they could get hold of—4000 pounds.

When the word of the forbidding of the killing of kosher meat became known, a committee of the co-operative backers waited on the rabbis and threatened them with prosecution by law if they did not rescind their order. What the result of this conference was is not known, but Simon Stone, in charge of the co-operative system, announced that there would be plenty of meat this morning.

Plans had been made for the opening this morning of two more stores, one in the West End and the other in Chelsea. The boycotters meanwhile declare that they will refuse to purchase any meat until the co-operative stores are reopened.

Very little business was done by the regular butchers, and the war between the boycotters and the dealers is becoming more bitter than ever.

MRS. PERKINS

COMPANION OF MRS. McNAMARA TO BE EXTRADITED

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Mrs. Cora L. Perkins, a companion of Mrs. Nicholas J. McNamara, wife of a San Francisco banker, who was arrested in this city a week ago at the request of the San Francisco police on a charge of larceny on a warrant obtained by McNamara, charging that she, together with Frederick H. Patterson, the McNamara's chauffeur, had been implicated in the theft of an automobile shipped from Portland, Ore., to New York, is to be extradited to California.

Nicholas J. McNamara, accompanied by a San Francisco detective, arrived at police headquarters yesterday, the latter carrying papers from the governor of California requesting that Mrs. Perkins and Patterson be turned over to him.

K. Henry Rosenberg, attorney for Mrs. Perkins said yesterday that he had been informed by the governor's secretary that extradition papers had been signed by Governor Dix, and that neither he nor his client would fight the order. The lawyer said his client prefers to answer the charges in San Francisco, and after they have been heard she will institute an action against McNamara charging him with perjury in causing her arrest.

It is stated that McNamara is endeavoring to become reconciled with his wife, whom he passed in the train as she was returning to California, but that she will not accept his overtures. He was accompanied to New York by his seventeen-year-old daughter, Gladys.

HAVERHILL STRIKE IS ABOUT ENDED

Strike-Breakers Driven Out by Cutters

HAVERHILL, Aug. 8.—The police were called out to prevent trouble in the shoe district yesterday afternoon, following the arrival of 36 strike-breakers from New York.

The 350 block cutters employed by 20 leather remnant firms, who have been out on strike for four weeks, were holding a meeting at the time of the arrival of the strike-breakers at the headquarters of the I. W. W. at Socialist hall on Merrimac street. They were discussing negotiations for a settlement when informed of the arrival of the strike-breakers.

The meeting broke up in haste and the strikers hurried to the shoe district, where they swarmed into Phoenix row, near one of the factories where the strike has been on. Word was telephoned the police and a detail of 16 officers responded.

The strikers at the time were trying to enter the factory where the strike-breakers were assembled, and it was with much difficulty that they were driven away. They loitered about on Washington street for three hours and were not appeased until after 7 o'clock last night, when the strike-breakers left the city on a special electric for Boston.

The negotiations came near falling through, owing to the arrival of the strike-breakers.

The strike-breakers were paid $3.00 each and expenses and they at once prepared to return to New York. As they boarded their electric car they were cheered by the crowd of 500 strikers and their sympathizers.

Organizer Daniels and the leather remnant firms last night admitted that the strike was virtually settled and that the men will return to work either today or tomorrow.

The men before the strike were receiving from $8 to $13 per week and were working 50 hours. The employers refuse to recognize the I. W. W. in the settlement, but this has been waived by the officials of the union and the men will get a 54-hour week, thus securing a Saturday half-holiday, and an increase in wages averaging 10 per cent.

BILL IN EQUITY

TO RESTRAIN OWNERS OF A HOTEL

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Russell G. Fessenden and Frederic Parker, conservators of Henry Bigelow Williams, have filed a bill in equity in the Suffolk superior court against Gardiner H. Shaw, Anna A. Shaw, Mina E. Fritz and the International Trust company to establish a debt on a $6000 note which Mr. Williams is alleged to have taken from Mr. Shaw. Judge Morton has issued an order of notice returnable on Aug. 12. The plaintiffs ask that the defendants be restrained from disposing of the title in personal property in the Hotel Carlton at 1138 Boylston street.

On Feb. 1, 1908, Williams loaned Shaw $6000, and the latter gave a note secured by personal property in the Hotel Carlton. The $6000 received from Williams, it is claimed, was used by Shaw for improvements on the real estate and in the purchase of furniture and other things for the hotel. Through various transactions later, it is claimed, Gardiner H. Shaw became the holder of notes secured by mortgages on the property, and one of the notes is now in the hands of the trust company for collection.

DIED SUDDENLY

MAN PASSED AWAY IN WAGON SEAT

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Peter Conway, 60, single, whose home was at 1 Church place, Roxbury, died suddenly as he was driving on Heath street yesterday afternoon. Conway's horse trotted some distance with the dead man grasping the reins. When the animal finally stopped, of his own accord, James S. Cosgrove, of 1 Mulvey avenue, discovered Conway dead on the seat.

Conway was driving a livery rig from the John C. Thibault stable on Floyd street, where he was for many years an employe. The medical examiner has not yet reported the cause of the death.

THREE KILLED

WHEN WATER TANK FELL THROUGH THE ROOF

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 8.—Three girls were killed and a dozen badly injured late yesterday when a water tank on the top of the Union American Cigar company's building at 25th and Smallman streets fell through the roof and the sixth and fifth floors.

A score of other persons sustained minor injuries. The water tank was erected a few days ago and water was being pumped into it for the first time.

The dead are Agnes Niedzelska, aged 17; Iva Lawton, 17 and an unidentified girl, aged 20. Of the 12 young women seriously hurt it is believed a number will die.

When the supports gave way the tank, holding about 2000 gallons of water, plunged through the roof and the sixth floor and to the fifth, where were more than 150 employees, mostly girls. More than 500 other employees, working on lower floors heard the crash and screams and ran for the exits. Within a moment the stairways were choked with a struggling mass and many were hurt in this way.

Fire alarms were sounded and the firemen, aided by police, soon quelled the panic.

HERSCHEL-PARKER EXPEDITION

DAWSON, I. T., Aug. 8.—The four members of the Herschel-Parker expedition which explored the eastern slopes of Mount McKinley and attained an altitude of 20,000 feet on the mountain, being turned back by a storm when near the summit, went to Seattle Monday. The party not only charted a large area now blank on the maps of that section, but succeeded in reaching the top of the great mountain by the northern or Muldrow glacier route.

MAN IS MISSING MURDER SUSPECTED

Two Men Placed Under Arrest

BIDDEFORD, Me., Aug. 8.—Kiamet Osman and Sarle Osman, two Albanian brickmakers, who have been employed as ditch diggers by the New England Telephone company recently, were taken into custody yesterday afternoon by Chief of Police Thomas Stone, pending the search being made for Asin Theljula, aged 35, a brickworker in the yards of the Saco Brick company.

Theljula, who is an Albanian, left his boarding place last Sunday to make a short call on friends who live on Smith street, this city. He left the tenement in this city about 9 a. m., and he has not been seen or heard from since that time. His friends, and he has many among the foreign population, believe he is a victim of foul play.

City Marshal Justus Cobb of Saco, who was called into the case Tuesday, was inclined to believe at first that the man had run away, but after a rigid investigation he is inclined to the belief that the Albanian was murdered.

INSTANTLY KILLED

LYNN FOREMAN ELECTROCUTED WHILE STARTING MACHINERY

LYNN, Aug. 8.—Cecil M. Barlow, foreman in the testing department of the General Electric company plant in Lynn, was electrocuted there when he threw on the switch when the whistle blew at 7 o'clock yesterday morning to start the machinery over which he had charge. He was only 22 years of age and roomed at the Lynn Y. M. C. A. His home was at 70 Columbia avenue, Somerville.

Nobody witnessed the electrocution. His prostrate body was found on the floor near the switch a few minutes after he threw it on by a fellow-workman.

The body was carried to the hospital department of the works and Dr. Woodill called. He worked over the body for half an hour, injecting oxygen, trying artificial restoration and practically every means known to medical science, but not a sign of life could be detected. It is believed that he was instantly killed.

The mystery of it all is how he could have been electrocuted as the switch, like hundreds of others in the big plant, is safeguarded by every known means and young Barlow was thoroughly familiar with it.

RAIDED BY POLICE

BASEBALL GAMBLERS WERE PLACED UNDER ARREST

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—In the opening of a crusade to stop the gambling nuisance in front of baseball scoreboards, Sergt. Fitzgerald and a squad of officers from the Lagrange street station arrested six men in front of a bulletin board on Tremont street yesterday afternoon.

It was charged that the men were betting on the results of the game as posted and many complaints had been received at the Lagrange street station to the effect that a regular bookmaking business was constantly carried on there.

The officers mingled with the crowd in front of the board and listened to the talk of the men around them. At a signal from Sergt. Fitzgerald they seized Adolph Rottenburg, 23, of Cambridge; David McLean, 60, of Somerville; William J. Gilman, 28, of Tremont street; George J. Hoyt, 28, of West Newton street; D. J. Sullivan, 29, of Tremont street; and John J. Carter, 42, of Appleton street.

ALLEGED YEGG

WAS HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Only one of the men arrested by Patrolman Trainor of the East Dedham street station early yesterday morning during the fight in which the officer was compelled to shoot at his prisoners appeared in court yesterday. He was held under $1000 for the September grand jury on the charge of assault and battery, with intent to rob.

Harry Irwin of 504 East Third street, South Boston, was the man, while his pal, Joseph McMillan of 80 Shawmut avenue, is in the City hospital. McMillan, according to the hospital doctors, will be able to leave in about ten days and will then appear in court.

Trainor is still confined to his home.

MAY BE PARDONED

WOMAN HAS BEEN AWAITING HANGMAN ELEVEN YEARS

READING, Pa., Aug. 8.—After spending more than 11 years in the Berks county prison under sentence of death for the murder of her husband efforts are about to be made to obtain a pardon for Mrs. Kate Edwards on the ground that she has made sufficient atonement.

The case of Mrs. Edwards is remarkable. Four governors of Pennsylvania have failed to take final action in fixing a day for the woman's execution, each governor having left the case rest in the files of his office.

Mrs. Edwards and a negro were convicted of first degree murder for the killing of her husband. Both were sentenced to be hanged and their cases were taken through all the state courts and repeatedly brought before the board of pardons.

The negro was finally freed, it having been shown that he did not commit the murder. The white woman, however, was refused a pardon. Shortly after her arrest a child was born to her in the county jail and was sent to a southern institution.

BODY RECOVERED

BRUNSWICK, Me., Aug. 8.—The mystery of the disappearance of Albion B. Dunning, aged 12, was cleared away today when word that his body had been found at Kings Ferry near Woolwich was received. He disappeared about 3 a. m. last Sunday morning from his home here and was traced to a point near the bridge over the Androscoggin river between Brunswick and Topsham. It is supposed he jumped into the river. Mr. Dunning had been in poor health for some time.

REBEL LEADER

EXCHANGED CARDS WITH MEXICAN MINISTER

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 8.—The reports that Rafael Hernandez, Mexican minister of Fomento, held a conference here yesterday with General Orozco, the rebel commander, have excited widespread interest.

General Orozco says there was an exchange of greetings between himself and Minister Hernandez early yesterday in which only cards were exchanged, but he and Hernandez were not within speaking distance of each other.

"There have been no overtures of peace," declared Orozco, "nor will there be unless President Madero resigns or his family is eliminated from the cabinet."

Hernandez last night denied he met Orozco, saying he had merely stopped in El Paso en route to California.

MAN GUILTY OF LARCENY ORDERED TO PAY FINE

He Had Posed As Prospective Purchaser of Property— Other Cases in Court

Fred Sandville, who has been posing as a prospective purchaser of property in the vicinity of Lowell and enjoying automobile rides with real estate men for the past few weeks came to the end of his rope last night when he was arrested on a warrant charging him with the larceny of $6 in money, the property of John A. and Edw. A. Simpson. After the arrest was made it was learned that Sandville had been living with a woman since he came to Lowell and this morning she was placed under arrest.

Sandville was arraigned in police court this morning on complaints charging him with the larceny of $6, and also lewd and lascivious cohabitation and the woman was charged with lewd and lascivious cohabitation. Each entered a plea of guilty and after the court had heard the evidence he found both guilty. The case of larceny was placed on file, but Sandville was given one year in jail on the more serious complaint.

The court after learning the woman's side of the story was disposed to be lenient with her and when Supt. Welch said he believed in giving the woman an opportunity to do better she was given a suspended sentence of six months in jail.

Sandville who resides in Bow, N. H., came to this city several weeks ago, went out to different real estate dealers and said he owned considerable property in Bow and wanted to dispose of it and purchase some place in the vicinity of Lowell. The real estate men saw a chance to make a good commission and day after day he was driven to various places looking for desirable property.

It appears that shortly after coming here he met the woman in the case.

The larceny of the $6 led to his arrest and when questioned last night he told one story and this morning when in court he told practically another story. Several times while testifying he contradicted himself.

Neglected His Family

Alfred Beland was charged with failing to provide for his wife and admitted that he was guilty but that he had been sick of late and was unable to do so. Mrs. Beland testified that her husband drank heavily and she received but very little money to support herself and five children. Beland was given a suspended sentence of six months in jail on condition that he pay his wife at least $8 every week.

Drunken Offenders

James P. Boyle, who put up such a battle with Patrolmen Dooley and Killoy when they arrested him yesterday and created a scene, pleaded guilty to drunkenness this morning, but asked to be given a chance to leave the city. Inasmuch as the police are not anxious to have him around Judge Enright gave him a suspended sentence of six months and advised him to leave Lowell as soon as possible.

John J. Mahoney was given a suspended sentence of four months in jail. Daniel J. Lynch was fined $6, and one first offender was fined $2.

CITY TEAMSTERS

WANT TO ENJOY PROTECTION OF CIVIL SERVICE

Attorney Carmichael filed a petition today in behalf of the union teamsters of the city. The teamsters petition the municipal council to make an appropriation for the registration of laborers in order that the laborers of Lowell may enjoy the right of being placed under the civil service laws. The petition was signed by Joseph J. Johnson, president, and Francis J. Kierce of the union teamsters.

The law is that in cities having a population of over 100,000 the city employes may request an appropriation from the municipal council and if this is granted they may be placed under the civil service laws.

At present the clerks and all other employes of the city with the exception of laborers, are protected by civil service laws. This is an advantage and would be particularly so to the laboring man who under the commission would no longer be forced to cater to politics and politicians that he may retain his position as is often the case.

Under the civil service laws, the positions would be filled by the more competent and deserving laborers and they would enjoy greater protection.

It is thought that the city council will make the appropriation and give the laborers of this city this added security.

LOST HIS JOB

DETECTIVE ACCUSED OF BEATING A BOY

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Mayor Bennett, of Asbury Park, N. J., appeared in the police court yesterday to defend a fourteen-year-old boy who had been severely beaten by Detectives Flay and Broderick. When the story of the boy and two witnesses had been heard the mayor ordered Flay to turn in his badge.

The mayor also assured the boy's mother and other interested spectators that the case would be prosecuted against Broderick, who could not be dismissed except on proven charges.

The boy, Silas Clark, appeared before Magistrate Borden with his left eye tightly closed. His face was black and blue and his lips puffed out. Flay asserted that he and Broderick had acted only in self defense when attacked by the boy and his brother Norman, who is but 13 years old.

"They sneered at us as dirty Jews," said the boy. "They demanded to know our names, and we told them. Then they knocked me down and threw me over a railing, and this man Flay held me down and punched me."

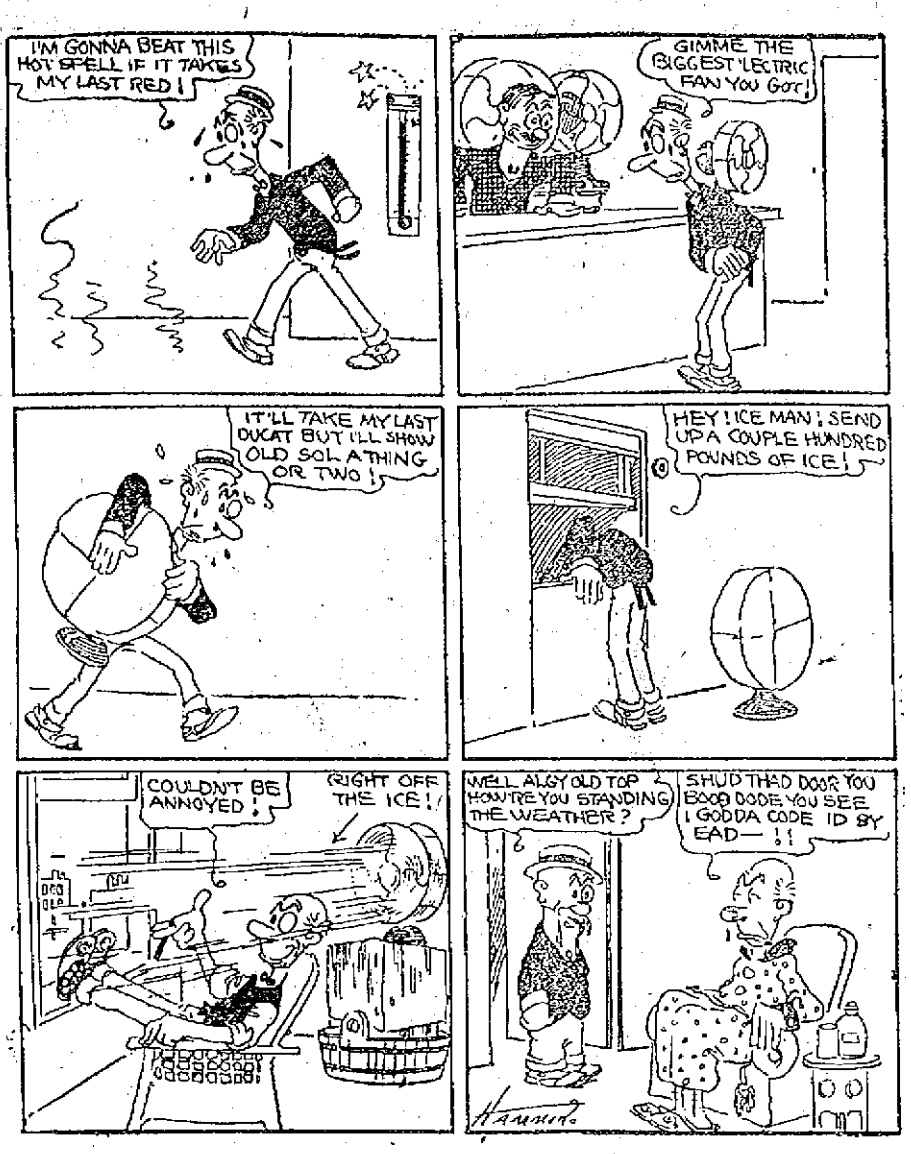
COOL REGARDLESS OF CONSEQUENCES



EX-SEN. LORIMER WANTS $125,000

To Pay the Expenses of the Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—William Lorimer startled the select committee of the senate that made the second investigation of the Lorimer case by presenting a bill for about $125,000 to reimburse him for expenses incurred in his unsuccessful fight to retain his seat in the senate. The committee was in executive session to consider the matter of its expenditures and make provision to pay them.

It has been the contention even of Lorimer's opponents that he should be reimbursed, at least in part, for the money he paid out in defending the case against him, but the committee was hardly prepared for such a bill as was presented yesterday. It is not at all likely that it will be paid.

One of the senators who voted to unseat Lorimer ventured the opinion that the Illinois politician will probably be allowed less than half the sum he claimed, or about $50,000. There have been reports that the two investigations cost Lorimer more than $200,000.

A proposal was made in the senate at one time to allow him $25,000 for counsel fees in the first investigation. This amount did not purport to be in full for all his expenditures in the first investigation. The senate rejected that proposal. In fact, it never came to a vote because Lorimer asked that it be withdrawn, declaring he would not accept the sum, but the account submitted to the senate committee yesterday was a voluntary claim put forward by Lorimer himself.

Next to the claim of Lorimer himself for reimbursement the most startling incident of the committee meeting was a claim for $30,000 presented by John J. Healy of Chicago, who was retained as one of the counsel for the senate committee. Mr. Healy's associate John H. Marble of Washington, did not make any definite claim, but left the matter of the adjustment of his pay to the committee. The committee voted to give each of the lawyers $10,000 in full settlement of their services.

There was plenty of murmuring over the bills that came in. The stenographers' bills were large and were ordered pruned. A special application will have to be made to the senate to pay the Lorimer bills, as there is not enough money in the contingent fund to meet them.

Senator Dillingham, chairman of the committee, was authorized to make up a complete list of the claims, after which the committee will consider them and decide what it will pay and then ask for an appropriation.

Just what it cost the United States government to oust Lorimer is not known definitely yet, but it will be a large amount.

LAWN PARTY

An enjoyable lawn party was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. Edwin Whitcomb in Varnum avenue under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society of the Coburn mission. There were about one hundred people present during the evening and the various booths on the lawn were well patronized.

The success of the affair was due to the efforts of the social committee of the society which is composed of Carrie Whitcomb, chairman; Ernest Hartman, Minnie Scott, Ralph Tewksbury, Malissa Rolfe and Pearl Corey.

CORNER GROCERY FEARS CONSOLIDATION

Report of the N. Y. State Food Commission

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The conclusion reached by the state food investigating commission's committee on market prices and costs that wholesalers, retailers and private organizations should move toward the development of the large retail unit or food department store as one of the means of reducing the high cost of living is not pleasing to the average corner grocery store proprietor, and there are 11,000 of them in Greater New York.

The committee said in its recent report of its investigations in this city and other municipalities in the state, that the food department store, buying direct, receiving direct and selling direct, was the best of the distributing agencies in point of efficiency, minimum of waste, satisfactory distribution and due rewards for management and capital. The committee said it had been suggested that producers and consumers organize a corporation to control and manage a system of such markets and that the preliminary financing might be undertaken by the state.

"I'd like to know where we would be if a chain of grocery stores and food department stores became all the rage?" asked one indignant corner store man. "We would go out of business. That's all there would be to it. None of us is making any real money now as the result of the bad habit our customers are getting into of buying their supplies direct from these stores. They are crowding us to the wall, and what would happen if the municipality or state took a notion into its head of going into the grocery business on a gigantic scale is something I don't like to think about."

"Of course the corner store grocer would go out of business," said a representative of one of the kind of stores that the markets' investigators favor, "if such a scheme could be put in operation, but everything is being consolidated nowadays and in time the corner grocer will have to go."

A food department store handles almost all kinds of foodstuffs, including meats, and the retail butcher is feeling the effects of the enormous amount of steaks, roasts and other things that are being daily sold over the meat block on the 'steenth floor of the up-to-date markets. There are more than 6000 retail meat shops in this city, and their owners, it is said, are feeling very anxious about the success of the new fangled retail butchers.

The pushcart man—he numbers beprospects of a monopoly of the food business—is also disturbed over the prospects of a monopoly of the good supply trade by the food department stores.

Washington market butchers say that the prospects indicate that there will be no reduction in the price of beef this summer. It is now so high that many housewives pass the stands with their eyes looking the other way. They go to the fish stands to get a substitute for meat and when they ask questions about prices they walk straight out of the market and the family gets beans or something else for supper.

The raising of the retail price of eggs two cents has also given the housekeeper something to think about and the egg dealers are putting all the blame on the hen. They say that at this time of the year she is beginning to attend strictly to business of moulting and consequently she hasn't time to provide material for omelets and other things.

THE PROGRESSIVES MAKING PLANS

To Capture the State Committee

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—The prospects of the Charles S. Baxter republican progressives and the regulars harmonizing on the organization of the committees of the republican state convention are excellent, but the progressives propose to endeavor to capture the state committee in the September primaries.

The progressives remaining in the party held a meeting yesterday afternoon and a committee of conference reported that Charles E. Hatfield, chairman of the republican state committee, was agreeable to admitting the progressives to membership in the convention committees.

A week ago the progressives selected Charles S. Baxter, Charles L. Burrill and Daniel W. Lane to submit to Chairman Hatfield the proposition that men identified with the progressive wing of the party be given representation upon the committees of the state convention, and also that a progressive be considered for chairman of the convention.

This committee yesterday afternoon reported that Chairman Hatfield was disposed to agree that the progressives were sufficiently strong numerically to entitle them to share in the convention organization. The committee announced that Mr. Hatfield said that he believed the progressives should have places on all committees, and that he should urge that view upon the state committee. The committee suggested that probably the progressives would be consulted by the state committee in all matters connected with the state convention.

The conference committee was urged by resolution to impress upon the state committee the necessity for the adoption of strong progressive planks in the platform, including declarations in favor of progressive candidates.

Inasmuch as the progressives wish to control the republican state committee, the meeting yesterday appointed Charles S. Baxter and Representative John H. Cogswell of Lynn to scrutinize the list of candidates for the committee and report the names of those who are progressives and who could properly be supported by the Baxter faction. In each district where no pledged progressive candidate is in the field, the committee was instructed to see to it that a recognized progressive was induced to become a candidate.

A committee is still engaged in preparing a platform to be submitted to the association of progressive republicans.

NO COMPROMISE

HONOLULU, Aug. 8.—"No compromise" was the decision last night by each side of the strike that has tied up the seven vessels of the Inter-Island S.S. Co. Representatives of the steamship company say the real principles involved in the question of the closed shop rules to the steamship business. The strike is costing the steamship company $4000 a day. Postal officials cabled today, asking instructions from Washington as to the handling of the mails tied up between Honolulu and the other islands because of the strike.

THE DARROW TRIAL EXCITES GREAT INTEREST

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 8.—The alleged connection among the men who blew up the Times building in Los Angeles and the culpabilit yof Job Harriman, socialist attorney, overshadowed the main issue when the bribery trial of Clarence Darrow was resumed today. Judge Hutton was expected to rule today on the admissibility of testimony by Edward A. Cantrell, another socialist leader, which the prosecution declared would serve the double purpose of impeaching Harriman and showing him as having had guilty knowledge of the perpetrators of the Times explosion. Cantrell and Harriman broke up their friendship some months ago. The impeachment question, which had been denied by Harriman and which was expected to be answered in the affirmative by Cantrell should the court permit it, contained in substance the following allegations:

That Harriman had said to Cantrell on the morning of Oct. 1 at San Luis Bispo, Cal. "By ——, Cantrell, the Times building has been dynamited and something like 20 people killed." That Harriman had taken Cantrell to his room in a hotel, locked the door and then burst into a fit of laughter after which Cantrell said: "What does it mean?" That Harriman replied that it "means the boys are on the job." That a few minutes later Harriman said: "I have known for some time that preparations were being made to pull off the job" and that in the resulting conversation Harriman told Cantrell that he had been in consultation with the plotters and had begged them to postpone the matter until after the state socialist convention. That Cantrell at the time was socialist candidate for secretary of state and last fall he ran for member of the board of education on the ticket which Harriman headed as candidate for mayor.

According to Harriman, Cantrell was his ardent supporter and warm friend until a recent split among the California socialists, when he became a bitter enemy.

TOBACCO PLOT

GROWERS COMPLAIN OF CONSPIRACY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Tobacco growers of Virginia, Tennessee and Western Kentucky have been suffering for many months from what appears to be a conspiracy on the part of the buyers of tobacco for foreign governments to depress the price and prevent growers from obtaining a fair return for their product.

A fixed price is offered by these agents which is uniform in all tobacco-growing states for the same grade of product. There is no competition in bidding, and the growers are compelled to accept whatever is offered. France particularly, where the government contains a monopoly in tobacco, is a large buyer of certain grades.

So general has the complaint of growers become that at the instance of Sen. Martin, of Virginia, the senate today passed a bill creating a commission consisting of three senators and three representatives to investigate the conditions under which foreign governments purchase American grown tobacco.

The purpose is declared to be to discover whether there is an understanding or arrangement of any sort among these governments to keep down the price of tobacco and compel growers to accept the bids offered.

GOVERNOR WILSON'S ACCEPTANCE

Governor Wilson's speech of acceptance is a very conservative document, but at the same time thoroughly democratic and progressive in spirit. He does not make any reckless statements. He keeps to the democratic platform and expands its principles so as to show their application to the prevailing abuses of the hour. Two great things are to be done, says Governor Wilson. These are to set up the rule of justice and of right in such matters as the tariff and other economic questions, and the other is the great task of protecting our people and our resources and of keeping open to the whole people the doors of opportunity. In the latter is implied the necessity of conservation of our resources and of building up a merchant marine competent to take care of our commerce in a manner that will promote our interests in competition with other nations.

Governor Wilson deals with the Payne-Aldrich tariff law as the most conspicuous example of special favors and monopolistic advantages ever offered by the republican party in return for party service and campaign contributions. The governor will start the work of revision with the schedules that most obviously kill competition and that are most likely to increase the cost of living. His policy on the tariff is thoroughly sound and sensible. He would not have the changes made so as to disturb business or to threaten the employment of the thousands who have to depend upon such factories for their living.

Speaking of the working people of America, Mr. Wilson says: "They are the backbone of the nation. No law that safeguards, that improves the physical and moral conditions under which they live, that makes their hours of labor rational and tolerable, that gives them freedom to act in their own interest, and that protects them where they cannot protect themselves, can properly be regarded as class legislation or as anything but a measure taken in the interest of the whole people, whose partnership in right action we are to establish and to make real and practical."

Apart from his treatment of the tariff, the strong point in Mr. Wilson's speech is his appeal for measures to build up a merchant marine, claiming that without a merchant marine we cannot take our rightful place in the commerce of the world. Our industries, he says, cannot find a free outlet to the markets of the world unless they be given ships of their own to carry their goods, ships that will put American interests foremost in their sailing orders and their equipment. Our registry laws and the tariff he holds as well devised to put our flag off the seas, and to reverse this policy he would change both and build and purchase ships in competition with the world.

In the Philippines as at home we are to set up the rule of justice and of right which in this case means that whatever arrangement of government shall be most serviceable to the people may be made for their benefit and having started them on the right path to freedom and development our duty to the islands is ended.

It would appear that Governor Wilson in this speech has been particularly cautious not to make any statement that would give his opponents an opportunity to criticize him. In this he has certainly succeeded.

THE MONTESSORI METHOD

The whole world is deeply interested in the methods of instruction by which it is alleged Dr. Maria Montessori can teach weak-minded children so that they can pass examinations in reading and writing equal to those of normal children. If what is claimed for the Montessori system be true, it is really remarkable and is bound to revolutionize some of the present methods of teaching young children. This method is said to be a development of the science of child-psychology based upon the works of Wundt. The teacher in this system merely observes and directs and hence she is called the "directress."

The method originated in the infant schools established by Dr. Montessori at Rome, the pupils being the children of parents who had to work during the day. The system has been widely observed by teachers and is found to be an ingenious modification of the kindergarten system founded by Froebel.

Indeed, it is quite probable that Dr. Montessori attains her success from carrying the kindergarten methods to more advanced years, thus discovering that the methods devised to promote muscular coordination and sense perception in small children are equally successful when skilfully used with those of more advanced years. We are inclined to believe, however, that the accomplishments of the Montessori system have been overstated and that its efficacy depends mainly upon the art and personality of the "directress."

THE WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT

The operation of the workmen's compensation act seems to be giving the greatest satisfaction. During the first eighteen days in which it was in force, the fatal accidents averaged one a day, while altogether over 3000 accidents were reported to the industrial accident board. These were settled automatically by the act except in a few cases in which the employer is exempt from blame. Under the old system long and tedious litigation would be engaged in to secure damages; and in the long run the lawyers would be the only parties benefited. It is expected that defects will appear in the act; but these can be easily remedied. As it stands today, it is doubtful if either employer or employe would care to go back to the old system.

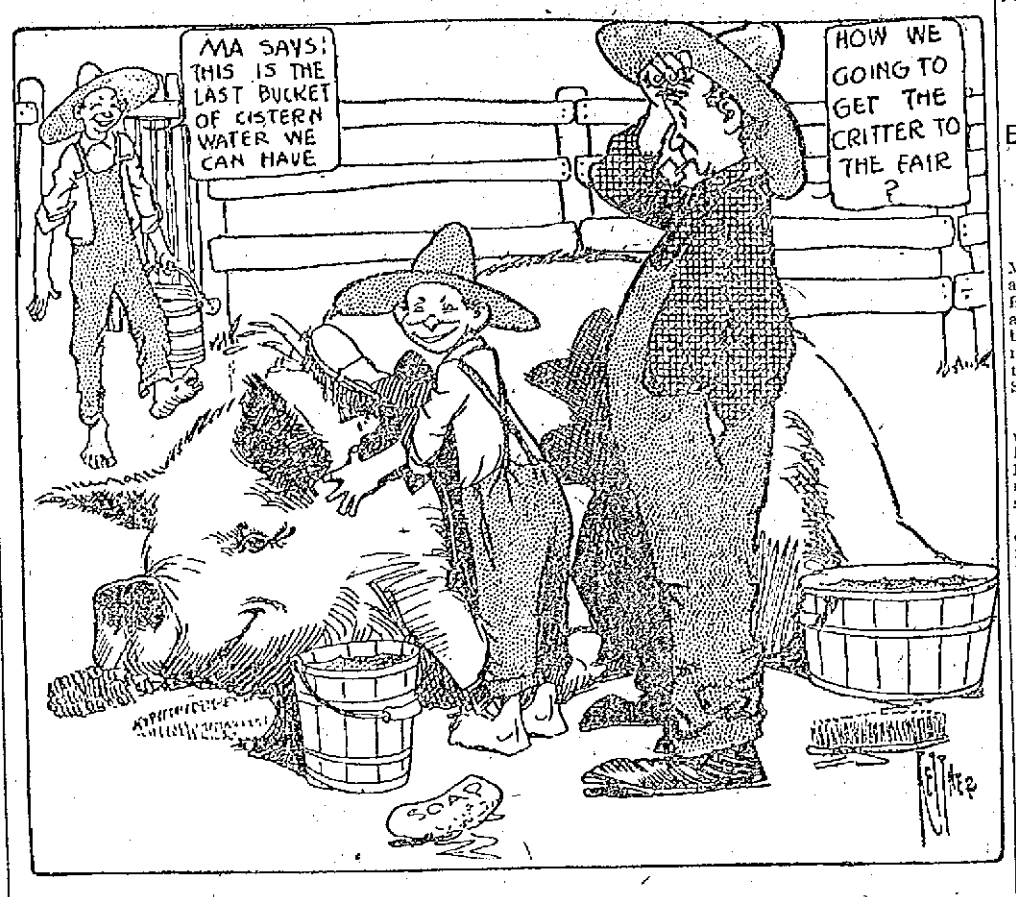
VERMONT AND MAINE

Vermont and Maine will hold their state elections within a few weeks. Much interest will centre in these elections, as straws indicative of New England political sentiment. Maine which gave Taft a majority four years ago has since become democratic and has elected two United States senators. Vermont is uniformly republican, but with the division caused by the Roosevelt bolt it is not unlikely that Wilson will carry both states this year.

—Many of the store clerks who are idle on Thursday afternoons during the vacation season would like to spend a portion of their leisure hours in the city library reading-room perusing books and magazines; but as the library is also closed on that afternoon they are deprived of this opportunity. Why not close the library on some other afternoon?

The plot deepens in the Rosenthal case but the probability is, that the whole truth will come out before the detectives have finished their work.

PREPARING FOR THE FAIR



SEEN AND HEARD

J. Ogden Armour, defending packing house methods at a luncheon in Chicago, said:

"We eat, thanks to the packers, more wholesome meat than we formerly did. My father used to tell a story about a farm boy who once called at a house and took an order for a leg of mutton. Then a day or two later the boy called again.

"'You'll have to countermand that mutton order, ma'am,' he said.

"'Yes? Why so?'

"'The sheep's ingrowin,' said the boy."

Dr. Edward A. Alderman, the president of the University of Virginia, tells this story, illustrating the importance of being careful in criticism:

"I knew of a certain instructor in rhetoric who always impressed upon his students the necessity of clarity in what they wrote. A young man brought on one occasion a carefully prepared essay.

"'A good piece of work,' said the instructor, 'but Mr. Smith, you should remember to write every sentence so that the most ignorant person can understand every word you put down.'

The young man looked worried and asked anxiously:

"'What part of my essay was not clear to you, professor?'"

FOR HIM WHO WAITS

Everything comes in its own good time;
It is we who get in a hurry.
The wires get crossed and our hearts grow sad
With watching and waiting and worry.
To have and to hold of worldly goods,
Or winning a common living.
Absorbs of our time a greater share
Than all of our schemes of giving.

Everything comes to the one who waits,
Save the things we dread from habit.
Some have a way of catching cold
As a boy might catch a rabbit.
Some have a way of looking down.
No matter how bright the weather;
They seem at a loss to understand
Why troubles all come together.

Everything comes our way in time,
Whether we're brave or shrinking.
Comes in about the way we shape
Our habits of life and thinking.
Lives that are lived in a stress of pain
Cannot be blithe or cheery,
While the heart that sings in its love of song
Will never of singing weary.

Everything comes to us all in time—
Money and health and station.
None are so small but they have a right
To the bounty of all creation.
A right? Why, yes, there's a place on top
For the best in every calling;
The fellow who climbs without looking down
Need never have fear of falling.

—Alwyn M. Thurber.

MID-SUMMER DAYS AND NIGHTS

With a ripple of leaves and a tinkle of streams
The full world rolls in a rhythm of praise
And the winds are one with the clouds and beams—
Mid-Summer days! Mid-Summer days!
The dusk grows vast, in a purple haze,
Faint stars their exquisite lamps upraise—
Mid-Summer Nights! O Mid-Summer nights!

The wood's green heart is a nest of dreams;
The lush grass thickens and springs and sways;
The rathe wheat rustles, the landscape gleams—
Mid-Summer days! Mid-Summer days!
In the stilly fields, in the stilly ways,
All secret shadows and mystery lights,
Late lovers murmur and linger and gaze—
Mid-Summer Nights! O Mid-Summer nights!

There's a music of bells from the trampling teams,
Wild skylarks hover, the gorses blaze,
The rich ripe rose as with incense steams—
Mid-Summer days! Mid-Summer days!
A soul from the honeysuckle strays,
And the nightingale as from prophet heights
Sings to the Earth of her million Mays—
Mid-Summer Nights! O Mid-Summer nights!

Envoy

And it's O, for my dear and the charm that stays—
Mid-Summer days! Mid-Summer days!
It's O, for my Love and the dark that plights—
Mid-Summer Nights! O Mid-Summer nights!

GRANGE MEETING AT CANOBIE LAKE

Large Attendance Enjoyed Day's Outing

Canobie Lake park was yesterday the scene of a very large gathering, the occasion being the annual grange meeting of the Essex and Middlesex counties. There were nearly 1000 people present representing all granges from the state and many from other states.

The grangers passed the morning in renewing old acquaintances and holding little informal reunions, while the afternoon was spent with a business meeting and sports. Among the speakers at the afternoon reunion were the following:

Hon. Oliver Wilson of Peoria, Ill., the master of the national grange; Charles M. Gardner, state master; Edward E. Chapman, state overseer; E. D. Howe, past master, and Mr. Ira J. Webster, past county master.

A basket dinner was enjoyed on the green and at the close of the meal Mr. Chapman called to order and introduced Mr. Gardner as toastmaster. This was followed by the singing of the grangers' national song, "Old Glory Song."

The roll call showed that 45 granges were being represented from four states, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont and Illinois. Deacon Glover of Danvers gave two humorous recitations and he was followed by E. D. Howe, who gave an address entitled "The Reflections of a Modern Hayseed."

A quartet composed of the following: Mr. G. F. S. Webster, Miss Elizabeth Webster, Mrs. F. E. Hall of Haverhill and Mrs. B. W. Farnham of Andover rendered several beautiful selections during the afternoon.

The address of the day was delivered by Mr. Wilson, master of the national grange, who spoke in part as follows:

"The band of fraternity which is represented in our granges has bound the farmers of our country together in bonds of alliance and friendship in which sectional and all other lines of demarcation have been erased. The granges also have stood from their formation for certain great principles, education, co-operation and a striving for better social and political conditions in our country.

"Today the farmer needs a better education than did the farmer of yesterday but at the same time the education he needs is somewhat different from that usually offered to him in our schools and colleges. The modern farmer must be a scientific farmer, a botanist, that he may understand the growth of plants, a chemist, that he may understand the nature of the soil he tills, and an entomologist, that he may understand the insect foes which threaten to destroy his crops. And so on down through the sciences, each has its contribution for him.

"And now for the co-operation. The department of agriculture has just published a report which shows that the produce of the farm for which the farmer gets $6, the consumer pays $13, a very considerable difference. Now the problem of the cost of living is a great problem today and by cooperation between the farmer and the consumer, that great principle for which our granges stand will be solved in a very satisfactory manner to both parties. But there is the merchant, some might say. Well, what of it? I think that we could support him in the poor house a lot cheaper than we have been supporting him for the last few years.

"The third great principle we stand for is that of social and political betterment. We have stood for these things stoutly from the very start and we have yet to meet failure. Every measure we have fought for has been won or is still pending. We won the free rural mail delivery, the making of the department of agriculture into a cabinet position, the postal savings bank, laws guaranteeing the direct election of senators and many other similar measures. And we are fighting to have farmers and business men put in our political offices instead of the lawyers who now seem to be the only men eligible. Lawyers are all right in the courts, but as law-makers they should never be put over us. As interpreters of the law they are a necessary evil, but as makers of laws they have proven themselves failures and unworthy of our trust. Let us have the farmers and business men in their places."

The program of speeches was closed with a very interesting address by Mr. Chapman. This was followed by a baseball game between the North Andover grangers' nine and a picked team, the latter winning by a score of 14 to 5.

Brooks Reed is Made Defendant

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Brooks Reed of Maynard, proprietor of a fashionable art gallery at 19 Arlington street, Back Bay, has been made the defendant in a $10,000 alienation-of-affections suit brought by Garnet W. Stanley of Technology Chambers, who is employed by the Adams Express Company in its South station office.

Reed was indignant last night.

"I hardly know this man Stanley's wife," he declared. "I met her casually and saw her a few times after that. I did not even know she was married until last January. After that I never saw her."

Stanley says different. "I have a complete case," he said last night. "I intend to fight it to a finish if it takes 20 years and my last cent."

In the meantime, the cause of the contention, Marie Agnes Stanley, is living with her mother at the Hotel Balfour, 28 Westland avenue. The Stanleys lived at 32 Sudan street, Dorchester, before they separated. They have a 5-year-old daughter Doris, who is staying with Mr. Stanley's mother at present.

Brooks Reed is well known among Boston artists. The gallery on Arlington street of which he is proprietor is the repository of many valuable old masters, some of which are almost priceless. He is married, living with his wife in Maynard.

The 5-year-old daughter of the Stanleys will figure prominently in the proceedings. The question of her custody, raised by the parents, was before Judge Grant in the probate court a short time ago. Action was then indefinitely postponed.

The child has been with its mother at Winthrop until recently, where Mrs. Stanley has been staying with her mother, Mrs. Wallace.

As a preliminary to the court proceedings, Upton & Harvey, attorneys for the plaintiff, have attached accounts of Brooks Reed at the Bay State Trust Company and at the Alphabet bank at Maynard.

Mrs. Stanley is a petite blonde, more than ordinarily prepossessing. Her mother said yesterday that she had been forced to go to the country until fall on account of failing health.

Stanley, when seen last night at his apartments in Technology Chambers, would not make a denial of a rumor that the affair might end in a divorce court. The plaintiff has many friends in society circles.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley were married eight years ago.

WORCESTER MAN

SAYS THAT HIS WIFE IS NOT A SUICIDE

WORCESTER, Aug. 8—Max Biller declared last night that he does not believe his wife intentionally took the dose of cyanide of potassium which caused her death last Thursday.

"I have searched the house everywhere and there isn't any more cyanide or anything out of which the poison could have been taken," Mr. Biller told a reporter.

"I am positive my wife had no intention of ending her life," was his positive assertion. "She knew I had forgiven her for running off with my brother and she seemed happy and contented back in our home here. If she took the poison herself, what became of the container out of which the cyanide came? Why didn't she say something to our little daughter, or leave some kind of a written message? Why did she close the window in the bedroom, when she went in to lie down, and say she was afraid of taking cold?

"If my brother Emile had only kept away from the house, as I ordered him, my poor wife would be here now. I would give all I possess to find him and ask him what happened that Thursday during the few minutes he was here before Emma died."

JUDGE SPEER

DECLARES THAT HE IS NOT FLEEING NORTH

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—United States Judge Emory Speer, who arrived in Boston a few days ago from Savannah, announced through his Boston attorneys yesterday that he left Macon not through fear of injury to himself or family, owing to his order for the arrest of Col. W. A. Huff, ex-mayor of Macon for contempt of court, but to spend his prearranged and long contemplated annual vacation at Yarmouth, N. S.

It had been stated erroneously that the justice hurriedly left Macon under the protection of deputy United States marshals, following his order to arrest Col. Huff. No marshals or guards escorted Judge Speer or his family to the Savannah docks or accompanied him on his trip to Boston.

Letters and telegrams, now in the hands of his Boston attorneys, show that weeks before the trial of Huff Judge Spear arranged for transportation by rail and water and engaged a suite of rooms for himself and family at the Grand Hotel, Yarmouth, N. S. Another letter under date of July 23 emphatically attests that Judge Speer was, prior to that date, planning his vacation trip.

This letter was sent by the justice to Secretary of State Knox, asking a letter of introduction to the Lieutenant-Governor of Canada, and on July 27 he received an answer to his request and in it a letter of introduction to the American consul at Halifax, requesting the latter to extend all possible courtesies to Judge Speer.

THE TRIP TO CALIFORNIA UNDER SPECIAL CARE

"You feel like sorting out and tying together the memories of this trip and keeping them separate from all other trips." A woman recently said this after a pleasant experience on a Burlington Route Through Tourist Car Excursion party to California. She traveled alone, but met many agreeable people on the car, which was in charge of a special conductor. This good natured official was a well-informed, courteous man who went all the way through with the party, looking after everyone's comfort and attending to all the little details of the trip. Thus a woman or child in one of these parties can travel with perfect safety and freedom from care. If you would like to know more about the Burlington's comfortable and inexpensive personally conducted excursions, please write me a postal and I'll send you maps, booklets, pictures, etc., by return mail. Alex Stocks, New England Passenger Agent, C. B. & Q. R. R., 261 Washington street, Boston, Mass.

CHARLES W. MORSE

REPORTED TO BE HEAD OF ICE TRUST AGAIN

ALBANY, Aug. 8—A mortgage just filed in the Rensselaer county clerk's office would indicate that Charles W. Morse, the financier recently released from the Federal prison at Atlanta "because he was in a dying condition," is again about to assume absolute control of the American Ice company.

The mortgage is for $6,500,000, and is made out jointly by the American Ice company and the Knickerbocker Ice company, the Ice Manufacturing company and the Knickerbocker Ice company of Philadelphia, to the Pennsylvania company for the insurance on lives and granting annuities.

It was shown at the time that the insurance company had already advanced $3,000,000, for which they had taken 5 per cent. five-year gold bonds and on which a tax of $7,062.79 had been paid to the state.

Deeds have also been filed in the Albany county clerk's office transferring from the Hudson River Towing company to the Washington Ice company property on Bacrena Island for $70,000; also a deed transferring the same property from the Washington to the Knickerbocker Ice company for the same amount.

Inquiry about these deeds revealed the fact that they were several years old and had not previously been filed. It was then brought out that experts representing the Pennsylvania Insurance company and the Charles W. Morse interests had been at work in Albany and Rensselaer counties for some weeks past.

This would seem to indicate that the ice trust, with Charles W. Morse at its head, was to take on a new lease of life and enter more actively into the business of housing and husbanding ice from the Hudson and contiguous rivers.

New Remedy Has Great Success

MANY CURES COMPEL DISCOVERER TO ISSUE BOOK GIVING HISTORY OF REMEDY

Considerable attention has been aroused at the tremendous success and astonishing cures made by the new remedy Var-ne-sis now being introduced in Lowell by Mr. W. A. Varney of Lynn, Mass. Testimonials from grateful people in Lowell and in fact all over New England have been coming in so fast that Mr. Varney was compelled to issue a little book giving their experience in their own words. Stories full of human interest that tell of the struggle to regain health, the terrible suffering that some have to undergo before obtaining relief, and the fortunes spent in their search for health, —all are told in this little book.

A few cases taken at random tell their own story, and probably you know some of them. The first case is that of Mrs. Frank J. Spooner who lives at 10 Coral street, city. Suffered for over 20 years with rheumatism and stomach trouble, so bad that she was unable to move about the house without assistance, joints distorted and large bunches on them the size of marbles. Could not eat anything without distress and today she is a well woman greatly to the surprise of her friends. One would have to see this woman to appreciate her case for it is considered one of the most remarkable ever brought to the attention of the public.

Mr. J. E. Willet suffered for over 20 years with rheumatism, so bad that he had to hold on to the bed in order to dress. Now entirely cured by Var-ne-sis and his address is 261 Moody street.

Another astonishing case is that of Officer George B. Palmer whose address is 23 18th street. Sufferred for 25 years with dyspepsia and indigestion. Had to be very careful of his diet and was unable to eat fried food, pastry, rich foods or drink any coffee. Also had rheumatism and kidney trouble. After trying everything else Var-ne-sis cured him of every sign of the old trouble and today he is one of the healthiest men on the police force. Many more could be given but the Var-ne-sis physician is at the Daws' drug store every day from 10 in the morning to 6 at night, to give free advice to all who call. For those who live out of town it is said that all druggists sell Var-ne-sis. Don't take a substitute. If you have any trouble write to his headquarters here.

FELL TO FLOOR

MAN DIED OF BROKEN BACK AND BROKEN NECK

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Simply by falling his length on the floor, an exceedingly brittle unidentified man about 40 years of age, died of a broken back and a broken neck in the lodging house of Israel Stillman, at 168 Merrimack street, shortly after 10 o'clock last night.

The man, who was about 5 feet 8 inches in height, weight about 160 pounds, dark complexion and dressed in a dark serge suit, entered the lodging house and ascended the stairs to the second landing.

Here he spoke to Rebecca Stillman, daughter of the lodging house keeper, and asked her if she had any rooms to rent. As he spoke he stepped back and toppled over onto the floor.

The police ambulance was called, and at the Relief station Dr. Fay discovered that he had a fractured spine and that his neck was broken.

HOW THIN PEOPLE MAY PUT ON FLESH

Great Discovery by Eminent Specialist.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing the arms, neck and bust and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness, and it therefore gives us real pleasure to publish herewith a simple prescription which, by correcting faulty metabolism and stimulating the activity of certain sluggish vital organs, quickly produces a marvelous transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently averaging from 4 to 5 pounds the first week, and very rarely less than 2. This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Catarrh, dyspepsia and nervousness, which nearly always accompanies excessive thinness, all gradually disappear; dull eyes become bright and pale cheeks glow with a bloom of perfect health.

The prescription, which contains no dangerous drugs and is absolutely harmless, calls for 2 oz. Tincture Cardamons Compound, 2 oz. Fluid of Sanfoyn, 2 oz. Elixir of Calisaya and enough water to fill an 8-oz. bottle, and can readily be prepared by any druggist. One or two tablespoonfuls should be taken about 20 minutes before each meal. Eat all you want, but chew your food thoroughly.

(CAUTION: Although the above prescription is unequaled for relieving nervousness, indigestion and catarrhal troubles, it should not, owing to its remarkable fleshing growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.)

Mr. Sullivan is one of New Bedford's best known citizens, and he is a man of affairs with some politics mixed in. CENTENARY OF KRUPP WORKS

ESSEN, Germany, Aug. 8.—The German emperor arrived here today by special train accompanied by a large retinue, including his brother, Prince Henry of Prussia, to take part in the celebration of the centenary of the foundation of the great Krupp works.

The city was in gala attire. After the emperor had been welcomed by the mayor and the municipal councillors he proceeded to the administrative buildings where the head of the firm welcomed him in a speech to which the emperor responded briefly concluding by asking all present to join in three cheers for the firm of Krupp.

EXCISE PROWLERS TO CLOSE RESTAURANTS

Suspected of Violating the Law

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Commissioner W. W. Farley of the State Excise department said yesterday that he would make New York his headquarters for several months and push the campaign against violators of the liquor law. His inspectors will keep on the trail of the offenders and before he is through Mr. Farley expects to close up a number of cafes and restaurants and to have several persons fined.

"It took us nearly three months to clean up Albany," and it probably will take fully that long to finish what we have started in New York. We have the places pretty well sized up now and after this our work will be to keep a watch on them and make sure that they are not lapsing.

"The news that I am in town is pretty well noised around and for a week or two all the cafe and restaurant proprietors who have been violating the law will be careful to keep down the lid. As soon as they think that we have relaxed our watch they will be back at the old tricks. The fact that everything is closed tight now does not mean that we have a model city, but that the old offenders are fighting shy of us."

Yesterday morning Commissioner Farley, Deputy Commissioners Norris, Special Deputy Commissioner Jas. S. Regan and Lawyers Firestone and Donnellon with about fifteen department agents made a tour of Sheepshead Bay and Coney Island in automobiles. Saloon keepers and beer garden proprietors were waiting with bland smiles and closed shops. Commissioner Farley returned the smile and advised the men to keep on being good. It was midnight when the tour started.

The commissioner is going to do a good deal of spying around, and for a month or two he will be a frequent midnight visitor to places which his agents have reported to him as suspicious.

The agents or detectives of the department now number about forty in the city. They are distributed in the various boroughs with the largest number at Coney Island. They are dressed in civilian clothes and of course have to do their work after 1 o'clock in the morning. They stroll around from place to place in the guise of early morning revellers with a heavy thirst, and at each place they call for drinks. If the drinks are forthcoming the name of the cafe and of the proprietor go down in a note book, and the first thing the latter knows he is served with a summons to appear before the court of appeals to show cause why his license should not be revoked.

PANAMA CANAL BILL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Senator Johnson today unsuccessfully attempted to make the senate sit continuously until the Panama canal bill is finished and to limit speakers to five minutes each.

It was believed that when the bill was taken up today, however, that it might be completed and finally voted on before adjournment tonight.

MILLIONAIRE COP

WALKING STREETS AND HAS NOT GOT A CENT

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Ex-Lieut. John W. Vaughn of the New York police department, who used to be known both as Chickens, because of his liking for that fowl, and as the Millionaire Cop, is walking the streets today without a cent, without a home, and worst of all with his appetite for chicken unimpaired.

"I used to have almost a million," said Vaughn, "and now I haven't the price of a meal. It's been—well, I don't know how long since I squared up to a steak, and as for chicken, I can barely remember how it tastes."

Vaughn says his fall began the day he married 26 years ago. All the thousands he made in real estate he deeded to his wife, as well as a $35,000 house, a farm in the Catskills and a riding horse worth $1000. About 12 years ago his wife got a divorce and took all the property along with her.

In 1904, Vaughn said, he filed a petition in bankruptcy. In June of the present year he retired from the force, with a pension of $1125 a year. When he went around to headquarters to get the first payment, he found the money had been paid to his wife by order of the court, because he had fallen behind with his alimony.

He is going back to a farm in New Jersey, he says, as soon as he can raise carfare, because on a farm one can at least earn board and lodging with an occasional chance at a chicken.

GRAND CIRCUIT

HANDICAPPED BY THE ABSENCE OF POOL SELLING

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 8.—That the absence of pool selling prohibited by law is a handicap to a grand circuit meet in this city is freely expressed by the management as well as horse-owners and drivers. With the weather that has prevailed this week the driving club officers say there would have been three times as many people as have thus far visited the track.

Today is counted one of the big days of the meet. The card calls for the 2:09 pace with a purse of $1000 the final in the professional drivers stake, 2:15 trot, $3000, the preliminaries of which were run Monday and the championship free for all trots.

SUES FOR $594,000

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Acting as administratrix of the estate of the late Geo. L. Clark, her husband, Mrs. Helen A. Clark brought suit in the superior court here today against four co-partners and stockbrokers in the firm of Hawes, Tewksbury & Co. of this city to recover $594,000.

Mrs. Clark claims that her husband lost the money in stock transactions while dealing with the defendants between September, 1909, and January, 1912.

CHRISTIAN WORKERS

EAST NORTHFIELD, Aug. 8.—This was musical day at the Northfield conference of Christian Workers. Two special services were led by George C. Stebbins of Brooklyn, the veteran hymn writer and composer. Miss Claire Chapman, another hymn writer, led a children's choir at a third service.

At the regular sessions the speakers included H. J. Maxwell of the Somerville Y. M. C. A. and Mrs. Turner Hamlin of Washington, D. C.

TWO MEN KILLED IN TRAIN ACCIDENT

Twenty Others Were Injured—The Accident Occurred at Dorchester

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Two persons were killed and 20 injured at 11.30 o'clock this forenoon when a train on the Plymouth division of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad was derailed near the Crescent avenue station, Dorchester, on the border of a marsh.

The dead:

W. J. TYRELL, JR., South Braintree, engineer.

FRANK CAMPBELL, Cohasset, fireman.

Among the injured were:

Mrs. Fred Chandler, Weymouth.

Mrs. Sophia Lind, Braintree

The wrecked train was one which left Plymouth and was due in Boston at 11.40 a. m. It consisted of the locomotive, three passenger coaches and a baggage car. When rounding a sharp curve the locomotive suddenly left the rails and plunged for half its length into the mud of the marsh. Three coaches left the rails but the baggage car remained on the track. The engine men were crushed to death and a number of passengers were severely cut and bruised.

Dr. J. J. O'Brien of Milton, who was on board the train, escaped unhurt and treated many of those who had received injuries.

Mrs. Chandler, who was in the second coach, was caught underneath some wreckage.

About 100 passengers were on board the train. It was running from Atlantic station to Boston and was going at a high speed when the wreck occurred.

The cause of the derailment is unknown.

Four of the persons taken to the hospitals were so seriously injured that it was feared they would die. They are:

Miss Blanche Drinkwater of Braintree, internal injuries.

Mrs. Frank Jenkins of Atlantic, burns.

A man named Llewellyn and an unknown woman.

Fifteen other persons are being treated in the hospitals.

Most of the injured were riding in the forward passenger car. While a doctor on the train was attending the injured, word was telephoned to a hospital and the police. Within a short time a number of ambulances and eight doctors had arrived on the scene Many of the injured were rushed to the hospitals in ambulances, while others were taken to the South station in a train. Seven priests reached the wreck within a short time and assisted in attending the injured.

A wrecking train was sent out of the South station and about 100 men were soon at work clearing away the wreckage. The outward bound track was not obstructed by the wreckage but traffic on the inward bound rails was tied up for some time.

J. D. ROCKEFELLER, JR. IS IMPORTANT MAN

In Rosenthal Case—Has Been Making an Investigation Into White Slave Traffic

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—By far the most interesting development in the many-sided investigation into the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, is the news of John D. Rockefeller, Jr.'s quiet complementary inquiry into conditions in the underworld, particularly as to the so-called white slave traffic.

While Mr. Rockefeller and his agents decline to discuss the matter and Dist. Atty. Whitman will furnish no details, it is generally credited that through the establishment of what purports to be a disorderly house in the Tenderloin, agents for Mr. Rockefeller have gathered a great deal of valuable material. It was gathered primarily for reports to congress and the legislature as a basis for corrective legislation dealing with the traffic in girls, but coincidentally it dove-tailed with the present inquiry into the Rosenthal case. It is said that evidence was obtained that a police inspector was getting $600 a month from such resorts for protection. This data will be at Mr. Whitman's disposal to use along with the confession of "Bald Jack" Rose and others. It is thought probable that the district attorney and Mr. Rockefeller will hold a conference some time this week.

The evidence in quesiton was collected by Clifford Roe, a detective who was prominent in the Chicago vice crusade in co-operation with Assistant District Attorney Reynolds. Whether any of this evidence will be presented to the grand jury now in session could not be learned.

FALL RIVER PROVED AN EASY VICTIM TO THE LOWELL GRAYS THIS AFTERNOON

INNINGS	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	Runs	Hits	Errors

The Thursday half holiday and the prospects of a good game between Lowell and Fall River attracted a large and enthusiastic crowd of fans to Spalding park this afternoon. The weather was ideal for the game and considerable enthusiasm was displayed. There were also many of the fair sex present.

Lowell's lineup was the same as yesterday with the exception of the battery, Wolfgang being the slab artist while Monahan was behind the bat. The battery for the visitors was Arminger and Thackera.

Previous to the starting of the game it was announced that Manager Gray had been unsuccessful in having tomorrow and Saturday's games transferred from Fall River to this city.

Umpire Stafford called the game at 3 o'clock the batting order of the teams being as follows:

Lowell	Fall River
Clemens cf	cf Walsh
Magee lf	rf Weaver
De Groff rf	2b Hickman
McGamwell 1b	3b Merrill
Miller 2b	1b Rose
Boultes 3b	lf Ferrin
Dee ss	ss Phorphy
Monahan c	c Thackara
Wolfgang p	p Arminger

First Inning

Lowell started right off in the first inning to pile up runs and before the last man was out two men had crossed the plate. Walsh flied to Clemens and then Weaver sent the ball over Clemens' head for a three bagger but he died there for Hickman hit to Wolfgang and died at first and Merrill struck out.

Clemens singled to centre and stole second. Magee walked after being hit by a pitched ball. De Groff sent the ball into right garden, scoring Clemens, Magee going to third and De Groff to second on the throw to the plate. McGamwell was retired on strikes. Miller and Magee then worked a squeeze play, Magee scoring and Miller being thrown out at first. Boultes was third out on a fly to Walsh.

Score: Lowell 2, Fall River 0.

Monahan sent the ball to the right field corner of the grounds but in rounding first base he stumbled, rolled over, picked himself up but was unable to get beyond third. Wolfgang singled and Monahan scored. Clemens hit to Arminger who threw badly to second and both men were safe. Clemens was thrown out trying to steal and Magee flied to Ferrin.

Score—Lowell 3, Fall River 0.

De Groff went out, Arminger to first, McGamwell struck out and Miller hit to Merrill and was out at first.

Score: Lowell 3, Fall River 0.

Fourth Inning

In the fourth inning Rose flied to Clemens and Ferrin and Phorphy struck out. Monahan dropped Ferrin's third strike but threw to first in time to get the runner.

Lowell scored five runs in the latter half of the inning. Boultes foul flied to Thackara. Dee hit through Phorphy and stole second. Monahan flied over short and Phorphy misjudged the ball and the runner was safe. That settled Phorphy's goat for he was immediately benched and Hickman went from second to short and Yell took Hickman's place at second. Wolfgang singled over second. Clemens hit to Yell and was out at first, Dee scoring. Magee singled to left, scoring Monahan and Wolfgang. De Groff sent the ball over the right field fence for a home run, scoring Magee ahead of himself. This is the first time this season that the ball has been knocked over this fence. McGamwell closed the inning by foul flying to Thackara.

Score: Lowell 8, Fall River 0.

Fifth Inning

Thackara flied to Magee. Wormwood was then sent in to bat for Arminger, and he struck out. Walsh flied to Dee.

Another run for Lowell in the fifth. Arminger was benched and Famborn went in to pitch. He passed Miller on. Boultes singled to centre field and Miller went to third. Boultes tried to steal and was thrown out. Dee hit to Yell and died at first, Miller scoring on the putout. Monahan then made his third consecutive hit, a single to centre field. Wolfgang went out on a fly to Ferrin in deep left field.

Score: Lowell 9, Fall River 0.

FOUGHT BURGLAR

YOUNG WOMAN FOUND MAN RANSACKING APARTMENT

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Miss Fidelia C. Evans, who has an apartment on the top floor of 201 East Thirtieth street, returned home a little after 5 o'clock last night to find a young man ransacking the apartment. He attacked her and Miss Evans carried the fight to an open window, out of which she called for her. Policeman Rastus Belcher heard her.

The door was locked and the young woman could not get to the door to open it. Belcher went through another apartment and got into Miss Evans' apartment by way of the fire escape and arrested the young man.

The prisoner said he was Charles Smith, 16 years old, of the Mills hotel at Thirty-sixth street and seventh avenue, that he har run away from home to become an actor and that he had worked with moving picture players. He had in his pockets a pair of opera glasses which Miss Evans valued at $15, her pocketbook containing $4.70, her dime bank containing 60 cents and her penny bank containing 40 cents.

The police kept the property as evidence. Miss Evans said that she could not get more money until a trust company opened in the morning and asked to have some of the money back. Policeman Belcher, who is credited at his precinct with having received a legacy from an uncle last week or so ago, took a $10 bill off a roll and lent it to the complainant to tide her over.

GRONNA DROPS ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Senator Gronna, of North Dakota, a La Follette progressive, came out yesterday in an interview against the organization of a third party, and repudiated Roosevelt.

Mr. Gronna said: "I do not believe it would be the part of wisdom to organize a third party in North Dakota. The only excuse that could be offered would be that the republican party has become reactionary. The republican party is not reactionary. The majority of its members are progressive."

SUGAR TARIFF BILL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—House conferees on the sugar tariff bill, led by Rep. Underwood, have served notice on the senate conferes that they will under no circumstances accept the Bristow-Ledge sugar bill passed two weeks ago by the senate. It became apparent today that there was little chance of an agreement on a compromise sugar measure.

MISHAP TO THE OCEANIC

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The White Star liner Oceanic, which arrived yesterday, suffered a slight breakdown to her port engine when she was six days out of Southampton. Last Monday night she ran into a small storm. At 10 o'clock the port engine failed and the liner was stopped for six hours for repairs.

Among the passengers were James Thorpe, winner of the pentathlon and decathlon; A. W. Richards, winner of the running high jump, and F. W. Kelley, the hurdler. Will Irwin, who attended the Olympic games, came by the Oceanic. He has been traveling in Europe and spent two weeks in Stockholm.

Miss M. Titteil Brune, an actress, who came in on the liner, is a Californian who has been five years in Australia and four in England. She is returning to open soon in an "An Aztec Romance."

Among the passengers was Miss Althea Gibs, whose father, Walter Gibbs, arrived recently on the Kaiser Wilhelm II., and died a week later.

Five members of the male chorus of "The Pink Lady" arrived in the second cabin. The manager, Sam Harrison, and Mrs. Harrison came in the saloon.

BOULEVARD WELLS CONNECTED TODAY

The Water Will be Pumped From Them Into Reservoir Within a Week or Two

The 250 or more new wells at the boulevard were connected today and water from these wells will be pumped into the reservoir within a week or so. In order to give the pipes a thorough cleansing before the water is sent to the reservoir, the water will be pumped through the pipes and into the river for two or three days.

Just as soon as the new wells have been put in practical operation the old wells at the boulevard, 300 or more, will be changed, taken out of the old rut, so to speak, in order that they may give better service. The old wells have been in use for a number of years and the water coming from the river and undergoing the natural process of filtration by percolating through the sand from the river to the wells, pursues certain courses, little paths from the river to the wells, is not being as well filtered as in the beginning and it is to get the water away from these old courses that the wells will be changed.

CHILD'S BODY

WAS FOUND IN A WATER FILLED CLAY PIT

CAMBRIDGE, Aug. 8.—The search which several hundred residents of this city had been making for seven-year-old Richard D'Arcy since he disappeared from his home last Sunday, ended with the finding of the child's body today in a water-filled clay pit not far from his home. The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William D'Arcy. It is supposed that while playing on the edge of the pit he fell into the water.

MAY SETTLE TROUBLE

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Prospects for a peaceful settlement of the differences between the street railway company and its employees brightened today with the return of Mayor Harrison and the announcement that he would confer with the labor leaders. The car officials also were scheduled to discuss the disputed questions with the employees.

The form of a new contract was first to be taken up and after minor details had been agreed upon the wage question, which is the principal grievance, was to be threshed out.

GREAT OUTING

OPTOMETRY DAY WAS OBSERVED AT BASS POINT

Yesterday was Optometry day at Bass Point, and many Lowell people attended the outing and dinner which was held under the auspices of the Optometrists Association of Massachusetts.

The affair consisted of outdoor amusements in the afternoon, including a baseball game between the "Rubes" and the "Bostons," the former winning by a score of 17 to 3. This was a feature of the afternoon as there were many rooters present for both sides, and great excitement prevailed during the game. The baseball was followed by a tug-of-war contest and a varied list of sports which was run off in a very satisfactory manner, beautiful prizes being awarded the winners.

In the latter part of the afternoon the party repaired to the Lynnway club where a very appetizing shore dinner was served, followed by interesting speeches, all treating on optometry.

Among the Lowell opticians present were Messrs. Caswell, Roers, Jodoin, Montminy, Couture and Mr. and Mrs. Labelle.

The return trip was made quite late, and all proclaimed the event the best ever.

JOE ALBERT'S SQUIRREL IS AT HOME AGAIN

The expression, "they never come back" may be applied in many cases, but not in that of Undertaker Joseph Albert's squirrel for the latter did come back, even though it was gone nearly two months, but wherever the little creature went its spirit was changed, for "Trick," which is the name of the squirrel, is not so good humored as it was and now tries to get a nip at any one who goes near its cage.

As the story goes, Trick, which was given a lot of freedom, was one day on the roof garden, over Mr. Albert's shop in Aiken street, and was free to go wherever it pleased. The little fellow would wander out of its cage on the roof, but would never attempt to go farther. About two months ago Trick walked across the telephone wire and descended the pole into the street and that was the last seen of it. On many occasions it was reported that the little squirrel had been seen in the vicinity of the shop, but it could not be found.

This morning, however, Miss Mallet, the bookkeeper, heard a strange noise at the door. She went to the front of the office and there saw Trick, who was waiting to be admitted. The young woman opened the door and Trick had no sooner entered the room, than it jumped on her hand and bit her finger severely. Then it almost flew to its cage which was open, and placing itself in its sleeping berth, remained there, refusing food or water. The squirrel, wherever it went, must have had a hard time, for it bears a large scar over the right eye.

ALIEN LABOR LAWS HAVE BEEN VIOLATED

According to Immigration Officials

SAVILLE IS UNDER $7000 Bonds

Many Witnesses Are to be Called

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—The immigration officials will present further evidence before U. S. Commissioner Grinnell tomorrow in support of their contention that the United States alien labor laws have been violated by the transfer of mill operatives by an English company to its American plants. Arthur T. Saville of Bradford, England, who was arrested Aug. 1 on a charge of infringing the laws, is at liberty under $7000 bonds and it is expected that the majority of 22 persons detained at the immigration station since July 31 will give testimony before the hearing which was begun yesterday is concluded.

The federal authorities allege that Saville is an employe of Francis Willey and company wool combers of Bradford and Shipley, England, and Boston and Barre, Mass.

WOMAN FUGITIVE

INDICTED FOR KILLING ARRESTED IN MAINE

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The Brooklyn police received word yesterday from the authorities in Portland, Me., that Mrs. Sadie Tietelbaum, who is under indictment in connection with the death of Leo Skamene, in a restaurant in Surf avenue, Coney Island, last May, was arrested there on Tuesday night.

Skamene was an electrical contractor and was said to have had an interest with Mrs. Tietelbaum in the Coney Island restaurant. He was found early one morning in May dying from a bullet wound on the floor of the restaurant with a revolver alongside of him Benjamin Silver, a brother of Mrs. Tietelbaum, was sitting at a table close by and his sister was in the kitchen.

Both declared at first that they knew nothing of the shooting, but later Silver said that it was done by a stranger, who made his escape. Skamene, who died within a few hours at the Coney Island hospital, refused to say who shot him.

At the hearing before the magistrate the police could not connect the woman with the shooting and she was discharged, but her brother was held.

Mrs. Tietelbaum had disappeared when the grand jury indicted her and her brother for homicide.

GENERAL DEFICIENCY BILL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The general deficiency appropriation bill was passed by the house today. The bill contains one item of $150,000 for the 50th anniversary celebration of the battle of Gettysburg next July, coupled with the provision that the state of Pennsylvania appropriate at least an equal amount.

BOTH CLAIM NOMINATION

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 8.—Managers for both Senator Curtis and Governor Stubbs still were claiming the nomination for United States senator today. Reports from over 150 districts indicate that each candidate carried 81 districts. It thus was indicated that the missing returns would decide the race if the result is to be determined without an official count.

FINGER INJURED

Augustus Goede, aged 52 years, living at 281 East Merrimack street, met with a painful accident this morning while at work in John P. Quinn's wood yard. Mr. Goede was working at a circular saw, when his little finger of the left hand got caught in the saw. The member was cut clean through to the bone and besides it received a compound fracture. The injured man was treated at the Emergency hospital.

HOUSE OF COMMONS ENDS A LONG SESSION

LONDON, Aug. 8.—The house of commons yesterday adjourned till Oct. 7. Except for a break of a few days at Easter and again at Whitsuntide, the house has been in session for seven months.

Before the adjournment Herbert L. Samuel, postmaster general, explained the British government's contract with the Marconi company, which provides that the British government supply the company with $2,000,000 for the building of five great wireless stations, Australia to supply $500,000 for another station and the whole to form a wireless circuit around the globe. The contract was the subject of severe attack recently, and in reply to this Mr. Samuel said the British government was unable to undertake the construction of wireless stations itself and the Marconi company was the only concern possessing the necessary experience and plant to carry out the scheme.

Decks Cleared for Autumn

While the house has not passed any important bills this session, it has cleared the decks for the autumn session, which will, according to the government organizers, continue until home rule, Welsh disestablishment, the franchise bill and another to allow trades unions to contribute to the support of labor members of the house have passed the house of commons.

All these bills have received a second reading in the lower house and the home rule bill has had a few days in committee. The program, however, is a heavy one for an autumn session, especially when the importance of the legislation is considered and the fact that each bill will have to be forced through against the united opposition of the unionists.

Many doubt the ability of the government to get through with all this proposed legislation and some disappointment has been expressed that greater progress was not made before adjournment with home rule and Welsh disestablishment.

Glad to Get Away

The government is heartily glad of the adjournment. Ministers have not had an easy time keeping their forces together and have had to depend on occasions entirely on the Irish vote to carry them through. Many liberals have found it necessary to beat work in their constituencies, and the labor members, although they support the government when present, have lost much of their enthusiasm for the coalition.

In fact, the nationalists and the very staunch liberals have been the only supporters of the government who have been constant in their attendance.

A very close watch had been kept by the liberal whips on the unionists, who have many members from the counties near London, able to get to the house easily, and who tried repeatedly to get a snap vote against the government whenever the government benches were slimly occupied, mustering in full force to drag down the ministerial majority.

Home Rule to Pass

Premier Asquith in Dublin promised that home rule would be through the commons by Christmas. It is thought, however, that it will be into the new year before the other big measures are ready to be sent to the lords.

As the upper house is sure to throw them out, the first business of the new session will be their reintroduction. This will have to be reported in still another session before the lords become powerless to further delay them.

Cabinet ministers are promising more important legislation for next year's session. One bill is a measure to settle trades disputes. This will probably be modeled on the Canadian act, which provides penalties for the proclamation of strikes or lockouts before the dispute has been referred to arbitration.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Thomas Boudreau and Miss Bernetta Lynch were married last evening at St. Patrick's church, Rev. Joseph A. Curtin performing the ceremony.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. James Lynch, was beautifully gowned in white silk and wore a lace overdress, with pearl trimmings. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The best man was George McGuire and Miss Jane Wessels was bridesmaid.

Both the young people are residents of Lowell. Mr. Boudreau is employed in the Lamson Consolidated Store Co. on Walker street, and the bride was formerly an employe in the Lowell Textile Co.

The couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts of furniture, cut glass and silver. The girls of the Lowell Textile Co. shop gave the bride a linen shower and also a chair. The fellow-workmen of Mr. Boudreau in the Lamson Co. presented the pair with a chair.

After the ceremony, a reception to friends was held in Highland hall on Middlesex street. An orchestra was in attendance and dancing was enjoyed, after which refreshments were served to the guests.

The couple will make an extensive wedding trip to Prince Edward Island, also visiting in Quebec and Montreal. They will be at home to friends in about a month.

GARRABRANT—WITHAM

Mr. Samuel B. Garrabrant and Miss Myrtle B. Witham were united in marriage in Newark, N. J., on July 3.

LAWN PARTY

As an added attraction to the lawn party which will be held Saturday evening on the grounds of St. Anthony's church, those in charge of the affair have closed negotiations with the officials of the General Film company of Boston, for an open air moving picture display. Every film shown will be the latest produced by the various film manufacturers of the world and only the most elevating subjects will be thrown on the screen. The price of admission will be 10 cents.

A LIVELY DISCUSSION OVER LIGHTING CONTRACT

Mayor Fitzgerald and Commissioner Sullivan Tell What They Think of Each Other

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Mayor Fitzgerald and John A. Sullivan, chairman of the finance commission, gave personal opinions of each other in the aldermanic chamber yesterday during a public hearing on a street lighting contract recommended by the commission, Engineer Guy C. Emerson, Supt. Wade of the lamp division and Commissioner Rourke, the man who drafted the contract.

The hearing, with the mayor presiding, was in progress two hours or more before Chairman Sullivan found an opportunity to get the floor, although frequently interrupting others when he deemed the commission's position and the contract needed safeguarding.

When he did finally get to the floor he made things interesting for a time, especially when he charged that the mayor directed Commissioner Rourke in November last to reject a proposal that appeared advantageous to the city and afforded the municipality an opportunity to end the monopoly that the Rising Sun company had on gas lighting for almost 25 years.

The mayor interjected that he did so because the corporation counsel, Mr. Babson, had given opinion that the proposal was illegal in form.

Chairman Sullivan took the mayor to task on that, asserting that the corporation counsel did not so rule. The contract, the counsel held, was irregular, not illegal, Mr. Sullivan declared.

Questions Board's Veracity

As the chairman was reading from a typewritten statement the mayor requested that he insert, at least, that the contract was rejected because Mr. Babson so advised. Chairman Sullivan declined to accommodate the mayor, whereupon the latter said:

"It is characteristic of the finance commission to avoid true statements when it is to the convenience of that body to do so."

"The statement in regard to the corporation counsel is true and according to fact," replied Chairman Sullivan.

"I deny it," said the mayor, sharply.

Chairman Sullivan shrugged his shoulders, said he would take the mayor's denial for what it was worth, and later might give it more attention. It cannot be questioned, he added, that the Rising Sun people have been in possession of street lighting without competition ever since 1899 and operating as reigning powers for a much longer period. It was not until Mayor Hibbard took charge of the city's affairs that an attempt was made to take from this company the control of the lighting business of the city. The company continued, however, but some good results followed, notably a reduction in the prices.

Mr. Sullivan, referring to the appropriation by loan of $300,000 for municipal lighting in 1910, said that it was then that the mayor should have objected and refused to approve the order.

"The city treasury was in a better condition then," interjected the mayor.

The chairman passed the interruption over with another shrug, adding that unless something is done now the chances are that the contract with the Rising Sun company will be further continued, probably until the mayor completes his term of office.

The mayor, at the opening of the hearing, announced the condition of the treasury and then enumerated a number of crying needs, such as a water front playground for East Boston, a contagious hospital a new building for the aged poor on Long Island, etc. He said he would not favor a change in the present system of lighting while these improvements were pending.

When the hearing started William F. Brown, counsel for the Rising Sun company, and Robert Jordan, counsel for dealers in the Graetzin mantle lamp, the one favored in the contract, and other representatives of lighting companies and lamp manufacturers, took places at the center table. When Commissioner Rourke, Supt. Wade and Engineer Emerson of the finance commission made statements on tests of lamps made in West Roxbury and Jamaica Plain and reported in favor of the Graetzin lamp, Mr. Brown took an active part in the cross-examination of each.

Referring to this, Chairman Sullivan said it was most extraordinary to witness the counsel of the Rising Sun being not only permitted but even assisted by the mayor from time to time in an effort to discredit the city's experts.

"You have over your own signature," said he, addressing the mayor, "certified when you appointed Mr. Rourke that he was in every way qualified by education and experience to conduct the business of that department, and notwithstanding that you have at this hearing permitted Mr. Brown to try to discredit him. Yes, you have even yourself from time to time assisted Mr. Brown in his attempt and apparently for the same purpose."

As to the other public improvements, Mr. Sullivan said needs of that kind will always be found in a large city, and if harkened to by succeeding mayors, as is apparently the intention of the present, the Rising Sun company will go on holding a contract for street lighting until time is no more. Under the contract before the meeting it is estimated the city will save over the Rising Sun contract about $10,000 a year, a sum which may be regarded as a substantial revenue for the city.

To this the mayor objected. Supposing that an epidemic were to break out during the year, what would become of the people with no contagious hospital building? he asked. Would they have to wait five years or until such time as the saving amounted to a sum that would warrant a building?

Mr. Sullivan replied that such a supposition was out of place and not to be taken seriously. It is something that may arise at any time.

"If the reports of the experts, Rourke, Emerson and Wade, are to be discredited in the interest of a further extension of the contract with the Rising Sun, there appears to be nothing further to be said on the matter," said Chairman Sullivan, gathering up his papers and preparing to retire from the room.

The mayor said the statement of Mr. Sullivan called for a reply from him. He continued:

"I need not inform the citizens who know Mr. Sullivan that his remarks are characteristic of him. The finance commission, of which he is the official head, favor loans for street lighting, but will not favor a loan for improvements that are more necessary for the preservation of health and even life."

Mr. Sullivan interrupted the mayor to say that he would like to hear all the mayor had to say about him personally, but advised His Honor that his train would be leaving at 5:11.

"I can wait five minutes," said he, "and may I hope that Your Honor will finish your criticism of me in that time?"

"I couldn't tell all I know about you in an hour," said the mayor, which brought out a cheer from the back of the chamber.

Mr. Sullivan bowed and then turned to leave the chamber, but the mayor called him back, advising that he give him the five minutes at least. Mr. Sullivan returned to the rail and there remained while the mayor went into the history of street lighting.

Finally the mayor returned to the topic of the finance commission, saying it was not new to learn of their opinion of the mayor, that they have been consistently handing out in reports for the past six years, yet in the face of facts, as they term things, he has been returned to the mayor's office.

"I am willing to accept my responsibility," said he, "and when it becomes a question of helping the baby or spending money for street lighting, I shall always be found on the side of the baby. The humane side never appeals to Mr. Sullivan and—"

The mayor paused noting for the first time that the chairman of the finance commission was not in his accustomed place.

"Is he gone?" he asked.

On being informed that Mr. Sullivan went out while the mayor was reciting history, he dismissed the subject by remarking:

"I am sorry he has gone and will not take advantage of his absence to say a few things that might be of interest to him."

The mayor then showed figures from other cities which he asserted went to establish the fact that Boston was today better lighted than any city in the country and much cheaper. The present contract with the Rising Sun is $22.30 per lamp per year and he had the assurance of the company that under a contract extended for 10 years would be reduced to $21 per lamp.

Easy Aids to Good Looks

"After motoring or golfing the hair may be dusty—with no time for washing the head. In this dilemma you will find a dry shampoo a good friend. Put four ounces of powdered orris root in a fruit jar, add an original package of therox and mix together. Sprinkle a little on the head and brush through the hair. Therox removes dust, oil and dandruff, and leaves the hair light, fluffy and easy to do up.

"Disfiguring wild hairs can be made to vanish quickly from face or forearms by applying delatone paste, made by mixing powdered delatone with water. Cover the hairy surface with this paste for a minute or two, then remove, wash the skin, and the hairs will be gone.

"Short and thin eyelashes detract from otherwise beautiful eyes. Weak and straggly lashes can be strengthened if plain pyroxin be applied to the lash roots with thumb and forefinger. Thin eyebrows always improve with daily applications of pyroxin.

"A complexion cannot be dainty if the skin is shining from perspiration. A complexion beautifier that will not rub off or show like powder is made easily by dissolving an original package of mayatone in a half-pint of witch hazel. This 'holds' and does not smear. Gently massage with this solution daily, and the skin will be soft and satiny, velvety and smooth."

EDUCATION NOTES

Esperanto is taught in some of the state-supported schools in England, France and Germany.

Of the 523,000 public school teachers in the United States more than four-fifths are women.

The fairy tales of Grimm and of Hans Christian Andersen are excluded from the Austrian schools by a recent order, "because of their slight importance."

At Woodbrooke, England, there is a school for social service, where men and women from all parts of the world study various kinds of social work. The institution is affiliated with Birmingham university.

A German school is to be established in the city of Barranquilla, Colombia. The Germans living in that region have raised the funds for the land and building, and the German government will send out and maintain the teachers.

Men teachers in Schwarzburg-Sonderhausen, Germany, are required to ask permission of the school authorities before they can marry, according to a new law. Warning is given that this permission will be denied in case of "obvious inability of the teacher to support a family."

A course of penal studies was recently instituted by the University of Montpellier, France. Physicians, publicists, lawyers, police and court officials were among those who enrolled for the course. American educators hope that the interest in criminology will lead to something similar in this country.

In the kingdom of Saxony a new school bill is before the landstag. Some of the proposals are: Licenses required for teachers in private as well as public schools; supervision of regular school subjects by the clergy abolished; attendance upon continuation schools made obligatory for girls as well as boys. Religious instruction continues to be compulsory, despite the agitation against it.

As the invited guest of Chicago university and other institutions, Prof. Caspar Rene Gregory, of the University of Leipzig, Germany, traveled nearly 23,000 miles in the United States and Canada during the last year, lecturing before institutions in 26 states of the Union and nine of the Canadian provinces. Professor Gregory is said to be the only American holding a regular professorship in a German university.

The two needs of the present day in teaching, according to a recent publication of the United States bureau of education, are intelligent idealism and high scientific standards. "To possess these things as a guide to life, to have the intellectual gifts that are necessary for achievement, and to interpret these things to the student by sympathetic interest in his work, is to be a great teacher."

The 200th anniversary of the birth of Jean Jacques Rousseau, on June 25th of this year, was almost unobserved in the United States, though the part played by Rousseau's educational and political theories in the history of this republic have been considerable from the very beginning. Some attention was given to the anniversary in Europe. One enthusiastic German, while admitting that Switzerland was Rousseau's birthplace and France his home, claimed that Germany had "discovered him and ennobled his achievements into an eternal gift of civilization."

At the International Mathematics congress, held in Rome in 1908, a commission was appointed for each nation to study the subject of mathematics-teaching in the several countries. The members of the American commission, David Eugene Smith of Teachers' college, New York city; W. F. Osgood, Harvard university; and J. W. A. Long, University of Chicago, aided by a large number of eminent teachers from all over the country acting on various committees, made a very thorough investigation of American conditions, and prepared a series of reports which will be presented at the 1912 meeting of the congress, to be held in Cambridge, England, in August. The reports have been published for free distribution by the United States bureau of education.

CHELMSFORD STREET HOSPITAL

Institution up to the Standard Under Supt. Dowd

In spite of the recent reverses met with at the Chelmsford Street hospital the institution continues to maintain its equilibrium and the condition of affairs there is highly favorable and satisfactory.

The most recent setback was the fire of a month ago which completely destroyed the stable used for housing the cattle, besides consuming over 40 tons of hay of the finest quality. The site of the burned stable is being cleared away but as yet no plans have been announced for rebuilding the structure. It is thought that the municipal council will make an appropriation for this purpose at an early date.

Superintendent Michael J. Dowd who is in charge of the farm seems entirely satisfied with affairs there. With the exception of the destroyed stable the place is in excellent condition although many difficulties have been met with in disposing of farm wagons and implements. The building which was formerly used for this purpose has been converted into a stable for the horses and cattle. Stalls have been built and the structure extensively remodeled.

Men's infirmary, 29; women's infirmary, 67; men's hospital, 72; women's hospital, 29; men paupers, 63; women paupers, 92; nursery, 16.

Of this number very few are able to perform any work about the place. They are for the most part too aged and feeble for activity of this sort. However, a small number perform small duties about the buildings. Some of the male inmates make beds and do light work in the gardens, while a few of the women are engaged in the dining rooms and kitchen.

There are about 24 large rooms occupied by inmates of the institution. Each of these rooms has 3 or 4 beds, and in addition there are two dormitories, one of which contains 30 beds, the other 27.

The hospital occupies a large, two-story brick building and is finely fitted up. The patients are divided according to the degree of their maladies and receive the best of care, the physician in charge being M. A. Tighe, M. D.

SUPT. MICHAEL J. DOWD

The whole of the institution occupies at a rough estimate, about 150 acres. Of these 30 are cultivated. The others form pastures and hay fields. On the right of the approach to the buildings is a large field of potatoes; on the left are planted turnips.

The greater part of the produce of the farm, which is mainly corn, potatoes and other vegetables, is used right there. A small percentage, however, is sent out in the service of the outdoor relief department. There are baskets worth about $2 and contain meat, potatoes, flour, tea, etc.

Inmates receive no remuneration for services on the farm aside from their necessities. There is a payroll of laborers containing 25 names. Supt. Dowd is to be congratulated on his success and commended for his tireless work in behalf of the institution.

GAMBLING RAID

TEN ARRESTS WERE MADE IN TAILOR SHOP

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—A gambling raid was made by a squad of officers from Division 2, led by Sergts. Laffey and McGhee, in Province court yesterday afternoon. The raid took place just at an hour when hundreds of workers in the business district were starting for home. Ten prisoners were led from 10 Province court to the patrol wagon.

The officers, Patrolmen King, Buchanan and Carey, slipped in Indian file up the front stairs of the building to the third floor. Inside the men of a tailor shop were supposed to be at work.

The officers simply pushed in the door of the tailor shop. The alleged gamblers were sitting about a large table. They were arrested before they had a chance to hide cards or get away themselves. The police gathered up 65 cards and $6.70 in cash. The officers also seized sewing machines and other tailoring apparatus.

At the station the men gave their names as: Harry Roan of 22 Wayland street, Joseph Lourie of 13 Willow street, Aaron W. Weiner of 11 Anderson street, J. Goldstein of 22 Allen street; Max Kohen of 18 Anderson street; Bernard Miller of 31 Lynde street, Max Wasserman of 55 Revere street, Wolf Wasserman of 20 Hainsboro street, Dorchester, Jake Greenbery of 79 Barton street and Benjamin Snyder of 96 West Cedar street.

It is said that all those arrested are in business or work in the vicinity of Province court. They were all bailed by friends.

TROTT MAY RECOVER

Authorities of the Lowell hospital said today that though as yet the condition of William C. Trott, who yesterday was injured by an explosion while blasting a well, is doubtful, nevertheless he is resting quite comfortably.

It was found necessary to amputate the left arm. The victim, contrary to expectations, still retains his sight, though his eyes are swollen. There is a chance that he may recover.

LOWELL PARTY

WRITES ABOUT THE SIGHTS IN WASHINGTON

A Lowell party who is visiting in Washington, D. C., writes to this office about the sights in the capitol. According to this party the city is a most beautiful one and is composed of fine structures as well as numerous handsome parks.

The letter in part follows: "The past five weeks are indelibly stamped on my memory, for I have seen and heard some very fine things since I have been in Washington. I have been to the capitol, which includes house of senate and house of representatives, and was there while they were in session. Visited the Congressional library, the beauty of which is beyond description. Went to the top of the highest monument in the world and viewed the city from that point. This to my mind is one of the grandest things I have seen, although I have visited from the dominion to the Gulf of Mexico. It is a panorama, as one might say, that I can never forget.

"I visited the home of Washington, which has been kept, inside and out, as he left it, now over a century and a half. I cannot go into detail here, it would mean too much time. Washington is buried here. Visited the Soldiers' cemetery in Arlington; these grounds used to belong to General Lee. There are over 17,000 known soldiers and about 4000 unknown buried here. Visited the largest zoological gardens in the world. Every species of animal, bird and fish is to be found here. Went to the National museum, which is certainly an educational place. One might spend weeks and months here and still discover something that he hadn't seen before. Every illustration in every line of study imaginable is to be found here."

"The city of Washington is laid out in a very peculiar way, which peculiarity adds to the beauty. All the streets lead to the capitol, which is surrounded by magnificent parks and beautiful government buildings. One may say that the whole city is nothing but a park, for at every turn you come across a park with either a monument or a beautiful fountain. The streets are spacious and just lined with trees. The cars run by a cable, which is underground, as they are not allowed to have the trolley, so as not to mar the beauty of the city. There is one thing worth seeing and that is the government farms situated on the banks of the Potomac river. I never thought that a farm could be made to look so beautiful. It is here that the government gets the seeds to send to the various schools of the states.

"The Catholic university, another beautiful property where members of religious orders pursue the summer course, comprises several buildings. There are 350 sisters there, representing several orders. The Franciscan monastery is another place worthy of mention. It is divided into courts and built like the ancient monasteries. There are eight marble altars. The altar in the very centre of the chapel is built like the temple with steps on all sides leading to it. This altar is used for exposition of the blessed sacrament. As you enter the chapel you see this temple in the centre, which is really the main court, just beyond this is the main altar which is really in a sort of gallery as there is a long flight of marble stairs on both sides leading up to it. The altars are placed right and left of this so-called temple and so arranged as to give the impression of courts. Beneath the chapel are the Catacombs, modeled after those in Rome. I wish I had the time to write more about it, for the city with its many pretty attractions is just splendid."

TO REVISE THE PATENT LAWS REPORTED TO THE SENATE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The Oldfield bill to revise the patent laws to reverse the patent monopoly decision of the supreme court was reported to the senate today. The bill seeks to set aside the decision which insured the right to an inventor to stipulate the kind of material used or sold in connection with a patented device. It seeks to cure alleged evils arising from the vendor of a patented article, fixing the price at which the article may be sold. The committee also has attempted to prevent the suppression of patented devices sold to manufacturers by inventors.

The ability of the manufacturers to withhold a patented article from the market is said to have restrained competition.

"KID" McCOY

AMERICAN BOXER WAS ARRAIGNED AGAIN TODAY

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Kid McCoy, the American boxer, was brought up again today at Bow street police court on the charge of larceny alleged to have been committed at Ostend. The magistrate again remanded him for a week, his bail being renewed at the request of his attorney, who desired time to study the papers in connection with the demand for extradition which arrived from Belgium today.

PANAMA EXPOSITION

LONDON, Aug. 8.—It is stated in well informed circles that the reason why Great Britain has not yet accepted the invitation to participate in the Panama Pacific exposition lies in the failure of the United States to settle the question of the Panama canal tolls. Should the United States favor American shipping it is declared to be most likely that Great Britain will decline officially to participate.

REBEL REINFORCEMENTS

WOUGLAS, Ariz., Aug. 8.—Reports today indicated that fully 500 rebels were in the vicinity of Puerto De San Luis, 57 miles east of Auga Prieta, and that reinforcements numbering 500 were marching north to join them. Federal reinforcements are said to be reaching Agua Prieta daily and the garrison there now numbers 500 men.

STRIKERS PAID OFF

Mrs. Brokaw names three co-respondents.

MICHAEL J. MARKHAM HOME

He Met Several Former Lowell Men in the Northwest

Michael J. Markham was interviewed today by a Sun reporter, and gave an interesting account of his journey to the western coast as a delegate representing the Lowell lodge of Elks at the National convention at Portland, Ore., a short time ago.

Mr. Markham and a party of Massachusetts delegates made the journey to Portland over the Canadian route, leaving Boston and passing through Montreal and Quebec. At Winnipeg they were joined by delegates from Indianapolis, Minnesota and Hartford, Conn. They then proceeded to Victoria, British Columbia, where their party was augmented by the Seattle lodge. From there they went directly to Portland.

The convention lasted four days, opening on Monday. On Thursday, the day of the parade, 30,000 Elks had registered.

In Portland Mr. Markham met a number of former Lowell men, among them James Holden, John Campbell, Ralph Stickney and Bowers F. Hart.

The party returned by a different route after a journey all through California and along the coast. They passed through Salt Lake City, Royal Gorge, Canon of the Arizona, Denver, Omaha and Des Moines.

In Denver Mr. Markham met Presiding Judge Gavin and Police Sergeant Russell, both of whom were Lowell boys.

Mr. Markham was greatly pleased with his trip and is high in his praise of the western country. "The people," he said, "are boosters and always eager to help along a new enterprise." There is great rivalry between the different cities, each of them striving to excell the other. He also remarked on the great progressive spirit of the cities and the eagerness of the people for advance.

GENERAL OROZCO

REFUSED TO PASS NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENTS

JUAREZ, Mexico, Aug. 8.—General Orozco announced yesterday that he would not consent to any American entering into the interior and that if he did he would not guarantee their lives. The rebel commander in chief also refused to pass newspaper correspondents to the interior.

NO GAME TOMORROW

LOWELL WILL PLAY AT FALL RIVER FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Owing to the fact that the directors of the Fall River team will not agree to the transfer of the games between Lowell and Fall River, scheduled for tomorrow and Saturday, the locals will be obliged to leave for the "southern" city after today's game. Manager O'Brien of the Fall River team expressed a willingness to play in Lowell, but the directors, who would like to transfer the game, owing to the fact that it would be a better financial proposition, say that it would bring dissatisfaction to the fans of their city and hence will play out the games as scheduled.

CATCHER LAVIGNE

OF THE LOWELL TEAM IS LAID UP

The injury to Arthur Lavigne's finger, which he sustained in the Lowell-Fall River game yesterday, proved more serious than he at first thought and it will keep him out of the game for several days. A foul tip struck the middle finger of his right hand, inflicting a bad gash. He had it bandaged and continued in the game. This morning, however, the injured finger was in a serious condition and he was obliged to consult a physician and the latter, after dressing the wound, advised the speedy catcher to remain out of the game for a few days. Joe Monahan will work behind the plate in today's game and will continue in that position until Lavigne returns to the game.

GOV. JOHNSON NOMINATED FOR VICE PRESIDENT

Progressives Select Him as Col. Roosevelt's Running Mate

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt has attained the goal of his ambition. Before the first national convention of his new party passed into history last night it handed him, on a silver platter, the honor that Washington and Jefferson modestly declined and Ulysses S. Grant, though crowned with a hero's laurels, sought in vain. He was nominated as a third term candidate for president of the United States.

Hiram W. Johnson, the militant and progressive governor of California, who was a republican until the republican convention of six weeks ago, refused Col. Roosevelt the coveted glory of a third term, was chosen as his running mate.

Both nominations were made by acclamation under a suspension of the convention rules and amid scenes which fluctuated strangely between the solemn and impressive and the spectacular and melodramatic.

One of the great figures of yesterday's session was Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, and next to the enthusiasm created by her came the demonstration for the Union and Confederate veterans. Miss Addams took the platform to second the nomination of Roosevelt after Comptroller William A. Prendergast had made the nominating speech, and she easily took the honor away from him. Even Theodore Roosevelt himself is not as popular at this convention as the woman of the Hull House. The plain, direct and forceful talk that she delivered from the platform evoked more enthusiasm and wilder cheers than Prendergast's most polished periods.

It was the first time that a woman has ever made a nominating or seconding speech in a national convention, and the significance of that fact was appreciated to the full by every one of the 100 delegates and the 8000 spectators. As she descended from the platform waving a great banner inscribed with "Votes for Women" the whole multitude burst out spontaneously and frantically into "Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory of the Coming of the Lord."

Roosevelt's nomination was seconded by a number of Union and Confederate veterans, and every time an ex-rebel made a speech a G. A. R. fife and drum corps would get up on the platform and play some national air, usually "Dixie."

Gen. Horatio C. King of New York, who went to the front in 1861, started this reunion of the blue and gray, and was followed by Col. Lloyd and Florida and Gen. McDowell, the head of the United Confederate Veterans in Tennessee. There is no mistaking the fact that for once the seconding speeches were the drawing card and that the nominating speech was put completely in eclipse, although Prendergast really did very well.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Aug. 8.—The will of John S. Lyle, who died in Tenafly on July 26, leaving a fortune that may have amounted to $20,000,000, was admitted to probate yesterday by Surrogate E. L. D. Hester. Mr. Lyle was more than 93 years old. The bulk of his fortune goes to his young widow, who was a nurse when he married her two years ago and who is residuary legatee.

Mr. Lyle was a partner in Lord & Taylor for many years, and it was said at the time of his death that he was owner of the block in which the store is situated. He retired from active work more than thirty years ago, but his property, much of it in real estate, had appreciated greatly in the interval.

At the time of his marriage a friend said that three years previously Mr. Lyle had estimated his property at "half way between fifteen and twenty millions; he didn't know for sure," but the friend was sure it was growing all the time. No better figures could be obtained last night.

By Mr. Lyle's will many charitable institutions in New York are beneficiaries to the extent of $50,000 or so apiece. He also left sums ranging from $15,000 to $50,000 to relatives. One or two who were outspoken critics of his marriage two years ago were left out of the will altogether.

These institutions get $50,000 apiece: The American Tract society, the American Bible society, the Board of Home missions of the Presbyterian church, the Board of Foreign missions of the Presbyterian church and a similar body of the Reformed church of America. The Children's Aid society, the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, the Charity Organization society, the New York Eye and Ear Infirmary and the State Charities Aid association each receive $25,000.

The largest personal bequest goes to his second wife, who was Miss Julia Gertrude Hannon, a Presbyterian hospital nurse, and who took care of Mr. Lyle for two years prior to their marriage in September, 1910. To her Mr. Lyle left $500,000 outright and the estate at Tenafly of forty acres, which has a value of $200,000. She is the executrix.

William Newcomb of Tenafly, brother of the first Mrs. Lyle, receives $50,000 outright and the house and land which he occupies at Tenafly. John C. Newcomb of Tenafly receives $15,000. Other personal bequests are: Lydia J. Hubbard of Toledo, Ohio, $50,000; Josie E. Borton of Brooklyn, $15,000; Mary N. Crane of Toledo, $30,000; Elizabeth H. Scott of Toledo, $30,000; Louisa Patten of Plainfield, N. J., $20,000; Jeanette Hubbard of Toledo, $30,000, and to Lucy P. Nelson of Jersey City, $30,000.

As to relatives of his own blood Mr. Lyle had this to say in his will:

In making this, my last will and testament and in deciding upon the provisions thereof, I have done so after much thought and consideration, and have not made any provision whatsoever for any relation who may be a cousin, or second or third cousin of mine, or related in any degree to me because of the fact that I do not feel that my association with or interest in them or any of them is such as to make it in any sense proper or obligating upon me as a moral duty so to do.

The will says that Mrs. Lyle, the executrix, may pay the bequests in cash or in part cash or bonds of railroads or corporations, or transfer mortgages held by the testator. It also says:

I direct that Lord & Taylor shall pay their indebtedness to me in sums of $25,000 per month or in larger sums if they so desire.

Mr. Lyle made his will on June 11 last, six weeks before he died. The signature is that of a feeble man. The witnesses to the will were S. Stanwood Menken of Philbin, Beekman, Menken & Griscom; T. H. Marshall of the Hotel Marie Antoinette and C. R. Langenbacher of Montclair.

Mr. Lyle and Miss Hannon were married in Yonkers by a justice of the peace on September 20, 1910. At that time Mr. Lyle gave his age as 75 and Miss Hannon said she was 50. After the death of his first wife in 1905 her sister, Miss Elisabeth Antoinette Newcomb, went to Mr. Lyle's house and took care of him. Miss Newcomb was often ill and a trained nurse was sent out from New York to look out for her. The nurse was Miss Hannon.

Miss Newcomb finally went to a sanitarium at White Plains, but Miss Hannon stayed on at the Lyle house in Tenafly. In the winters she went south with Mr. Lyle. After a time Miss Newcomb was able to leave the sanitarium. She said she would go back to Mr. Lyle's house on condition that he discharge his nurse. He refused, and Miss Newcomb went to live with her brother, William Newcomb, who is mentioned as a beneficiary in the will and whose place at Tenafly adjoined Mr. Lyle's.

When the fact of the marriage became known Miss Newcomb was outspoken in her criticism of her brother-in-law. On the second day after the marriage, when she was shown an account of the marriage in a New York paper, she observed that Mr. Lyle was a foolish old man.

John S. Lyle was born in Nova Scotia and came to this country when he was 14 years old. He went to work for Lord & Taylor as a boy. He was the last surviving partner of the old firm. His first wife was Miss Mary Kate Newcomb. She was the founder and supporter of Happyland, where 5000 New York children spent a few days each summer.

DIVORCED HUSBAND MAKES HIS ESCAPE

Was Besieged by Former Wife

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—After struggling with her divorced husband in the Jamaica police court yesterday for the possession of one of her children until Magistrate Joseph Fitch warned her he would cause her arrest for disorderly conduct if she did not desist, Mrs. Isabella Crimmins, of No. 59 Bandman avenue, Jamaica, waited for several hours outside the court house, determined when he appeared with the child to get the youngster from him.

But the ex-husband, William McLean, of No. 125 Market street, Newark, climbed out of one of the court house windows with the child, letting himself to the ground on a fire-escape and disappearing through a vacant lot.

Mrs. Crimmins won a divorce some time ago and was awarded the custody of her two children—William, thirteen years old, and Melva, eight. Soon she married Edward Crimmins, a policeman. Last May McLean procured a court order giving him permission to see his children. On his first time the youngsters went for a walk with him and did not return. Mrs. Crimmins swore out a warrant on a charge of kidnapping, and the warrant was served a few days ago.

McLean was arraigned in Jamaica police court yesterday. Magistrate Fitch decided the case was outside of his jurisdiction and dismissed the charge. As McLean, with his two children, started to leave the room Mrs. Crimmins ran after him.

"Give me my children, I love them!" she screamed.

The pair struggled until the magistrate warned the wife away. Then she took up her station outside.

"Just let him come out," she cried. "Then I'll get my children, and no court can take them from me."

McLean sent his son out and the boy told his mother he preferred to remain with his father.

"All right, you can, but I will have Melva," said the woman.

DARING ROBBERY IN BROAD DAYLIGHT

Boys Broke Window of Jewelry Store

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.— A pair of diamond earrings valued at $1000 which reflected the rays of the sun in the window of Henry Healy, a jeweler, of 502 Fulton street, caused a thief chase along that thoroughfare in Brooklyn yesterday, in which 500 persons took part. The result was the arrest of Samuel Wiener, fourteen years old, of 322 Rivington street, and Joseph Cohen, seventeen years old, of No. 308 Henry street.

At 5 o'clock, when the street was crowded, the boys stopped in front of the window, one of them holding a paving stone wrapped in a newspaper. They waited until two elevated trains passed each other on the structure above and their roar drowned out all other sounds. Then one of them heaved the stone into the show window. The boys grabbed and were off toward Manhattan.

There were three or four customers in the store, who thought the place had been struck by lightning. Because of the roar of the elevated trains none on the street save those in the immediate vicinity was aware that anything had happened.

Detective John Sullivan ran after the boys. They ran to Smith street, where Patrolman Blaney was on a car. He saw the fugitives and left the car to assist in the capture of Cohen in Willoughby street. Wiener, fleet of foot, continued on around the triangle of Smith, Fulton and Willoughby streets, and was caught by Traffic Patrolman Spellman, into whose arms Sullivan ran him.

No jewelry was found on the boys, but in a gutter the earrings were found, with other loot.

CITY HALL A FIRETRAP

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—Edward F. Croker, former chief of the New York fire department, after making an expert examination of the New $100,000 convention hall, declares that it is a menace to the city and that, in all his experience, he never has seen such poor construction and such a hazardous structure from a fire standpoint.

Several local insurance men had examined the hall, built to seat 20,000 persons, and condemned it as a firetrap. The municipal administration thought otherwise. John T. Windrim, architect, supplied the finances so Chief Crocker might examine the building.

For Age-Marred Skins and Dull, Streaky Hair

Fine lines, and that aged condition of the skin are caused by pore-clogging powders and creams. These should be discarded for a spurmax lotion, which is made by adding 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine to 1-2 pint witch hazel (or hot water), then 6 ounces of spurmax. This lotion protects the skin against the ravages of sun and wind, removes tan, freckles, oiliness and other upsets, and though invisible when on, lends an indefinable charm to the complexion.

An invigorating and pleasing shampoo for the heated term can be had by dissolving a teaspoonful canthrox in a cup of hot water. This creates an abundance of rich, cleansing lather, which is a positive benefit to any scalp and hair. After rinsing, the hair dries quickly and evenly, with a brilliance and silky softness truly charming. Canthrox shampoos tend to restore the natural color to faded hair and overcome "stringiness."

FATALLY HURT

SOMERVILLE BOY INJURED WHILE STEALING RIDE

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—In an attempt to steal a ride on a freight train a Somerville boy was injured fatally last night. Dolly di Farsear, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaetano di Farsear of 33 Horace street, tried to jump on a car in the Boynton street yard of the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine. He lost his footing and fell under the wheels, both legs being cut off at the knees. He died at the Somerville hospital two hours later.

BOSTON PASTOR SHOOTS BIG BEAR

Bruin Showed Fight and Was Subdued

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—The Rev. Chauncey J. Hawkins, D. D., pastor of the Central Congregational church, Jamaica Plain, and a noted hunter of wild beasts with the camera, has proven that he is just as adept with a firearm if the necessity arises.

To this latter trait the doctor, who by the way has a remarkable collection of photographs, showing wild beasts in their homes, owes the fact that he is still alive and has in his possession a photo of a huge black bear looking for trouble.

Dr. Hawkins has been in New Brunswick for several weeks hunting wild animals, as has been his custom, with a camera. News of his adventure was brought to civilization by his guide, who came out the first of the week to meet Mrs. Hawkins and George B. Clark of Boston, who were joining the doctor.

According to the story of the guide, Dr. Hawkins and he were waiting in a blind for bears to come to a bait of meat and molasses which had been put out to tempt old bruin's palate. After waiting for two days, they saw a big bear and two cubs approaching the bait. When the bear was within 50 feet Mr. Hawkins snapped his camera, expecting to see the bear run when she heard the shutter of the camera fall.

This, however, was a mother with her little ones to protect, and without waiting to see what would follow the unknown noise, she plunged straight for the harmless hunter. She came out so quickly and so straight that the doctor could not move, and his camera was knocked out of his hands and part of his clothing was torn away by the huge claws.

The guide, who had an axe in his hands, sprang to the rescue and swung for a mighty blow, but the old animal brushed it aside easily, just getting a wound on her paw. However, it diverted her attention from the doctor and gave him time to draw his pistol, a 22-calibre pistol with a 12-inch barrel. As the bear turned on the guide, the doctor fired. The ball pierced the bear's brain and she fell dead at their feet. The guide says that it was a very fortunate shot, otherwise one of them at least might have been killed.

In spite of the exciting adventure, Dr. Hawkins has no intention of curtailing his trip and will remain in the wilds for the rest of the month.

LAKEVIEW TRIO HELD PARTY

The Lakeview Trio made their initial bow to the social fraternity last evening, conducting a dancing party at the Lakeview dance hall, and the manner in which they managed the affair would do credit to many of the "veterans." The trio is composed of Willian Allen, Archie Connolly and Romeo Perault, three employees of the pavilion at Lakeview. The young men have been stationed there for several seasons, and that the courteous manner in which they received their patrons has augmented their popularity to a high degree was strikingly demonstrated last evening, for never before has such a large number attended a dance there. Despite the crowd dancing was quite comfortable, and all had a most enjoyable time.

The floor was in perfect condition, and the hall was beautifully illuminated and decorated for the occasion. The music by Kittredges orchestra was excellent and every detail was carried out in a most capable manner. The party opened at 8.15 o'clock with a concert by the orchestra. The overture included the rendition of a series of popular melodies that were greatly applauded. The concert concluded at 8.30 and then the first waltz was started. The dance order included several special numbers, among them being the Marathon two-step, the moonlight waltz and the schottische and several others.

The feature of the evening, however, was the Marathon two-step and this number furnished great amusement for all those present.

There were ten couples competing and the rules were that the couple making the largest number of laps in six minutes were the winners. All couples started off slowly, gradually increasing their speed, and despite the fact that they circled the hall with great rapidity, the excellent condition of the floor was responsible in a large measure for the fact that there were no accidents and all contestants remained in the race until the finish.

ARCHIE CONNOLLEY
General Manager

The winners were Miss Tessie Hunt and Mr. Arthur Knowles, and General Manager Connolly presented the prizes. Miss Hunt received a beautiful gold handled umbrella and Mr. Knowles was the recipient of a smoking set.

After the prize number, dancing was resumed and continued until 11.30. All numbers were well received and encores were numerous. At the conclusion of the affair the officers were warmly congratulated on the tremendous success of their first party. Archie Connolly acted as general manager, and he was an important factor in the success of the affair. Romea Perault was floor director and he performed his duties in a very creditable manner, and William Allen, was treasurer for the party, and he discharged his duties in a manner that brought complete satisfaction to all.

STANDING PAT

which to try or even suspend them. The commissioner said:

"I know that some inspectors now on the force are very greedy gentlemen. They have been grafters in the past. But they are not grafting now, because I have made it impossible for them to get the money. They are in positions where there is no reason for anyone to pay them protection money.

"Previous commissioners had the same trouble. They could get nothing tangible on which to suspend these men. They felt morally certain that all was not right, but that is as far as they could get. That is why I removed these men from their districts.

"My organization of the 'strong arm' squad taking gambling away from the uniformed force, split up and made impossible any organized protection. One squad commander watched the other two and all three watched the district inspectors.

"But they could sell immunity from their own squads, couldn't they, Mr. Waldo?" was asked.

"Yes, they might do that, but they knew there were always others right on their heels. How could an inspector graft if he knew three 'strong arm' lieutenants were right on top of him?

"I wish I did know how to 'get' these individual grafters," the commissioner continued plaintively. "I'd give a whole lot if somebody produced the 'goods' on these men."

One of the inspectors Mr. Waldo mentioned has been a storm centre for years. He has been shifted with remarkable frequency until the present administration. A prominent judge recently named him in confidence as the real brains of the "inner circle." The district attorney is trailing him now. So is Detective Burns. But he is the hardest man on the force to "land." His wealth is estimated at over $1,000,000. His salary in the past 20 years has never been more than $3600 a year.

A magistrate familiar with police conditions told a reporter yesterday how he could get rid of this man if he had the chance.

"I would never bring him up on charges of grafting," the judge said, "because that is a very difficult thing to prove. But I never knew a man yet whose job could not be made so uncomfortable for him but that he would quit. Let Waldo station him at 42nd street and Broadway to handle traffic and make him wear his inspector's uniform. Let it be generally known why he is doing such duty. Public opinion will do the rest."

BRIDGIE WEBBER

TO MAKE NEW STATEMENT AND HELP ROSE

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Dist. Atty. Whitman has evidence, it was said last night, on which he expects to seek the indictment of two high police officials and a civilian attached to police headquarters, on the charge of levying blackmail on gamblers and keepers of other illegal resorts.

The men in question was all mentioned in the confession of Jack Rose, the self accused graft collector of Lieut. C. A. Becker, who is under indictment for the murder of Herman Rosenthal.

Through private detectives and a confession of "Bridgie" Webber, the district attorney has secured corroborative evidence of the alleged graft and upon this he is convinced that indictments can be found.

These three men, together with Lieut. Becker, collected more than $2,400,000 protection money in a year, according to the story told by Rose.

Webber Also to Give Details

Yesterday "Bridgie" Webber, who, with Rose has been promised leniency by the district attorney for his confession of participation in the Rosenthal murder, notified the prosecutor that he would corroborate in writing everything that Rose had said in regard to gambling graft as far as he could, and made the additional declaration that he himself acted as collector for one of the police officials involved. The two officials, it was learned, hold positions superior in authority to that of Becker, who was ahead of the "strong arm squad" of gambling raiders.

The district attorney, however, does not expect to press the graft feature of the case before the grand jury until he has presented all the evidence bearing upon the murder of Rosenthal. Today he expects to take before the jury 20 witnesses upon whose testimony he hopes to secure the indictment of "Lefty Louie," "Gyp the Blood," "Dago Frank" Cirofici, and "Whitey" Lewis, already charged by the police with being the actual murderers, the first two of whom are still at large. Most of these witnesses are persons who either saw the murder or were on the scene soon after it occurred.

Whitman Says He Has Evidence

Among the witnesses under subpena to testify at the trial of Becker, it was further learned last night, are two servants of Jack Rose, who have promised to corroborate the charge made by Rose, that some of the money he collected from gamblers was paid to Becker in Rose's 110th street home.

Dist. Atty. Whitman's confidence that he has a strong case against Becker was evidenced yesterday when he announced in court that he had 10 witnesses who would corroborate Rose's charge that the police officials was the impelling spirit behind the murder and that it was done to prevent Rosenthal from giving further evidence to the district attorney involving Becker in gambling graft.

The statement was made by the prosecutor in opposing a motion to quash Becker's indictment on the ground that it was based on the testimony of witnesses who had confessed their part in the crime.

Judge Mulqueen reserved decision after accepting briefs from both sides, and by agreement the pleading of Becker was adjourned until after the ruling is handed down, which will probably be next week.

Becker's counsel, it was reported last night, are planning to ask for a change of venue when the case comes to trial on the ground of prejudiced public opinion against their client.

Shapiro Fails to Identify

Dist. Atty. Whitman yesterday ran against a seeming stumbling block in his murder case when William Shapiro, chauffeur of the Rosenthal "murder car," tremblingly failed to identify "Whitey" Lewis and "Dago Frank" Cirofici as passengers in that car. Shapiro will be given another chance to identify the men in custody and the district attorney hopes for more favorable results.

It was reported yesterday and denied by Dist. Atty. Whitman, only to be reported again, that a detective agency operating, as the story runs, at the expense of persons whose names are not disclosed, had as long as three months ago established a gambling house and other houses of disrepute in New York and had paid tribute to the police for protection.

The report runs further that the money so paid has been traced by secret marks to banks where it is said to have been deposited by a lawyer. It was said that the evidence thus obtained is in the hands of the district attorney.

LIEUT. BECKER

DIRECTED RAID ON SAM PAUL'S POOLROOM

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Friends of Lieut. Charles A. Becker expressed gratification yesterday at the conviction of two men upon evidence obtained by Becker's men in a raid which he directed upon a poolroom maintained at the Sans Souci, Sam Paul's place.

Policeman Herman Schwartz of Becker's raiding squad testified in the court of special sessions that Becker had given him money and told him to go to Sam Paul's and get evidence against the poolroom there.

Schwartz said he bet $10 on a horse running at the Fort Erie track, Canada, and upon other horses, and cashed some of his bets before a cashier's window with others. He then arrested David Levine and Morris Golden, the cashiers. After their conviction yesterday the men were remanded to the Tombs pending sentence.

Three other men arrested in a previous raid on the same place by Inspector Cahalane's men were discharged for lack of evidence.

HIGH OFFICIALS

SAID TO BE INVOLVED IN ROSENTHAL CASE

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Cumulative evidence piling up before the grand jury investigating police blackmail is said today to involve four or five high police officials and it is said indictments will soon be drawn. Witnesses examined by Dist. Atty. Whitman have furnished much corroboration to the confession of "Bald Jack" Rose, who gave a list of names of gamblers upon whom, he charged, Police Lieut. Becker levied blackmail. Several gamblers were before the public prosecutor and unwillingly admitted that they had paid blackmail to certain inspectors. One of the witnesses told Mr. Whitman that he had been threatened with death if he went before the grand jury and gave information about the police. These witnesses said that these inspectors dealt directly with the big gambling houses, leaving Becker to attend to the small places.

Mr. Whitman said today that evidence would be presented to the grand jury against several police inspectors. One of these inspectors is said to have kept such close watch on the gambling houses that he even examined their books and made them pay blackmail according to their profits.

"Bridgie" Webber now admits that he also collected toll from certain uptown gambling houses for a police inspector. Webber's life has been threatened and Whitman has provided him with a special guard.

Rose has sent word to the public prosecutor that he is prepared to identify the four murderers of Herman Rosenthal. Until now Rose was not ready to say that he could positively identify the gunmen.

GRAFT INQUIRY

ALDERMEN SAY THERE WILL BE NO LIMIT ON IT

NEW YORK, Aug. 8—Alderman Henry H. Curran, who is chairman of the aldermanic committee which proposes to investigate police graft, said yesterday afternoon that there was a report around that certain interested persons are trying to force on the committee as counsel a lawyer who will ask questions "just so far and no further." Mr. Curran says that the committee won't allow any such manipulation of its affairs.

"We have now before us," he said, "the names of at least 50 lawyers who want to serve the committee, among them men of very considerable reputation. It would be improper to say that we have limited our choice already to four or five men. We have done nothing of the sort. What we have done is to look up the antecedents and affiliations of the men whose names have come before us. We want a man who will be independent and will not stop at anything.

"It is reported that there is a frame-up to force upon us counsel who will bolt as soon as he reaches delicate ground. We don't want such a man. We want our lawyer to go as high as the trail leads him."

One question that is troubling the committee is immunity. Mr. Curran understands that the law gives the committee no power to promise immunity from prosecution to a witness. "I understand," said Mr. Curran, "that Mayor Gaynor withdrew his opposition to the committee after he had looked up the law and found that we could not promise immunity."

Mr. Curran added that if the committee finds that witnesses cannot be got who will testify without assurances of immunity, he will try to get the legislature to give this power to the aldermen. The legislature does not meet until Jan. 1. Mr. Curran expects the investigation to take a long time, and possibly in its natural course it may hold over until after New Year's.

Mr. Curran was asked if he had heard that William Barnes, Jr., was objecting to James W. Osborne as counsel, on the score that Mr. Osborne conducted the Alids investigation in Albany.

"When we make up our minds," he said, "as to the man we want, then it won't make any difference whether Mr. Barnes wants him or not. His opposition won't amount to anything. As I have said many times, this investigation is to be conducted on non-partisan lines. If politics creeps into it, out I go. But I don't expect to go."

A LONG HUNT

COUPLE VISITED THREE CITIES BEFORE GETTING LICENSE

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Two couples left Springfield, Mass., this week and came to New York to be married. One of the couples are Silvio Martinelli, 23 years old, an Italian lawyer of 432 Liberty street, and Miss May Adam Moriarty, 26 years old, who said that she is a school teacher living at 19 Garden street. They left Springfield on Tuesday and called at the city hall. When they were told that the would have to wait five days after the license was issued before they could get married, they went to Jersey City and applied there for a license. But the bureau had closed, and they were obliged to wait until yesterday morning. They they found that the clerk had gone to Sea Girt.

Newark was the next place suggested, and Martinelli and Miss Moriarty went there. They got the license, but were told that they would have to wait 24 hours before they could have the knot tied. They said that they would stay in Newark until this morning to comply with the law.

The other runaways were Birnie Lucius Sammis, 40 years old, an electrical engineer in the employ of the United Electrical Company of Springfield, and Miss Stella Adams Whitney, 26 years old, a telephone operator. Both live at Chicopee Falls, near Springfield. They went to Tarrytown yesterday and were married at the Episcopal rectory by the Rev. R. C. Hatch.

ANKLE BROKEN

James McMahon, employed as a teamster for the Harvard Browing Co., suffered a broken ankle about 9.30 o'clock this morning as a result of one of the wheels of his wagon passing over his leg. The ambulance was summoned and the injured man was taken to St. John's hospital, where he received treatment. He resides at 41 Fruit street.

HUSBAND'S JEST

COST HIM $50 FOR NON-SUPPORT

LYNN, Aug. 8.—Abraham Bramson won't "josh" his wife any more in an effort to hasten her in the divorce suit which she is bringing against him. He told Judge Lummus in the Lynn district court yesterday that he was joking when he told her that he was married and police detectives corroborated him. Consequently, the charge of bigamy against him was dismissed, but his little joke cost him $50, as he was fined that amount for non-support.

Six years ago Abraham quit his wife after a family bout. He returned to Lynn three days ago to attend his sister's wedding. He called around to see his wife, Mrs. Ida Bramson, 17 Crescent street, to find if she had secured her divorce from him yet.

"You haven't?" he said when she told him she was in no hurry. "Why, I thought you had, and I married another girl in Philadelphia 11 months ago. I'm living there with her now."

Mrs. Bramson tipped off the police as soon as her husband departed and he was arrested on a bigamy charge. When the police found that he hadn't been married for the second time, they brought a non-support charge against him.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Torelli's dog and pony circus and vaudeville company still holds forth on the boards at this popular summer theatre. Owing to the free attraction at the park, business has been extremely good.

The company carries six handsome ponies and five extremely knowing dogs whose agility and ability please old and young.

Prince, the celebrated hind-foot pony with this troupe is certainly a clever animal doing both walking and waltzing on his two hind-feet. Tuxie, the funny clown pony, keeps the audience in one continuous roar of laughter from start to finish. One of the most notable features of the entertainment is Bessie, the "mulish mule," who furnishes plenty of fun for everybody. As the management offers a cash prize for any one succeeding in riding this mule, several local boys have volunteered to attempt the task and those who visit the Lakeview theatre tonight will see two shows in one. Aside from the circus, there are several vaudeville acts namely: the world's famous Lucifers, comedy acrobats; John Topp, in singing and musical novelties and William Torner, a Lowell boy, who does clever work at whistling, dancing and tumbling.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

There are four scenes from Romeo and Juliet that have stood the test of time as keen satire against ironical criticism. As portrayed by Mortimer Stone & Co. at the Merrimack Square theatre this week these four scenes are delightfully done. Another act on the bill that is going very big also is Prof. Galloway who with his funny little dummies makes the most of his opportunities. Ye Singers of '76 are scoring the hit of their lives, Mrs. Joe Fiske's song being called for repeatedly. Walter Davis who sings three popular songs in his own peculiar way is also going very big, as are the Harringtons. There will be an entire change of motion picture plays today, among them being a feature Biograph and Pathe's weekly. The supper hour shows are becoming more popular as the fall approaches, from 4.30 to 6.30. Try one.

LAKEVIEW DANCE HALL

Everybody's saying that the dance hall at Lakeview is the best in this vicinity and true they might, for while it isn't the largest around here, it is better situated than any. It also has the best floor in New England, and as this is the most important part of a dance hall, the assertion is well founded. The music, too, compares favorably with any dance music in New England, and with the best floor in New England and the equal of any orchestra, what more does a person, who enjoys dancing, wish for? The dancers are realizing the advantages of dancing at Lakeview and the attendances are larger now than ever. Last week was the banner one for the hall and the management is confident that this week's returns will compare favorably with the preceding seven days. The novelty numbers are making a great hit with the patrons of the hall and more will be introduced next week.

MASCUPPIC BATH HOUSE

The new bath house at Lake Mascuppic, near the entrance to Willow Dale, is being well patronized these days and it is easily the greatest attraction at that pleasant and picturesque resort. Messrs. Ferguson and Coburn are the owners and managers of the new bath house and it is their aim and pleasure to please their patrons. The bath house affords a splendid opportunity for women and children to enjoy a plunge in water that is just about the right temperature and where there is absolutely no danger of accident of any kind. It is a nice sandy beach and every convenience for bathing is afforded at the new bath house—the largest and best equipped fresh water bath house in this section of the country.

THEATRE VOYONS

The vogue of the costume play is coming back and the picturesque days of the olden time always make an interesting background for a story. Today the feature at the Theatre Voyons is an excellent story of the days when men wore swords and fought duels. "The Lord and the Peasant," is a novel and most dramatic story well staged and acted by the strongest of the Edison companies. Pathe's weekly has many features of interest and a brace of snappy comedies cannot fail to make you laugh.

WILLOW DALE

The free shows put on at Willow Dale by the management have proven a great attraction during the last four weeks and large crowds are attending every performance. The concert by the M. T. I. Bachelor Girls last Sunday proved a big hit and the colored minstrels this week is an act of unusual merit. The dance hall is freely patronized every day. Miner's orchestra furnishes the latest and best of music.

PRIMARIES IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 8.—Returns from 50 of the 75 counties in Oklahoma indicated this morning that each member of the Oklahoma delegation in congress was renominated in the primary Tuesday.

Senator Owens' majority over former Governor Haskel is estimated at $25,000.

J. T. Dickinson is leading B. M. Parmenter for the republican nomination for United States senator.

COMMITTED SUICIDE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 8.—An acute feeling of loneliness over the fact that he was the last of the "old school" of cotton merchants in this city is believed to have impelled Charles H. Trowbridge, senior partner of the firm of D. Remington & Co., to commit suicide by shooting at his home in the east side early today. Although 71 years of age, the veteran cotton broker attended to business regularly and was at his office yesterday. The recent death of Jeffrey Hazard, the last of his old associates, was a severe blow to him and during the past few days he has frequently spoken of his loneliness. He was born in Cambridge, Mass., and brought up at Lancaster, Mass.

COL. ROOSEVELT

WAS NOTIFIED OF HIS NOMINATION LAST NIGHT

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Theodore Roosevelt, presidential nominee of the new progressive party and the active managers of the progressive campaign remained in Chicago today, although most of the delegates to the third party's first national convention had started for their homes. Members of the notification committee appointed by the various state delegates also remained in the city, together with the members of the progressive national committee.

The notification committee members met Col. Roosevelt and Governor Johnson of California, the progressive vice presidential nominee at a reception arranged in their honor. The notification ceremonies actually took place last evening at the coliseum when the two heads of the ticket appeared before the cheering throngs at the national convention to accept the recently made nominations.

The members of the national committee planned to hold an important meeting although they had been in conference last night when Senator Dixon was chosen as chairman and O. K. Davis of Washington was named secretary. O. K. who was in charge of the progressive publicity bureau during the pre-convention campaign was secretary of the national convention.

Col. Roosevelt, who repeatedly expressed his satisfaction at the outcome of the convention, leaves for New York today at 2.30. He will rest at his Oyster Bay home until the beginning of the campaign, when he will tour all of the western states and make speeches for the new cause while Governor Johnson is doing the same thing in the eastern states.

The progressives launched into their active campaign plans with a vim. Some of the state delegations to the convention did not wait until they had returned to their homes to begin the work of organizing the states. The Wisconsin delegation and others met immediately after adjournment of the convention and selected a state chairman and a state secretary and a state legislative committee. In several instances state leaders telegraphed orders before departing from Chicago for the beginning of active campaign work.

The national leaders planned today to go into all the details of the organization for the national campaign, including the location of headquarters, the mapping out of speaking tours and the subject of finances.

MASONS BENEFIT

BY THE WILL OF LATE JOHN T. SIDERS

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Massachusetts Masons are well remembered in the will of John T. Siders of 23 Bowdoin street, Dorchester, which was filed yesterday in the Suffolk registry of probate. Mr. Siders died July 27.

By the will $1000 is given to the master, wardens and members of the grand lodge of Massachusetts, the income to be used for the support and maintenance of the Masonic Home at Charlton.

Another $1000 is given to the master and wardens of the Old Colony lodge, A. F. and A. M., of Hingham, to be known as the "John T. Siders fund," the income to be used for such charitable purposes as the lodge may deem wise; but the income may also be used for the general purposes of the lodge.

The South Shore commandery, Knights Templar, No. 31, of Weymouth also receives $1000 for the same purposes.

The rest of the testator's estate goes to the Mass. Homeopathic hospital for a free bed for the benefit of members of the Masonic fraternity and their wives and children. Frank W. Lowe is the executor of the will.

ELEVATED ROAD

HAS BEEN SUED FOR $320,500 IN DAMAGES

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Forty-seven damage suits against the Boston Elevated railroad company, with claims totalling $320,500 were filed yesterday at the Middlesex county court in East Cambridge, among the 100 suits placed on the docket during the monthly filing day.

A large number of the plaintiffs who sue the Elevated allege that the car was started before they had a chance to get off. Several suits are said to have resulted from accidents while the road was breaking-in new men during the strike. The plaintiffs demand all the way from $2000 to $20,000 each.

Aside from the number of suits filed against the Elevated, the list is but ordinary for this season, the clerks say.

NO CHANGE YET

IN THE STRIKE SITUATION AT NEW BEDFORD

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 8.—At labor headquarters this morning all was reported quiet in the strike situation. The report of collections was received by treasurers of the different committees whose members worked in the center of the city yesterday.

Ten collectors were sent out this morning by the textile council. They went to Brockton, Fall River and Taunton.

A dish one can relish and served in such haste;
Post Toasties for breakfast, a meal by the way,
Will make your cheeks rosy with sunshine all day.

OAKDALE THE WINNER OF PENNSYLVANIA STAKE

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 8.—Oakdale, a gray trotter from New York state, yesterday captured the Pennsylvania stake, the principal trotting event of this week's meeting. The result fulfilled the early season predictions that this year's classics would be split-up affairs, for of the five big trotting stakes of the year to date, only one horse has won more than one. The exception is the Massachusetts bred Baden, winner at Grand Rapids and Cleveland.

Baden would have been favorite yesterday had there been betting. His defeat was a great disappointment to many New England friends who were at hand to see him race. He got off badly in the first heat and laid in behind until the stretch.

He was unable to get through at the pole until the heat was almost over, although he finished second. In the second heat Baden and Cheeney rubbed wheels going into the turn. This threw him back, although he came on and finished third.

In the third heat he again set off behind and was not able to get through in the stretch. In the final heat Rodney tried new tactics, and although he got off behind, he came on the outside in the stretch and almost won; in fact, many spectators thought he had, and the judges' decision was hooted by those favorig the New England bred and New Jersey owned horse

The race was marred by an accident in the second heat. The Wanderer and Swanee, two far western entries, came together on the first turn and wrecked their sulkies. The New England mares, Chatty Direct and Ethel Lynne, were interfered with at the same time. The judges declared The Wanderer distanced and placed the other affected starters.

In the first heat of the big stake, Geers set the pace with Gordon Todd, but he died in the stretch when The Wanderer came from second place into a winning lead. The only contest was for place between Baden, which came from behind, and Marigold, which came up from the outside. Baden finished second. Oakdale was third at the quarter but dropped back and let the others race.

Oakdale was never headed in the second heat, there was a pretty contest between Marigold and Baden for place, with the former successful.

In the last heat, Oakdale and Cheeney raced to the stretch, where Baden came alongside and carried Oakdale to the wire. The judges saw the gray horse first. Chatty Direct, the New Hampshire entry, was very lame.

New Record for the Track

O. W. Welch, Jr., of North Adams, Mass. was unseated on the first turn in the first heat of the 2.07 pace and struck a fence post. He was badly shaken up, but was not seriously injured. This event was won by the young pacer, Braden Direct, after making a break which caused him to lose the first heat. His time in the second heat, 2.04¼, is a new record for Brunots Island track.

Doctor Mack was never headed in the 2.16 trot and won out in front in every heat, the only contest being for second money. Duchester, in Cox stable, made his first start of the year, and came second in the last heat.

The first 3-year-old pacing event of the year was the side-wheelers' division of the Matron stable. Herman Wenger went out in front in the first heat and was never headed. He looked to be winning as easily in the second, when within 60 yards of the wire Davis brought Ward Dillon up at two-minute speed and almost captured the heat.

Today's program includes the final of the professional drivers' stake and the free-for-all trot. In the latter the trotting record of the track is expected to be lowered. The summary:

94TH BIRTHDAY

WAS OBSERVED BY JONATHAN JOHNSON YESTERDAY

Jonathan Johnson of 10 Varnum avenue was tendered a dinner at Chin Lee's restaurant in Merrimack street yesterday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock, the occasion being the 94th anniversary of his birth. The lunch was given by Lucius A. Derby, with delegations from Pentucket lodge of Masons present. The dining room was decorated in an attractive manner and each member of the party wore a buttonhole bouquet of sweet peas.

There were a number of men present who are well advanced in years but are still "young." Among those were: Thomas S. Shaw, 91 years old; Hiram E. Huse of South Billerica, 88; Charles H. Hill, 88. In addition to these old members of Pentucket lodge the following officers were in attendance: Martin L. Kirkeby, master; Lucius A. Derby, secretary for the last 25 years; Avery B. Clark, treasurer; Frank D. Proctor, senior warden and Solon W. Stevens, an honorary member. Mr. Derby was toastmaster and in general charge of the arrangements.

Mr. Johnson has been a member of the Pentucket lodge for 63 years.

Mr. Derby made the opening speech, giving an interesting historical sketch of Pentucket lodge and the four old members present.

Mr. Johnson spoke reminiscently, and he was followed by Solon W. Stevens.

Mr. Johnson was born in Groton, Mass., Aug. 7, 1818, and attended the common schools of that town until the age of 15 years, when he was apprenticed to the watchmaker's, jeweler's and optician's business at Fitchburg. In 1840 he came to Lowell, and after engaging in the business with James K. Fellows for about two and a half years, he went into business on his own account.

Mr. Johnson has been a republican in politics, and an attendant of the Unitarian church. He was a member of the common council in 1855 and 1860, of the legislature in 1856, 1872 and 1873 and was a member of the board of aldermen 1856-57.

Many valuable inventions have resulted from his mechanical genius, among others being steam and hot water boilers, steam car heaters, gas radiators and gas cooking stoves.

He has been twice married; first to Sarah S. Barnard, in 1844; and second, to Sarah E. Turner in 1882. The following children were born of the first union: Helen A. Johnson, George A. Johnson and Susan B. Johnson.

DIAMOND NOTES

Fall River with us again today.

Lawrence and Worcester lost and Lowell won. Going up.

"Shorty" Dee played a good game at short, accepting all chances that came his way, and also getting two fine doubles at the bat. The Lowell fans hope that that slump he had is all over. His last two games were up to the standard.

Eddie McGamwell returned to the game yesterday after an absence of some time and he played his usual classy game. He had a finger injured last week and while the it is still sore, he was anxious to get back in the harness.

Halstein did not appear in uniform yesterday, and Kelchner, the St. Louis scout, was disappointed at not seeing the collegian in action. The big league fellow, however, was favorably impressed with the work of Clemens and Lavigne.

Rube De Groff played a beautiful game yesterday. In the sixth inning he made all the put-outs, getting three flies and all were difficult ones. At the bat he was there with two hits in three times up.

The fair sex were there strong yesterday and some of them were very enthusiastic, especially when Miller banged the pill over the fence for the circuit and one was heard to remark: "He's just lovely."

Zeiser pitched a good game and pulled out of several very bad holes. In the third inning, with three on and only one out, things looked rather bad for us, but Matty was there and tightened up in fine style and the counting station was just as far off as at the beginning of the inning.

Miller and Wormwood banged the ball over the left field fence for homers, and each received a check for 72 packages of the celebrated bull. To date there have been 33 home runs made on the local grounds and as a check for 72 packages of the fine stuff has been given for every circuit clout, needless to say Sam Scott handed out some bull during the past few months.

Billy Merritt of this city held the indicator and gave general satisfaction. Only on one play was there an argument, that being when Hickman took the throw to get Lavigne off second. Shorty thought the Lowell man was out and when Billy said "no," the little fellow yelled "Come down here and have a look." The decision remained unchanged.

Merrill, who is filling in at third played a remarkable game. He accepted everything that came his way and his throwing across the diamond was as good as we have seen here this season. The third corner has given Manager O'Brien considerable trouble during the season, but with the fast Merrill presiding over there the section is well taken care of.

CRICKET NOTES

The Buntings are scheduled to meet the strong Lawrence eleven at Glen Essex Saturday. The team chosen to represent the Buntings is as follows: Albert Briggs, captain; S. J. Nichol, Ike Shaw, Fred Chapman, Sheron Stirks, James Mitchell, J. McKenzie, H. Marsh, J. O'Connell, R. Marland, Eli Robinson. Reserves, Smith, Sugden; umpire, J. H. Mills; scorer, J. W. Foster. All players are requested to meet in the square at 1.30.

CHICAGO CUBS

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Pitcher Lavender, who has done such excellent work with the Cubs this year, is not such a tremendous phenomenon when his work is compared with that of other pitchers on the team. Leifield, Richie, Cheney and Reulbach are each higher in the percentage column than Lavender, and yet you will hear more talk among the fans about Lavender than about the others who have been in the game for years. Lavender has pitched several sensational games, and he has done wonderful work for a newcomer. Much of his success is due to the able work of Catcher Archer. He is a tower of strength behind the plate. His skill and confidence steady the pitcher and the whole team.

CRUMBS OF BASEBALL

Culled by "Sul" From Circuit Dope Sheets

The New England league race has only four more weeks to go after this.

Lowell remains the best batting team in the league. The champs sure are a fine bunch of hitters.

Pretty even thing in hits in that Worcester-Lowell game—four on each side.

Van Dyke didn't have much on Maybohm, Monday, but the champs misplays were costly.

Luyster, Howard, Ferrin and Logan were the star batters in Monday's games on the circuit.

The Whalers were the only team to play an errorless game, Monday. But that didn't save them from a beating.

Haverhill leads the league in fielding. The Crossmen are putting up a fine article of ball, and have a slight lead over Brockton and Lynn.

It looks as if Lowell, Lawrence and Worcester will be the three teams to fight it out for the pennant. Well if Burkett gets a good shortstop he will have a chance.—Worcester Post.

Lawrence is the luckiest team in the league. The Barristers are away down in fielding and batting, but baseball luck has been with them most of the time.—Worcester Post.

Joe Briggs, the Barristers' center fielder, is the hardest man to pitch to in the league. A pitcher don't know just what he likes, as he can hit any kind of a ball.

Billy Hamilton is back from a scouting trip. He says that good players are scarce, the minors wanting fabulous prices for their players.

Marty Nye is playing the best allround game for the Worcesters right now. His fielding has been sensational the last few weeks, and his batting also has been very good.

Bert Haas of Worcester has slumped in his batting. Bert has not been feeling very good the last few days and maybe that has something to do with his slump.

Fall River has a fast emergency man in Merrill. Haverhill has Cooney and Burkett feels comfortable with Christy Wilson.

With Al Bridwell back in the game, the Braves look like a regular ball club. "Brid" knows baseball about as thoroughly as anyone playing the game, and what is more valuable, he uses his knowledge, and in coaching the other men in the infield, he sets them at ease and they play far better ball.

"Hickory" Jackson is playing the best ball of his career. Jackson is an awkward fielder, but there are few men who cover more ground and are surer fielders. Hickory is fast working up into the .300 class.

Larry Gardner is making the fans around the circuit sit up and take notice by the fine article of ball he is playing for the Red Sox. Larry is one of the most natural all-around players in the game.

Johnny Evers has joined the "comeback" club, and it is his new lease of life that has put the Cubs up in the race. Evers is hitting harder than ever and his fielding is of the topnotch variety.

That cloud of dust rolling up from under the wheels of the Worcester chariot is going to get into the lamps of the Lawrence leaders if they don't keep going.—Exchange.

The little old New England league has seen Jesse in that final dash to the wire before now and they know he's best where there's the most at stake.—Worcester Gazette.

George Walsh, the Fall River outfielder, has stolen 74 bases this season and is only four behind Clemens of Lowell, the leader of the league in this department.

Because the Red Sox have lost a few games does not mean that they have blown. This slump was bound to come and the fact that it came while they were on the road is a great thing for the boys. They will be in their stride in a few days.

Local fans are becoming poor losers when they attack an umpire with stones because he made a decision against the home team. How would it be if Kerin were seriously injured?—Lawrence Eagle. Nice work, Billy.

Do the Lawrence fans want home umpires? How would they like it if very close decisions went against Lawrence when the team is on the road Give the visiting players an even break.—Lawrence Tribune. That's good dope.

It is suggested by the Worcester Gazette that if Umpire Kerin is to stay on the staff, it wouldn't be a bad idea to get armor for him. "Or, perhaps," it adds unkindly, "an even better way would be to slip him the blue ticket."

Larry McLean says it is a very tough job playing ball for Cincinnati since the club began to slip. The fans have no mercy for the players, but in former years they made goats of only a few men, while now they ridicule even the one-time favorites.

It will not be surprising to see Bill Sweeney's name at the head of the list of National league batting averages when they are published next Monday. Bill gets in his hit every day, and as he is getting a number of bases on balls, he gives the "av" a nice boost every game.

A writer in Sporting News says that "Milliman of Anderson is showing great class on the receiving end, besides hitting the pill at a .290 gait. He seems to be the best catcher in the league at the present writing." Milliman was with Haverhill last season.

The best hitters on each club are: Lawrence, Pearson; Lowell, Halstein; Worcester, Boehling; Lynn, Harrington; Brockton, Barry; Haverhill, Courtney and Carney tied; New Bedford, Griffith; Fall River, Hickman.

Clemens of Lowell leads in the scoring of runs. He has crossed the plate 78 times, which is four more than Walsh of Fall River, DeGroff, Magee, Miller, all of Lowell, follow in the order named. Of the first five leading run-getters, Lowell has four of them, which looks very good to us.

Arthur Bues, the former Pacific fence buster, who was sent to Buffalo by McGraw to burn up the International league, is not causing the great stir the fans thought he would. He gets in a homer now and then, but so do some of the pitchers.

Catcher Ted Easterly has been sold to the Chicago club of the American league by the Cleveland club.

If Sim Murch and Carney were traveling with the same team and had to bunk together, only an extension couch would accommodate them. If they tried to get along with an ordinary bed, one of the pair would find himself on the floor in the middle of the night. Some baseball giants these two.—Exchange.

Seven players have made 100 hits or over. They are: DeGroff, Lowell; Clemens, Lowell; Courtney, Haverhill; Briggs, Lawrence; Hickman, Fall River; Walsh, Fall River; Cross, Haverhill; Luyster of Lawrence, Smith of Brockton and Young of Haverhill will undoubtedly be in the "century class" before another week passes into history.

The work of Lave Cross, the veteran, is attracting attention. Although he is playing one of the hardest positions in the infield, third base, he is playing the corner better than any third sacker in the league. He is leading the third basemen with the stick, his fielding is gilt edge and his throwing is sure and accurate. Cross is enjoying a most successful season.—Exchange.

An erroneous idea has gone around the New England league circuit that Monte and Lave Cross, the latter manager of the Haverhill team, are brothers. They bear no relation to each other. Monte's brother, Jerome, was in Lawrence a few weeks ago and while here was the guest of former Alderman John Abercrombie. He met Lave and they had quite a fanning bee.—Lawrence Eagle. The same general impression prevails throughout the baseball world.—Haverhill Gazette.

Hoff of Lawrence evidently isn't one of those pitchers who cherish the idea that a box "artist" is paid a salary merely for throwing balls at the plate and leaving it to his teammates to do all the hitting. He got two hits himself, Monday, besides twirling such excellent ball that the leaders defeated New Bedford without much trouble.

The Boston Braves are playing the best ball they have played all season since the return from the last western trip. The Pirates were forced to extend themselves to win, and Cincinnati is not putting up the ball that Kling's champs are displaying.

A Brantford scribe says: "The announcement that First Baseman Barry has been purchased from the Brockton team of the New England league by the New York Highlanders is interesting news in this territory. Barry was a member of the Brantford club of the Canadian league here last year under Amby Kane, though Brockton held a string on to him. Now that Pitcher Ray Keating has been purchased by the same club from the same league the fact is demonstrated that the Canadian league material is decidedly gilt-edged. Keating played with the Hamilton team last year under an optional agreement and his work was of a sensational character."

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The O. M. I. Cadets are without a game Saturday, Aug. 10.

The Graniteville baseball club will play the strong Shirley club in Shirley next Saturday.

The Hurons would like to play any 14 or 15 years old team in the city, preferably the Tyler A. C.

The North Chemsford Cadets accept the challenge of the Rockdale A. C. for Saturday, Aug. 10. Answer our acceptance through this paper.

Owing to a previous engagement with the Indians, the Beacons will be obliged to cancel their game with the Coburn A. A. for Saturday, Aug. 10.

BOXING GOSSIP

Buck Crouse and Eddie McGoorty have been matched to box in Cleveland next Monday night.

Jumbo Wells, the big New York heavyweight, who appeared here some time ago, beat Billy Shanks in fifteen rounds in a private fight. The contest took place on the outskirts of Chicago.

A broken wrist will keep Frank Hufnagle, the clever little New York examateur lightweight boxer, out of the game for some time to come. Hufnagle received his injury in a bout with Willie Brown last Saturday night.

Arthur Cote, the Biddeford lightweight, is very anxious to get back to action again. Cote writes one of his old handlers that he is in the best of condition and would like to meet any of the local lightweights.

Harry Dell, of California, a boxer rated as one of the best in the bantamweight class developed on the Pacific coast, is working his way east. Dell was coming to Boston about a year ago this time, but an accident spoiled his plans.

Johnny Cose of Boston went into the country yesterday where he will train for several matches he has in sight. Cose is an active little fellow and has invariably demonstrated his worth in bouts in this vicinity.

Danny McKettrick is trying to secure a match with Tommy Burns for Joe Jeanette, now that he has forced Johnson to retire. At least McKettrick asserts he did make the champion back down from a meeting with Jeanette.

Buffalo fans are looking forward to another meeting between K. O. Brennan and Paddy Lavin. Enter Mike (Twin) Sullivan, who has been after a match with Lavin for ever so long: "Lavin side steps an issue with me for reasons best known to himself, as he will never say why he will not make a match." Mike has finished.

Mike Cunningham, the Lewiston, Me., boxer, is said to be done with the game. Cunningham is working in an Auburn shoe shop, making plenty of money, and feels that there is no need of his boxing again. However, if a good opportunity presents itself, Mike will take a fling at the sport just for old time's sake.

The Manchester, N. H., matchmaker has landed the Young McDonough and Bobby Wilson return meeting for Labor Day afternoon at the park. Previous encounters between the pair have resulted in torrid exhibitions of boxing and there is every reason to believe that the next meeting will also prove interesting.

Luther McCarty's chief asset appears to lie in his willingness to keep on fighting regardless of what may be coming his way. It is opined by several wise critics who have witnessed the cowboy fighter in action that once he attains speed and science, he will be no time attaining championship honors. He has the heart and the courage of a lion and lacks only a few essentials which can be gained by practice and plenty of fighting.

BUNTING SOCCER NOTES

The Lowell soccer team will start very soon to play exhibition games. The first league game will be played on the 7th of September against Andover on the latter's ground. Soccer fans know of the plucky fight the Lowell boys put up last season, and they are more anxious than ever for the season to start. The team is composed of some young and very speedy players, the majority of whom are well known to the Lowell fans. The reason for the very early practice game, arranged for Saturday, is that Mgr. Flynn wants a pennant winning team from the start. The locals have secured a very fast man in J. Pinkerton who played in and around Boston. Blackburn and Kelly are two big husky fellows and they look like the goods, and with three or four other new players the team will be complete. There will be a practice game Saturday on the Bunting grounds in South Lowell at 2.30 p. m. and any player desiring a try-out is invited to come out. Manager Flynn and J. Mahon are working very hard, and they expect to have a very fast team. Among the players signed are: W. Croft, S. Blackburn, G. Clegg, John Mahon, R. Clark, A. Burrows, J. Burrows, W. Kelly, J. Taylor.

STAFF OFFICERS ARE ARRIVING

At Stratford for the War Manoeuvres

ALL OFFICERS ARE DUE TOMORROW

Operations May Conclude on 17th

STRATFORD, Conn., Aug. 8.—Officers of the staff of Brig.-Gen. Bliss, commander of the Connecticut manoeuvres, are arriving today to look after the preliminary details of settling the headquarters camp at Paradise Green. Advance detachments of various organizations are coming by train to look after baggage and camp appurtenances and in order to guide them in the right way a bureau of information was opened this morning at the railroad station. Many of the assistant umpires are here to meet Col. Mann of the general staff, who is chief of staff to Gen. Bliss and who is personally in charge of the arrangements until his commander arrives. Under the orders issued by the war department all the officers attached to the headquarters of the manoeuvre campaign are due to be here by tomorrow.

The various units which have arrived in this vicinity are added to by field Company A, Signal corps, U. S. A., which came from Omaha. The Third field artillery from Fort Meyer has gone through to Milford beyond, where eventually it will lend its strength to the red army. Two troops of the 10th cavalry from Fort Ethan Allen in Vermont are approaching headquarters, while other troops have been sent elsewhere.

The engineers of company B, First battalion, have completed the lay-out of headquarters camp and have marked off the space for the New York national guard division and second brigade headquarters. In orders issued by Adjutant General Cole to the Connecticut forces today the period of the manoeuvres campaign is changed from the 19th to the 18th, so that operations may conclude on Saturday, the 17th and commands may be taken home on the 18th.

George Z. Allard has been granted a permit to remove a cottage from 61 Riverside avenue to 1028 Varnum avenue. This is one of the cottages sold recently by the water department and purchased by Mr. Allard.

The new runabouts for the district chiefs of the fire department were seen in the street today. The machines are red in color and the hoods are marked "District Chief L. F. D." The necessary equipment has not been added to the machines, but it is being made ready and the machines will be in use within a few days.

This is Martin Luther day at Tyng's Island, and about 100 members went to the grounds this afternoon. There was a slight change in program, inasmuch as the steamer Gov. Allen is out of commission, and the members, who were automobileless went to the grounds on the train, leaving this city at 1.39 o'clock. The good old steamer is temporarily disabled and quite a number of the members were heard to say that the boat would be missed as the sail up and back was a very pleasant feature of the outing. But, boat or no boat, just leave it to the Martin Luthers to have a good time. They are all jolly good fellows, and it only happens twice a month for four months in the year.

PHILADELPHIA PLAYERS WON

LONDON, Aug. 8.—The Philadelphia Cricket club was victorious in its match against an eleven of the royal artillery stationed at Woolwich, which was resumed today. The Philadelphians won by eight wickets.

GOV. WILSON

WENT TO NEW YORK TO HAVE PORTRAIT DRAWN

Plans for the campaign in Maine have practically been completed. Governor Marshall will stump there before the September state elections, but Governor Wilson will not speak in Maine until after the state elections, if at all.

FINANCIAL REPORT OF POLICE DEPT.

Figures About Same As Last Year

INCREASE OF $302.31 IN SALARIES

Due to the Promotion of Officers

The police department for the first six months in 1912 has been run on almost identically the same basis as for the corresponding months in 1911. A plain statement of figures having to do with the department was given out by Mayor O'Donnell this forenoon and while the strike cost the department somewhere in the vicinity of $1500 the mayor says that that amount will be taken care of later by special appropriation.

Under the head of sundries the department shows a saving of $641.13 for the first six months in 1912, and an increase, in the salaries of superior officers, of $302.31. This increase is accounted for by the fact that Lieut. Brosnan was made a captain in the latter part of the first six months of 1911 with the usual increase in salary, and Inspector Maher was made a lieutenant and his salary was increased accordingly. It also happens that there was a calendar discrepancy in the two years and in favor of 1911 so far as expense was concerned, for there were two months of the first six months in 1912 that had five weeks each. There has been no increase in salaries in the police department under the present administration.

There was a slight increase under the head of "patrolmen" in 1912 and that, too, is explained by the mayor. In March of 1911 two new men were added to the police force and Officer Paige, the city hall officer, was paid $500 out of the messenger's department appropriation, while this year he is paid out of the police appropriation and taking all in all the department is going along on about the same basis as last year.

SHOT BY BROTHER

IN A ROW OVER HIS WIFE WEDNESDAY

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Mrs. Frederick Denker, of Washington avenue, Mariners' harbor, Staten Island, declared yesterday that her husband, who was reported to have been shot by a burglar in his room last Thursday, was wounded instead by his brother Michael. The brothers are Standard Oil employes.

On the strength of Mrs. Denker's statement, Detective Smith arrested Michael Denker. He was arraigned before City Magistrate Marsh, at Stapleton, and committed to jail in default of $2500 bail for examination tomorrow morning. Mrs. Denker was held in $500 bail as a material witness.

Detective Smith had heard that Michael Denker, who lived with his brother, had entered the house under the influence of liuor a few minutes before Frederick was shot. He went to Mrs. Denker and she confessed to have seen Michael shoot her husband twice.

Mrs. Denker said Michael had insisted upon paying attention to her, although she tried to discourage him. Her husband remonstrated with Michael, and the shooting followed, she asserted.

PAID VISIT TO THE DEMOCRATIC HEADQUARTERS

NEW YORK, Aug. 8—Gov. Marshall of Indiana dropped into democratic national committee headquarters today on his way home to Indianapolis from the Wilson notification ceremonies at Sea Girt, N. J. He said he was delighted with Gov. Wilson's speech and remarked: "It is most pleasing that the ills of the country are to be treated by a physician and not by a surgeon."

Gov. Marshall conferred with National Chairman McCombs and other members of the committee.

GETS LOOT BACK

CONFESSED THIEF TAKES POLICE TO PAWN SHOPS

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—The Quincy police yesterday arrested the confessed burglar who has broken into and robbed a large number of houses in Quincy, in the person of Harry Potter, 18 years old, who gave his address as the People's Palace, Boston.

They later recovered loot which they declare is worth between $5000 and $10,000 from Boston pawn shops and hiding places about the city that Potter is said to have stolen.

Potter was captured by Patrolman Charles Crocker as he was leaving the house of Harry Bacon on East Elm street, carrying two large suit cases containing clothing and toilet articles such as a business man would take with him on a journey.

He was taken to the Quincy police station, where he confessed to having broken into and robbed a large number of houses in that city, according to the police.

Accompanied by Capt. McKay and Inspector Goodhue, the confessed burglar went into a number of Boston pawnshop, where considerable loot was recovered, and in an old bag, hidden beneath a deserted wharf on Hampden street, Roxbury, was found a large amount of watches and jewelry.

The police declare that the goods recovered are worth between $5000 and $10,000.

PRICES SAGGED

TO LOWEST FIGURES DURING THE FINAL HOUR

Some Leading Issues Sold Under Yesterday's Final Quotations—Harriman Statement Caused a Change

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Substantial advances were recorded at the opening of today's market. Sears Roebuck was the feature with a gain of 1¾ points. Lehigh Valley gained one, with strength in Reading, Atchison, Great Northern certificates and Steel. The only notable decline was American Tobacco which lost a half point.

Opening gains were extended with a brisk inquiry for the steel, coppers, coalers and western and northwestern railway shares. Tobacco added to its loss and Biscuit fell 1½.

Lehigh Valley moved up several points at noon. Harriman stocks, especially Union Pacific, were in demand, anticipating publication of June earnings, while Hill issues ruled firm. Steel moved irregularly with improvement in Coppers. American Tobacco was weakest of the specialties and Sears Roebuck strongest.

The feature of the noon hour was the demand of shares of various southern roads. American Tobacco more than recovered its early loss and Westinghouse was up over three points but the more active issues failed to respond to this movement.

Southern Railway pfd. yielded some of its advantages in the late afternoon but others in that group were steady. The balance of the list was dull and featureless save for a decline in Liggitt & Myers.

The unfavorable Harriman statement caused a general sagging of prices to the lowest level in the last hour, numerous leading issues selling under yesterday's final quotations.

LADIES' SOCIAL CLUB

The ladies' social afternoon club had an enjoyable time yesterday at the camp of Mrs. A. E. Brooks in Tyngsboro. An elaborate dinner was served, Mrs. Brooks being assisted by Mrs. Herbert Peters. During the afternoon there was a most pleasing musical program.

SHOTS WERE FIRED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Shots were again fired last night from the Mexican side of the border line at the American troops in El Paso, according to a report received today at the war department.

WOMEN SHOULD BE PROTECTED

Sikeston, Mo.—"For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl."—Mrs. DEMA BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

Murrayville, Ill.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a very bad case of female trouble and it made me a well woman. My health was all broken down, the doctors said I must have an operation, and I was ready to go to the hospital, but dreaded it so that I began taking your Compound. I got along so well that I gave up the doctors and was saved from the operation."—Mrs. CHARLES MOORE, R. R. No. 3, Murrayville, Ill.

MAN WAS FINED $100 FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

Auto Hit Lamp Post and a Tree

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Isadore J. Waters of Revere ran his newly purchased touring car along the Revere beach parkway yesterday as if he were doing stunts for a humorous moving picture film. He knocked down two lamp posts, bumped another, struck an automobile and a motorcycle, and then drove the machine up against a tree.

Later in the day he appeared before Special Justice Samuel R. Cutler in the Chelsea police court and was fined $100 for reckless driving. Sentence was suspended until Aug. 14.

Waters was operating the car under a 30-day license, granted only the day before by the highway commission in lieu of his application for a regular license. He was arrested by a Metropolitan police officer.

Yesterday morning Waters started out to drive his new automobile from his home, 53 Thornton street, Revere, to Boston. Everything went well until he reached the portion of the boulevard at Slade's mill, near Chelsea. There he knocked down one lamp post and hit another. Getting out, he cranked the car, and continued toward Boston.

Just across the Chelsea line he struck an automobile. A little farther on he collided with a motorcycle. No damage was done by any of the collisions. On he went, as if nothing had happened.

His next mishap occurred on the county road, Chelsea, where he skidded against a lamp post, knocking it over, and then bumped headlong into a tree. Waters was thrown out and the front of his machine was damaged.

Meanwhile the police at the Metropolitan station on the boulevard were wondering what was happening along the parkway. Telephone messages told of lamp posts down. Lieutenant Hawkins despatched two motorcycle officers, who found Waters sitting beside his wrecked machine.

Justice Cutler suspended sentence to investigate Waters' right to operate a machine. The state highway commission grants certificates giving automobile owners the right to drive their machine for 30 days, during the time it takes to file their applications for licenses. In the application the applicant must swear that he has driven a car at least 100 miles and is competent to handle a machine.

SIX WERE INJURED IN CAR COLLISION

Trolley Was Speeding on Wrong Track

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Four women and two men were injured last night in a car collision in Bowdoin street near Holliday, Dorchester, when an out-bound Meeting House hill car, on the in-bound track, crashed into an in-bound Franklin street car.

Out-bound cars had been diverted past a derailed car at Upham's Corner, running over a short section of in-bound rail. The Meeting House Hill car had run past the switch-over and was making up lost time when it crashed head-on into the Franklin street car.

The two cars met on a sharp grade with terrific impact. The glass in each was splintered, and the front ends of the cars were demolished.

There were only five passengers on the Franklin street car and they escaped injury. There were about 30 on the other car.

Just before the two met, several people leaped from the Meeting House Hill car. Those who remained on the car were badly shaken up and piled headlong against the seats ahead of those in which they were sitting.

Miss Charlotte Currie of 103 Seventh street, East Cambridge, was shaken up and received a nervous shock.

Miss Gertrude Currie, her sister, of the same address, was also shaken up.

Mrs. R. M. Preston, 179 Pearl street, Somerville, was shaken up and received possible internal injuries. These three were taken into the office of Dr. W. J. Walton, treated and sent home in automobiles furnished by the Elevated railroad.

Mrs. Ella L. Vanier, 124 West Brookline street, received a strained back and nervous shock. She was treated in Dr. J. J. Sullivan's office, and sent home in an elevated auto.

Howard Preston, grandson of Mrs. R. M. Preston, was shaken up, and Hans Hunson, 178 Clarendon avenue, West Somerville, shaken up and shocked nervously. Both were treated by Dr. Joseph T. Kendricksen.

The noise of the impact of the two cars brought many from the houses in the vicinity. People half dressed thronged into the streets, assisting in carrying the injured into the offices of the nearby doctors.

The motorman of the Meeting House Hill car, in his hurry to make up the time lost on the turnout necessitated by the car derailed at Upham's Corner, neglected to take the switch over at Geneva avenue, back to his own rail.

Instead, he crowded speed on his car, racing it up the grade on the wrong track. The motorman of the Franklin street car saw the other in time to stop. But the Meeting House Hill car was at top speed when they met.

BODIES OF MINERS

RECOVERED FROM LORRAIN PIT OF COAL FIELD

BERCHUM, Germany, Aug. 8.—The bodies of seven dead miners had up to 1 o'clock this afternoon been brought up from the Lorrain pit of the coal field near the village of Gerthe, where a firedamp explosion imprisoned a large number of men early this morning. Sixteen miners have also been brought to the surface suffering from serious injuries.

The extent of the disaster could not be estimated by the officials in charge of the rescue work, who expressed the opinion that most of the men were caged up in the various levels but were unhurt.

EGG PRODUCERS LOSE MONEY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—More than $45,000,000 is lost every year by American egg producers and dealers through improper handling, according to the experts of the department of agriculture. The department has addressed an open letter to buyers and shippers appealing to them to undertake to eliminate the enormous losses due to small eggs, cracked and broken eggs, stale, heated and rotten eggs.

FREE TOLLS FAVORED BY THE U. S. SENATE

U.S. Ships to Use the Panama Canal Without Being Assessed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The senate voted 1 to 1 shortly before midnight last night to give free tolls through the Panama canal to vessels engaged exclusively in the United States coastwise trade. This result came after nearly 12 hours of debate.

The vote came on a motion by Senator Theodore Burton of Ohio to strike from the Panama canal bill the clause which gives free tolls to coastwise shipping. Mr. Burton's motion failed, 44 to 11.

The vote was thought to be significant as foreshadowing a vote in favor of free tolls for all American shipping and a clear disregard of Great Britain's protest. The only change in the house bill provision giving free tolls to coastwise shipping was the insertion on motion of Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia of the qualifying word "exclusively," which limited the free tolls to vessels engaged "exclusively" in such trade.

This was adopted, 32 to 16. The senator from Georgia tried to have another amendment added requiring coastwise vessels to pay the cost of the actual operating expenses of the canal during their passage through without recourse upon the United States for damages resulting from injuries, due to accidents in the passage, but this was rejected.

Senator Cummins of Iowa declared that there was only one arbitrament by which the question of our right to give free tolls to American ships could be referred and that was "the sword."

He denied that it was a question for The Hague. Senator John Sharp Williams was quickened into action by this statement from the Iowa senator.

"I rise," said he, "solely to rebuke this cry of war. The senator would plunge the nation in a war and shed the blood of our citizens for what? A few paltry dollars represented by canal tolls."

Senator Cummins' speech furnished the thrill of the evening. He denied the application of arbitration to any question affecting the canal.

"While the United States is bound to charge no more than what is fair and equitable," he said, "the United States is to be the sole judge of what is fair and equitable."

The senator inquired if the United States was to be expected to arbitrate a question in which our 'very national life is concerned.'

He denounced the policy of those who objected to free tolls for American ships as "weak and cowardly." These advocates, he said, lack patriotism.

"They would deny to their country the right to protect itself and might destroy its honor among the nations of the world. A congress or an administration responsible for such a policy would go down in history followed by the detestations of a liberty-loving people."

Senator Burton made a brief and spirited speech in opposition to free tolls. He declared that the Senate should be the last agency of government to disregard treaty obligations.

In the course of the debate there was an interesting colloquy between Senator O'Gorman of New York and Senator Lippitt of Rhode Island over the question as to whether the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad has monopolized both land and water transportation in New England.

Senator Chamberlain of Oregon attacked the New Haven road as a monopoly and charged that the road not only dominated transportation by rail throughout all New England, but controlled navigation between Portland, Me., and New York.

Senator Lippitt came to the defence of the road. He insisted that while the New Haven controlled some of the steamship lines in Long Island sound, there were a large number of independent lines and competition was sharp.

Senator Lippitt, reinforced by Senator Page of Vermont, contended also that there is sharp competition with the New Haven road in the matter of transportation by rail on the part of the Grand Trunk.

Senator O'Gorman said that the information as to monopolization by the New Haven in New England had been supplied by the vice president of the railroad, who testified before a senate committee.

Senator Works was one of those who spoke on the canal bill. He contended that there could be no other construction of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty than that which permited the United Sates to give free passage to its own vessels and that any other interpretation would be unfavorable to our own interests. He believed the government should be honest in dealing with other nations. Mr. Works opposed the payment of tolls by the government.

"That would be nothing but rebating," he said, "and rebating is not very popular in this country."

Senator Chamberlain said that wherever doubt exists the problem should be solved in favor of the United States. For that reason he believed American vessels should be exampted from tolls.

HINKY DINK CLUB

HAD A GREAT TRIP TO REVERE TODAY

The "Hinky Dink club" held an outing today and it isn't necessary to say very much about it for everybody was on. About thirty of the members went to Revere beach in Jesse Trull's big automobile truck, the machine in which he transports his farm produce from the field to the city market. It's the biggest truck in this section of the country, and it was a jolly bunch of farmers that jumped aboard today and set sail for Revere. The machine was decorated with the national colors, and the "Hinky Dink club" members wore farmers' straw hats, nine cents a copy. Jesse Trull wanted to wear a cap but the Hinky Dinks wouldn't stand for it, and just for that Jesse had to tie his hat on with a hitch rope. The bunch was photographed in Paige street just before leaving for the beach, and if properly developed it will be some picture. The Hinky Dinks made certain that they would not be dry on the way, for they took along ten cases of spring water. If they are not arrested as suspicious characters the chances are they will have a bang-up time at the beach.

Terry Leonard has charge of the party and he is being ably assisted by Park Commissioner Alex. Rountree. While the big truck was standing in Bridge street a bonny lass hopped in and seating herself beside Johnnie Lee, gave Johnnie a little hug, and declared she was a farmer's girl. She was asked to sing, said she would, and this was it:

"I am a gay and laughing girl, just turning sweet sixteen,
As full of fun and frolic as any you have seen,
But when I am a woman grown, no
city beau for me,
If e'er I marry in my life, a farmer's
wife I'll be.
Let other girls who love it best, enjoy the dirty town,
The dusty streets and dingy walks to ramble up and down.
But flowery fields and sunny skies and shady woods for me,
If e'er I marry in my life, a farmer's
wife I'll be".

At the conclusion of this very pretty and appropriate little verse, for she was singing to the farmer heart, the dainty lady planted one on Johnnie's rosy cheek and slipped away with the agility of a Hanover ghost. It took three men to hold Johnnie.

THE SUCCESSFUL HOSTESS

You may have a dinner with the best appointment and cuisine, and if your guests are badly chosen the dinner will be a social failure.

Certain elements will not coalesce, and the woman who tries to force the process is courting an explosion. Choose guests as you would shoes—because they fit.

You may be catholic in your tastes and enjoy the butterfly without a brain and the woman who is all brain without social grace, the artist or musician, the snob who distrusts all the clever coterie, the man who loves a gay story and the woman who is easily shocked.

But gather those friends around a common board and you may count on their boredom.

Never seat your guests according to social position. The practice makes neither the dinner nor the hostess popular. If you put the socially unimportant together your entertaining will never be a success.

Custom has it that those who sit on the right and left of the host and hostess may feel themselves singled out for attention, but choose for reasons. Do not give your guests a chance to gibe at you as a money worshiper or one with an axe to grind.

Do not have dinners so large as to prevent general conversation. Not all who go out to dinners are blessed with manners, and the hostess should have it in her power to go to the rescue of the guest who is neglected by her neighbors.

Nor should your dinners be long or heavy. The day of dozens of courses is past. The most brilliant diner out finds it hard to shine when eating through an overelaborate menu.

Learn the art of switching the conversation. Many a dinner is wrecked because the hostess does not know how to stop an argument that is verging on controversy and has not the social sense to scent dangerous topics or sidetrack the bore.

Encourage brilliancy and gayety, but keep a sharp watch for wit that stings and jokes that tend to license.

LEACH CROSS WON FROM JACK O'BRIEN

He Came Near Securing a Knockout

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Leach Cross had the time of his life trying to put Young Jack O'Brien to sleep at the St. Nicholas A. C. last night, and only O'Brien's wonderful foot work carried him through safely to the end.

Cross won and might have scored a knockout if O'Brien hadn't held one of his arms in a vice-like grip all during the fight. As was expected, O'Brien made Cross miss a good deal, but when Leach did connect, he took a lot of steam out of O'Brien.

It was a furious fight from the beginning. Cross landed his famous right almost at the start, and though O'Brien looked like a beaten man, he managed to shake off the effects of the wallop and gave the fans a wonderful display of boxing. He fought Leach to a standstill and the crowd was in an uproar. Right back they went in the second and repeated the initial spat. O'Brien danced about and made Cross go his best. Leach landed his right but O'Brien was always going away with the punch. In the third Leach pulled his old possum trick of playing groggy, but O'Brien didn't fall into the trap. The next instant Cross was fighting as hard as ever.

The fourth was a bad round for O'Brien. Cross had him dizzy from rights to the jaw and body. O'Brien seemed tired from this round on. The early pace had been too much for him. He had a bad habit of holding some of Cross' gloves, and the referee was continually prying the two apart.

O'Brien made a good finish and had Leach missing a good deal. Cross was unmarked, while O'Brien's lip was badly cut.

Johnny Lore with five pounds advantage, gave Phil Cross the fight of his life. Lore dropped Phil as cold as a wedge in the second round, and that gentleman had to take the count of seven before the shooting stars had passed beyond his vision. Lore used a damaging right to the body throughout the entire fight, and, though Phil's knees sagged at times, he was always on top of his man. His willingness offset Lore's occasional right welts. It was a good, even thing.

KOSHER MARKETS

IN BOSTON WERE FORCED TO CLOSE

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—The opposition of the kosher butchers of Greater Boston to the newly opened co-operative kosher meat stores that are being organized under the auspices of the Mothers Protective Association, resulted yesterday in cutting off the meat supply for all of the co-operative stores, and the closing of over a dozen of the regular meat dealers for lack of trade.

A committee representing the butchers called upon the rabbis and claimed that if the co-operative plan was allowed to go on they would be driven out of business. The rabbis thereupon ordered the kosher slaughterers to kill no more meat and the co-operative stores in Boston, Chelsea and Malden were forced to shut down at noon, after selling all that they could get hold of—4000 pounds.

When the word of the forbidding of the killing of kosher meat became known, a committee of the co-operative backers waited on the rabbis and threatened them with prosecution by law if they did not rescind their order. What the result of this conference was is not known, but Simon Stone, in charge of the co-operative system, announced that there would be plenty of meat this morning.

Plans had been made for the opening this morning of two more stores, one in the West End and the other in Chelsea. The boycotters meanwhile declare that they will refuse to purchase any meat until the co-operative stores are reopened.

Very little business was done by the regular butchers, and the war between the boycotters and the dealers is becoming more bitter than ever.

MRS. PERKINS

COMPANION OF MRS. McNAMARA TO BE EXTRADITED

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Mrs. Cora L. Perkins, a companion of Mrs. Nicholas J. McNamara, wife of a San Francisco banker, who was arrested in this city a week ago at the request of the San Francisco police on a charge of larceny on a warrant obtained by McNamara, charging that she, together with Frederick H. Patterson, the McNamara's chauffeur, had been implicated in the theft of an automobile shipped from Portland, Ore., to New York, is to be extradited to California.

Nicholas J. McNamara, accompanied by a San Francisco detective, arrived at police headquarters yesterday, the latter carrying papers from the governor of California requesting that Mrs. Perkins and Patterson be turned over to him.

K. Henry Rosenberg, attorney for Mrs. Perkins said yesterday that he had been informed by the governor's secretary that extradition papers had been signed by Governor Hiss, and that neither he nor his client would fight the order. The lawyer said his client prefers to answer the charges in San Francisco, and after they have been heard she will institute an action against McNamara charging him with perjury in causing her arrest.

It is stated that McNamara is endeavoring to become reconciled with his wife, whom he passed in the train as she was returning to California, but that she will not accept his overtures. He was accompanied to New York by his seventeen-year-old daughter, Gladys.

HAVERHILL STRIKE IS ABOUT ENDED

Strike-Breakers Driven Out by Cutters

HAVERHILL, Aug. 8.—The police were called out to prevent trouble in the shoe district yesterday afternoon, following the arrival of 36 strike-breakers from New York.

The 350 block cutters employed by 30 leather remnant firms, who have been out on strike for four weeks, were holding a meeting at the time of the arrival of the strike-breakers at the headquarters of the I. W. W. at Socialist hall on Merrimac street. They were discussing negotiations for a settlement when informed of the arrival of the strike-breakers.

The meeting broke up in haste and the strikers hurried to the shoe district, where they swarmed into Phoenix row, near one of the factories where the strike has been on. Word was telephoned the police and a detail of 15 officers responded.

The strikers at the time were trying to enter the factory where the strike-breakers were assembled, and it was with much difficulty that they were driven away. They loitered about on Washington street for three hours and were not appeased until after 7 o'clock last night, when the strike-breakers left the city on a special electric for Boston.

The negotiations came near falling through, owing to the arrival of the strike-breakers.

The strike-breakers were paid $8.00 each and expenses and they at once prepared to return to New York. As they boarded their electric car they were cheered by the crowd of 500 strikers and their sympathizers.

Organizer Daniels and the leather remnant firms last night admitted that the strike was virtually settled and that the men will return to work either today or tomorrow.

The men before the strike were receiving from $8 to $13 per week and were working 50 hours. The employers refuse to recognize the I. W. W. in the settlement, but this has been waived by the officials of the union and the men will get a 54-hour week, thus securing a Saturday half-holiday, and an increase in wages averaging 10 per cent.

BILL IN EQUITY

TO RESTRAIN OWNERS OF A HOTEL

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Russell G. Fessenden and Frederic Parker, conservators of Henry Bigelow Williams, have filed a bill in equity in the Suffolk superior court against Gardiner H. Shaw, Anna A. Shaw, Mina E. Fritz and the International Trust company to establish a debt on a $6000 note which Mr. Williams is alleged to have taken from Mr. Shaw. Judge Morton has issued an order of notice returnable on Aug. 12. The plaintiffs ask that the defendants be restrained from disposing of the title in personal property in the Hotel Carlton at 1138 Boylston street.

On Feb. 1, 1908, Williams loaned Shaw $6000, and the latter gave a note secured by personal property in the Hotel Carlton. The $6000 received from Williams, it is claimed, was used by Shaw for improvements on the real estate and in the purchase of furniture and other things for the hotel. Through various transactions later, it is claimed, Gardiner H. Shaw became the holder of notes secured by mortgages on the property, and one of the notes is now in the hands of the trust company for collection.

DIED SUDDENLY

MAN PASSED AWAY IN WAGON SEAT

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Peter Conway, 60, single, whose home was at 1 Church place, Roxbury, died suddenly as he was driving on Heath street yesterday afternoon. Conway's horse trotted some distance with the dead man grasping the reins. When the animal finally stopped, of his own accord, James S. Cosgrove, of 1 Mulvey avenue, discovered Conway dead on the seat.

Conway was driving a livery rig from the John C. Thibault stable on Floyd street, where he was for many years an employe. The medical examiner has not yet reported the cause of the death.

THREE KILLED

WHEN WATER TANK FELL THROUGH THE ROOF

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 8.—Three girls were killed and a dozen badly injured late yesterday when a water tank on the top of the Union American Cigar company's building at 28th and Smallman streets fell through the roof and the sixth and fifth floors.

A score of other persons sustained minor injuries. The water tank was erected a few days ago and water was being pumped into it for the first time.

The dead are Agnes Niedzelska, aged 17; Iva Lawton, 17 and an unidentified girl, aged 20. Of the 12 young women seriously hurt it is believed a number will die.

When the supports gave way the tank, holding about 3000 gallons of water, plunged through the roof and the sixth floor and to the fifth, where were more than 150 employees, mostly girls. More than 500 other employees, working on lower floors heard the crash and screams and ran for the exits. Within a moment the stairways were choked with a struggling mass and many were hurt in this way.

Fire alarms were sounded and the firemen, aided by police, soon quelled the panic.

HERSCHEL-PARKER EXPEDITION

DAWSON, I. T., Aug. 8.—The four members of the Herschel-Parker expedition which explored the eastern slope of Mount McKinley and attained an altitude of 20,000 feet on the mountain, being turned back by a storm when near the summit, went to Seattle Monday. The party not only charted a large area now blank on the maps of that section, but succeeded in reaching the top of the great mountain by the northern or Muldrow glacier route.

MAN IS MISSING MURDER SUSPECTED

Two Men Placed Under Arrest

BIDDEFORD, Me., Aug. 8.—Kiamet Osman and Surie Osman, two Albanian brickmakers, who have been employed as ditch diggers by the New England Telephone company recently, were taken into custody yesterday afternoon by Chief of Police Thomas Stone, pending the search being made for Asis Thejuta, aged 35, a brickworker in the yards of the Saco Brick company.

Thejuta, who is an Albanian, left his boarding place last Sunday to make a short call on friends who live on Smith street, this city. He left the tenement in this city about 9 a. m., and he has not been seen or heard from since that time. His friends, and he has many among the foreign population, believe he is a victim of foul play.

City Marshal Justus Cobb of Saco, who was called into the case Tuesday, was inclined to believe at first that the man had run away, but after a rigid investigation he is inclined to the belief that the Albanian was murdered.

INSTANTLY KILLED

LYNN FOREMAN ELECTROCUTED WHILE STARTING MACHINERY

LYNN, Aug. 8.—Cecil M. Barlow, foreman in the testing department of the General Electric company plant in Lynn, was electrocuted there when he threw on the switch when the whistle blew at 7 o'clock yesterday morning to start the machinery over which he had charge. He was only 22 years of age and roomed at the Lynn Y. M. C. A. His home was at 70 Columbia avenue, Somerville.

Nobody witnessed the electrocution. His prostrate body was found on the floor near the switch a few minutes after he threw it on by a fellow-workman.

The body was carried to the hospital department of the works and Dr. Woodill called. He worked over the body for half an hour, injecting oxygen, trying artificial restoration and practically every means known to medical science, but not a sign of life could be detected. It is believed that he was instantly killed.

The mystery of it all is how he could have been electrocuted as the switch, like hundreds of others in the big plant, is safeguarded by every known means and young Barlow was thoroughly familiar with it.

RAIDED BY POLICE

BASEBALL GAMBLERS WERE PLACED UNDER ARREST

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—In the opening of a crusade to stop the gambling nuisance in front of baseball scoreboards, Sergt. Fitzgerald and a squad of officers from the Lagrange street station arrested six men in front of a bulletin board on Tremont street yesterday afternoon.

It was charged that the men were betting on the results of the game as posted and many complaints had been received at the Lagrange street station to the effect that a regular bookmaking business was constantly carried on there.

The officers mingled with the crowd in front of the board and listened to the talk of the men around them. At a signal from Sergt. Fitzgerald they seized Adolph Rottenburg, 23, of Cambridge; David McLean, 60, of Somerville; William J. Gilman, 28, of Tremont street; George J. Hoyt, 28, of West Newton street; D. J. Sullivan, 29, of Tremont street; and John J. Carter, 43, of Appleton street.

ALLEGED YEGG

WAS HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Only one of the men arrested by Patrolman Trainor of the East Dedham street station early yesterday morning during the fight in which the officer was compelled to shoot at his prisoners appeared in court yesterday. He was held under $2000 for the September grand jury on the charge of assault and battery, with intent to rob.

Harry Irwin of 804 East Third street, South Boston, was the man, while his pal, Joseph McMillan of 80 Shawmut avenue, is in the city hospital. McMillan, according to the hospital doctors, will be able to leave in about ten days and will then appear in court.

Trainor is still confined to his home.

WOMAN HAS BEEN AWAITING HANGMAN ELEVEN YEARS

READING, Pa., Aug. 8.—After spending more than 11 years in the Berks county prison under sentence of death for the murder of her husband efforts are about to be made to obtain a pardon for Mrs. Kate Edwards on the ground that she has made sufficient atonement.

The case of Mrs. Edwards is remarkable. Four governors of Pennsylvania have failed to take final action in fixing a day for the woman's execution, each governor having let the case rest in the files of his office.

Mrs. Edwards and a negro were convicted of first degree murder for the killing of her husband. Both were sentenced to be hanged and their cases were taken through all the state courts and repeatedly brought before the board of pardons.

The negro was finally freed, it having been shown that he did not commit the murder. The white woman, however, was refused a pardon. Shortly after her arrest a child was born to her in the county jail and was sent to a southern institution.

BODY RECOVERED

BRUNSWICK, Me., Aug. 8.—The mystery of the disappearance of Albion B. Dunning, aged 12, was cleared away today when word that his body had been found at Kings Ferry near Woolwich was received. He disappeared about 3 a. m. last Sunday morning from his home here and was traced to a point near the bridge over the Androscoggin river between Brunswick and Topsham. It is supposed he jumped into the river. Mr. Dunning had been in poor health for some time.

REBEL LEADER

EXCHANGED CARDS WITH MEXICAN MINISTER

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 8.—The reports that Rafael Hernandez, Mexican minister of Fomento, held a conference here yesterday with General Orozco, the rebel commander, have excited widespread interest.

General Orozco says there was an exchange of greetings between himself and Minister Hernandez early yesterday in which only cards were exchanged, but he and Hernandez were not within speaking distance of each other.

"There have been no overtures of peace," declared Orozco, "nor will there be unless President Madero resigns or his family is eliminated from the cabinet."

Hernandez last night denied he met Orezco, saying he had merely stopped in El Paso en route to California.

MAN GUILTY OF LARCENY ORDERED TO PAY FINE

He Had Posed As Prospective Purchaser of Property— Other Cases in Court

Fred Sandville, who has been posing as a prospective purchaser of property in the vicinity of Lowell and enjoying automobile rides with real estate men for the past few weeks came to the end of his rope last night when he was arrested on a warrant charging him with the larceny of $6 in money, the property of John A. and Edw. A. Simpson. After the arrest was made it was learned that Sandville had been living with a woman since he came to Lowell and this morning she was placed under arrest.

Sandville was arraigned in police court this morning on complaints charging him with the larceny of $6, and also lewd and lascivious cohabitation and the woman was charged with lewd and lascivious cohabitation. Each entered a plea of guilty and after the court had heard the evidence he found both guilty. The case of larceny was placed on file, but Sandville was given one year in jail on the more serious complaint.

The court after learning the woman's side of the story was disposed to be lenient with her and when Supt. Welch said he believed in giving the woman an opportunity to do better she was given a suspended sentence of six months in jail.

Sandville who resides in Bow, N. H., came to this city several weeks ago, went out to different real estate dealers and said he owned considerable property in Bow and wanted to dispose of it and purchase some place in the vicinity of Lowell. The real estate men saw a chance to make a good commission and day after day he was driven to various places looking for desirable property.

It appears that shortly after coming here he met the woman in the case.

The larceny of the $6 led to his arrest and when questioned last night he told one story and this morning when in court he told practically another story. Several times while testifying he contradicted himself.

Neglected His Family

Alfred Beland was charged with failing to provide for his wife and admitted that he was guilty but that he had been sick of late and was unable to do so. Mrs. Beland testified that her husband drank heavily and she received but very little money to support herself and five children. Beland was given a suspended sentence of six months in jail on condition that he pay his wife at least $8 every week.

Drunken Offenders

James P. Boyle, who put up such a battle with Patrolmen Dooley and Killoy when they arrested him yesterday and created a scene, pleaded guilty to drunkenness this morning, but asked to be given a chance to leave the city. Inasmuch as the police are not anxious to have him around Judge Enright gave him a suspended sentence of six months and advised him to leave Lowell as soon as possible.

John J. Mahoney was given a suspended sentence of four months in jail. Daniel J. Lynch was fined $6, and one first offender was fined $2.

CITY TEAMSTERS

WANT TO ENJOY PROTECTION OF CIVIL SERVICE

Attorney Carmichael filed a petition today in behalf of the union teamsters of the city. The teamsters petition the municipal council to make an appropriation for the registration of laborers in order that the laborers of Lowell may enjoy the right of being placed under the civil service laws. The petition was signed by Joseph J. Johnson, president, and Francis J. Kierce of the union teamsters.

The law is that in cities having a population of over 100,000 the city employes may request an appropriation from the municipal council and if this is granted they may be placed under the civil service laws.

At present the clerks and all other employes of the city with the exception of laborers, are protected by civil service laws. This is an advantage and would be particularly so to the laboring man who under the commission would no longer be forced to cater to politics and politicians that he may retain his position as is often the case.

Under the civil service laws, the positions would be filled by the more competent and deserving laborers and they would enjoy greater protection.

It is thought that the city council will make the appropriation and give the laborers of this city this added security.

LOST HIS JOB

DETECTIVE ACCUSED OF BEATING A BOY

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Mayor Bennett, of Asbury Park, N. J., appeared in the police court yesterday to defend a fourteen-year-old boy who had been severely beaten by Detectives Flay and Broderick. When the story of the boy and two witnesses had been heard the mayor ordered Flay to turn in his badge.

The mayor also assured the boy's mother and other interested spectators that the case would be prosecuted against Broderick, who could not be dismissed except on proven charges.

The boy, Silas Clark, appeared before Magistrate Borden with his left eye tightly closed. His face was black and blue and his lips puffed out. Flay asserted that he and Broderick had acted only in self defense when attacked by the boy and his brother Norman, who is but 13 years old.

"They sneered at us as dirty Jews," said the boy. "They demanded to know our names, and we told them. Then they knocked me down and threw me over a railing, and this man Flay held me down and punched me."

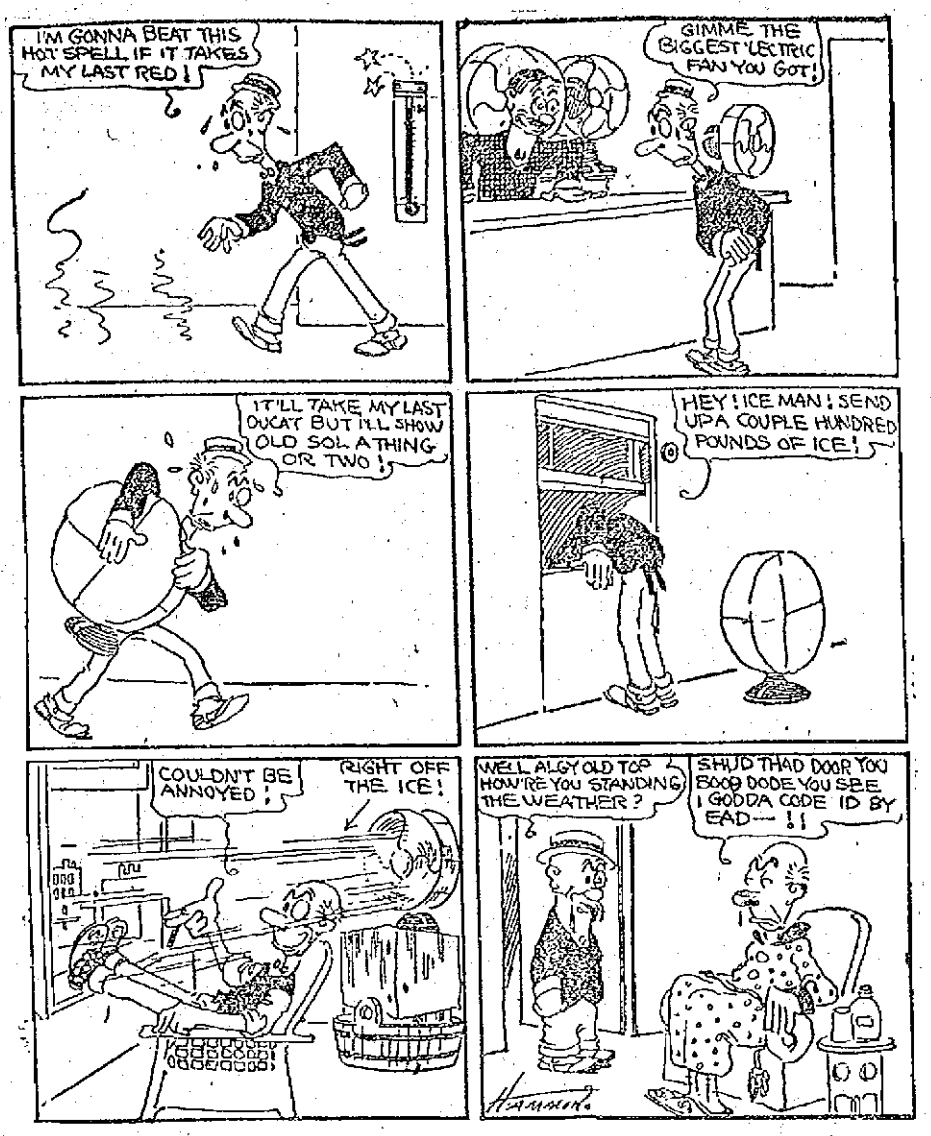
COOL REGARDLESS OF CONSEQUENCES



EX-SEN. LORIMER WANTS $125,000

To Pay the Expenses of the Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—William Lorimer startled the select committee of the senate that made the second investigation of the Lorimer case by presenting a bill for about $125,000 to reimburse him for expenses incurred in his unsuccessful fight to retain his seat in the senate. The committee was in executive session to consider the matter of its expenditures and make provision to pay them.

It has been the contention even of Lorimer's opponents that he should be reimbursed, at least in part, for the money he paid out in defending the case against him, but the committee was hardly prepared for such a bill as was presented yesterday. It is not at all likely that it will be paid.

One of the senators who voted to unseat Lorimer ventured the opinion that the Illinois politician will probably be allowed less than half the sum he claimed, or about $50,000. There have been reports that the two investigations cost Lorimer more than $200,000.

A proposal was made in the senate at one time to allow him $25,000 for counsel fees in the first investigation. This amount did not purport to be in full for all his expenditures in the first investigation. The senate rejected that proposal. In fact, it never came to a vote because Lorimer asked that it be withdrawn, declaring he would not accept the sum, but the account submitted to the senate committee yesterday was a voluntary claim put forward by Lorimer himself.

Next to the claim of Lorimer himself for reimbursement the most startling incident of the committee meeting was a claim for $30,000 presented by John J. Healy of Chicago, who was retained as one of the counsel for the senate committee. Mr. Healy's associate John M. Marble of Washington, did not make any definite claim, but left the matter of the adjustment of his pay to the committee. The committee voted to give each of the lawyers $10,000 in full settlement of their services.

There was plenty of murmuring over the bills that came in. The stenographers' bills were large and were ordered pruned. A special application will have to be made to the senate to pay the Lorimer bills, as there is not enough money in the contingent fund to meet them.

Senator Dillingham, chairman of the committee, was authorized to make up a complete list of the claims, after which the committee will consider them and decide what it will pay and then ask for an appropriation.

Just what it cost the United States government to oust Lorimer is not known definitely yet, but it will be a large amount.

LAWN PARTY

An enjoyable lawn party was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. Edwin Whitcomb in Varnum avenue under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society of the Coburn mission. There were about one hundred people present during the evening and the various booths on the lawn were well patronized.

The success of the affair was due to the efforts of the social committee of the society which is composed of Carrie Whitcomb, chairman; Ernest Hartman, Minnie Scott, Ralph Tewksbury, Malissa Rolfe and Pearl Corey.

YACHTSMEN RELEASED

KIEL, Germany, Aug. 8.—The five English yachtsmen who were arrested recently on the charge of espionage were released today. They were accused of taking photographs of important points along the Schleswig-Holstein coast, including the harbors and bays. The police admit now that the suspected men seem only to have been guilty of foolhardy photography.

CORNER GROCERY FEARS CONSOLIDATION

Report of the N. Y. State Food Commission

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The conclusion reached by the state food investigating commission's committee on market prices and costs that wholesalers, retailers and private organizations should move toward the development of the large retail unit or food department store as one of the means of reducing the high cost of living is not pleasing to the average corner grocery store proprietor, and there are 11,000 of them in Greater New York.

The committee said in its recent report of its investigations in this city and other municipalities in the state, that the food department store, buying direct, receiving direct and selling direct, was the best of the distributing agencies in point of efficiency, minimum of waste, satisfactory distribution and due rewards for management and capital. The committee said it had been suggested that producers and consumers organize a corporation to control and manage a system of such markets and that the preliminary financing might be undertaken by the state.

"I'd like to know where we would be if a chain of grocery stores and food department stores became all the rage?" asked one indignant corner store man. "We would go out of business. That's all there would be to it. None of us is making any real money now as the result of the bad habit our customers are getting into of buying their supplies direct from these stores. They are crowding us to the wall, and what would happen if the municipality or state took a notion into its head of going into the grocery business on a gigantic scale is something I don't like to think about."

"Of course the corner store grocer would go out of business," said a representative of one of the kind of stores that the markets' investigators favor, "if such a scheme could be put in operation, but everything is being consolidated nowadays and in time the corner grocer will have to go."

A food department store handles almost all kinds of foodstuffs, including meats, and the retail butcher is feeling the effects of the enormous amount of steaks, roasts and other things that are being daily sold over the meat block on the 'steenth floor of the up-to-date markets. There are more than 6000 retail meat shops in this city, and their owners, it is said, are feeling very anxious about the success of the new fangled retail butchers.

The pushcart man—he numbers beprospects of a monopoly of the food business—is also disturbed over the prospects of a monopoly of the good supply trade by the food department stores.

Washington market butchers say that the prospects indicate that there will be no reduction in the price of beef this summer. It is now so high that many housewives pass the stands with their eyes looking the other way. They go to the fish stands to get a substitute for meat and when they ask questions about prices they walk straight out of the market and the family gets beans or something else for supper.

The raising of the retail price of eggs two cents has also given the housekeeper something to think about and the egg dealers are putting all the blame on the hen. They say that at this time of the year she is beginning to attend strictly to business of moulting and consequently she hasn't time to provide material for omelets and other things.

THE PROGRESSIVES MAKING PLANS

To Capture the State Committee

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—The prospects of the Charles S. Baxter republican progressives and the regulars harmonizing on the organization of the committees of the republican state convention are excellent, but the progressives propose to endeavor to capture the state committee in the September primaries.

The progressives remaining in the party held a meeting yesterday afternoon and a committee of conference reported that Charles E. Hatfield, chairman of the republican state committee, was agreeable to admitting the progressives to membership in the convention committees.

A week ago the progressives selected Charles S. Baxter, Charles L. Burrill and Daniel W. Lane to submit to Chairman Hatfield the proposition that men identified with the progressive wing of the party be given representation upon the committees of the state convention, and also that a progressive be considered for chairman of the convention.

This committee yesterday afternoon reported that Chairman Hatfield was disposed to agree that the progressives were sufficiently strong numerically to entitle them to share in the convention organization. The committee announced that Mr. Hatfield said that he believed the progressives should have places on all committees, and that he should urge that view upon the state committee. The committee suggested that probably the progressives would be consulted by the state committee in all matters connected with the state convention.

The conference committee was urged by resolution to impress upon the state committee the necessity for the adoption of strong progressive planks in the platform, including declarations in favor of progressive candidates.

Inasmuch as the progressives wish to control the republican state committee, the meeting yesterday appointed Charles S. Baxter and Representative John H. Cogswell of Lynn to scrutinize the list of candidates for the committee and report the names of those who are progressives and who could properly be supported by the Baxter faction. In each district where no pledged progressive candidate is in the field, the committee was instructed to see to it that a recognized progressive was induced to become a candidate.

A committee is still engaged in preparing a platform to be submitted to the association of progressive republicans.

BORDER FIGHTING

BETWEEN THE TURKS AND ALBANIAN TRIBESMEN

CETTINJE, Montenegro, Aug. 8.—Border fighting between the Turks and guerilla bands of Albanian tribesmen continues along the Montenegrin frontier. A severe engagement occurred yesterday, the result of which is not known.

The Turkish frontier troops, which have been strongly reinforced, again crossed the Montenegrin border yesterday and were once more repulsed.

NO COMPROMISE

HONOLULU, Aug. 8.—"No compromise" was the decision last night by each side of the strike that has tied up the seven vessels of the Inter-Island S.S. Co. Representatives of the steamship company say the real principles involved in the question of the closed shop rules to the steamship business. The strike is costing the steamship company $5000 a day. Postal officials cabled today, asking instructions from Washington as to the handling of the mails tied up between Honolulu and the other islands because of the strike.

THE DARROW TRIAL EXCITES GREAT INTEREST

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 8.—The alleged connection among the men who blew up the Times building in Los Angeles and the culpability of Job Harriman, socialist attorney, overshadowed the main issue when the bribery trial of Clarence Darrow was resumed today. Judge Hutton was expected to rule today on the admissibility of testimony by Edward A. Cantrell, another socialist leader, which the prosecution declared would serve the double purpose of impeaching Harriman and showing him as having had guilty knowledge of the perpetrators of the Times explosion. Cantrell and Harriman broke up their friendship some months ago. The impeachment question, which had been denied by Harriman and which was expected to be answered in the affirmative by Cantrell should the court permit it, contained in substance the following allegations:

That Harriman had said to Cantrell on the morning of Oct. 1 at San Luis Bispo, Cal. "By ——, Cantrell, the Times building has been dynamited and something like 20 people killed." That Harriman had taken Cantrell to his room in a hotel, locked the door and then burst into a fit of laughter after which Cantrell said: "What does it mean?" That Harriman replied that it "means the boys are on the job." That a few minutes later Harriman said: "I have known for some time that preparations were being made to pull off the job" and that in the resulting conversation Harriman told Cantrell that he had been in consultation with the plotters and had begged them to postpone the matter until after the state socialist convention. That Cantrell at the time was socialist candidate for secretary of state and last fall he ran for member of the board of education on the ticket which Harriman headed as candidate for mayor.

According to Harriman, Cantrell was his ardent supporter and warm friend until a recent split among the California socialists, when he became a bitter enemy.

TOBACCO PLOT

GROWERS COMPLAIN OF CONSPIRACY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Tobacco growers of Virginia, Tennessee and Western Kentucky have been suffering for many months from what appears to be a conspiracy on the part of the buyers of tobacco for foreign governments to depress the price and prevent growers from obtaining a fair return for their product.

A fixed price is offered by these agents which is uniform in all tobacco-growing states for the same grade of product. There is no competition in bidding, and the growers are compelled to accept whatever is offered. France particularly, where the government contains a monopoly in tobacco, is a large buyer of certain grades.

So general has the complaint of growers become that at the instance of Sen. Martin, of Virginia, the senate today passed a bill creating a commission consisting of three senators and three representatives to investigate the conditions under which foreign governments purchase American grown tobacco.

The purpose is declared to be to discover whether there is an understanding or arrangement of any sort among these governments to keep down the price of tobacco and compel growers to accept the bids offered.

GOVERNOR WILSON'S ACCEPTANCE

Governor Wilson's speech of acceptance is a very conservative document, but at the same time thoroughly democratic and progressive in spirit. He does not make any reckless statements. He keeps to the democratic platform and expands its principles so as to show their application to the prevailing abuses of the hour. Two great things are to be done, says Governor Wilson. These are to set up the rule of justice and of right in such matters as the tariff and other economic questions, and the other is the great task of protecting our people and our resources and of keeping open to the whole people the doors of opportunity. In the latter is implied the necessity of conservation of our resources and of building up a merchant marine competent to take care of our commerce in a manner that will promote our interests in competition with other nations.

Governor Wilson deals with the Payne-Aldrich tariff law as the most conspicuous example of special favors and monopolistic advantages ever offered by the republican party in return for party service and campaign contributions. The governor will start the work of revision with the schedules that most obviously kill competition and that are most likely to increase the cost of living. His policy on the tariff is thoroughly sound and sensible. He would not have the changes made so as to disturb business or to threaten the employment of the thousands who have to depend upon such factories for their living.

Speaking of the working people of America, Mr. Wilson says: "They are the backbone of the nation. No law that safeguards, that improves the physical and moral conditions under which they live, that makes their hours of labor rational and tolerable, that gives them freedom to act in their own interest, and that protects them where they cannot protect themselves, can properly be regarded as class legislation or as anything but a measure taken in the interest of the whole people, whose partnership in right action we are to establish and to make real and practical."

Apart from his treatment of the tariff, the strong point in Mr. Wilson's speech is his appeal for measures to build up a merchant marine, claiming that without a merchant marine we cannot take our rightful place in the commerce of the world. Our industries, he says, cannot find a free outlet to the markets of the world unless they be given ships of their own to carry their goods, ships that will put American interests foremost in their sailing orders and their equipment. Our registry laws and the tariff he holds as well devised to put our flag off the seas, and to reverse this policy he would change both and build and purchase ships in competition with the world.

In the Philippines as at home we are to set up the rule of justice and of right which in this case means that whatever arrangement of government shall be most serviceable to the people may be made for their benefit and having started them on the right path to freedom and development our duty to the islands is ended.

It would appear that Governor Wilson in this speech has been particularly cautious not to make any statement that would give his opponents an opportunity to criticize him. In this he has certainly succeeded.

THE MONTESSORI METHOD

The whole world is deeply interested in the methods of instruction by which it is alleged Dr. Maria Montessori can teach weak-minded children so that they can pass examinations in reading and writing equal to those of normal children. If what is claimed for the Montessori system be true, it is really remarkable and is bound to revolutionize some of the present methods of teaching young children. This method is said to be a development of the science of child-psychology based upon the works of Wundt. The teacher in this system merely observes and directs and hence she is called the "directress."

The method originated in the infant schools established by Dr. Montessori at Rome, the pupils being the children of parents who had to work during the day. The system has been widely observed by teachers and is found to be an ingenious modification of the kindergarten system founded by Froebel.

Indeed, it is quite probable that Dr. Montessori attains her success from carrying the kindergarten methods to more advanced years, thus discovering that the methods devised to promote muscular coordination and sense perception in small children are equally successful when skillfully used with those of more advanced years. We are inclined to believe, however, that the accomplishments of the Montessori system have been overstated and that its efficacy depends mainly upon the art and personality of the "directress."

THE WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT

The operation of the workmen's compensation act seems to be giving the greatest satisfaction. During the first eighteen days in which it was in force, the fatal accidents averaged one a day, while altogether over 3000 accidents were reported to the industrial accident board. These were settled automatically by the act except in a few cases in which the employer is exempt from blame. Under the old system long and tedious litigation would be engaged in to secure damages and in the long run the lawyers would be the only parties benefited. It is expected that defects will appear in the act; but these can be easily remedied. As it stands today, it is doubtful if either employer or employe would care to go back to the old system.

VERMONT AND MAINE

Vermont and Maine will hold their state elections within a few weeks. Much interest will centre in these elections, as straws indicative of New England political sentiment. Maine which gave Taft a majority four years ago has since become democratic and has elected two United States senators. Vermont is uniformly republican, but with the division caused by the Roosevelt bolt it is not unlikely that Wilson will carry both states this year.

Many of the store clerks who are idle on Thursday afternoons during the vacation season would like to spend a portion of their leisure hours in the city library reading-room perusing books and magazines; but as the library is also closed on that afternoon they are deprived of this opportunity. Why not close the library on some other afternoon?

The plot deepens in the Rosenthal case; but the probability is, that the whole truth will come out before the detectives have finished their work.

PREPARING FOR THE FAIR

SEEN AND HEARD

J. Ogden Armour, defending packing house methods at a luncheon in Chicago, said:

"We eat, thanks to the packers, more wholesome meat than we formerly did. My father used to tell a story about a farm boy who once called at a house and took an order for a leg of mutton. Then a day or two later the boy called again.

"'You'll have to countermand that mutton order, ma'am,' he said.

"'Yes? Why so?'

"'The shep's improvin,' said the boy."

Dr. Edward A. Alderman, the president of the University of Virginia, tells this story, illustrating the importance of being careful in criticism:

"I knew of a certain instructor in rhetoric who always impressed upon his students the necessity of clarity in what they wrote. A young man brought on one occasion a carefully prepared essay.

"'A good piece of work,' said the instructor, 'but Mr. Smith, you should remember to write every sentence so that the most ignorant person can understand every word you put down.'

The young man looked worried and asked anxiously;

"'What part of my essay was not clear to you, professor?'"

FOR HIM WHO WAITS

Everything comes in its own good time;
It is we who get in a hurry.
The wires get crossed and our hearts grow sad
With watching and waiting and worry.
To have and to hold of worldly goods,
Or winning a common living,
Absorbs of our time a greater share
Than all of our schemes of giving.

Everything comes to the one who waits,
Save the things we dread from habit.
Some have a way of catching cold
As a boy might catch a rabbit.
Some have a way of looking down,
No matter how bright the weather;
They seem at a loss to understand
Why troubles all come together.

Everything comes our way in time,
Whether we're brave or shrinking.
Comes in about the way we shape
Our habits of life and thinking.
Lives that are lived in a stress of pain
Cannot be blithe or cheery,
While the heart that sings in its love of song
Will never of singing weary.

Everything comes to us all in time—
Money and health and station.
None are so small but they have a right
To to the bounty of all creation.
A right? Why, yes, there's a place on top
For the best in every calling;
The fellow who climbs without looking down
Need never have fear of falling.

—Alwyn M. Thurber.

MID-SUMMER DAYS AND NIGHTS

With a ripple of leaves and a tinkle of streams
The full world rolls in a rhythm of praise
And the winds are one with the clouds and beams—
Mid-Summer days! Mid-Summer days!
The dusk grows vast; in a purple haze,
While the west from a rapture of sunset nights,
Faint stars their exquisite lamps upraise—
Mid-Summer Nights! O Mid-Summer nights!

The wood's green heart is a nest of dreams;
The lush grass thickens and springs and sways;
The rathe wheat rustles, the landscape gleams,—
Mid-Summer days! Mid-Summer days;
In the stilly fields, in the stilly ways,
All secret shadows and mystery lights,
Late lovers murmur and linger and gaze—
Mid-Summer Nights! O Mid-Summer nights!

There's a music of bells from the trampling teams,
Wild skylarks hover, the gorses blaze,
The rich ripe rose as with incense steams—
Mid-Summer days! Mid-Summer days!
A soul from the honeysuckle strays,
And the nightingale as from prophet heights
Sings to the Earth of her million Mays—
Mid-Summer Nights! O Mid-Summer nights!

Envoy

And it's O, for my dear and the charm that stays—
Mid-Summer days! Mid-Summer days!
It's O, for my Love and the dark that plights—
Mid-Summer Nights! O Mid-Summer nights!

—W. E. Henley.

GRANGE MEETING AT CANOBIE LAKE

Large Attendance Enjoyed Day's Outing

Canobie Lake park was yesterday the scene of a very large gathering, the occasion being the annual grange meeting of the Essex and Middlesex counties. There were nearly 1000 people present representing all granges from the state and many from other states.

The grangers passed the morning in renewing old acquaintances and holding little informal reunions, while the afternoon was spent with a business meeting and sports. Among the speakers at the afternoon reunion were the following:

Hon. Oliver Wilson of Peoria, Ill., the master of the national grange; Charles M. Gardner, state master; Edward E. Chapman, state overseer; E. D. Howe, past master, and Mr. Ira J. Webster, past county master.

A basket dinner was enjoyed on the green and at the close of the meal Mr. Chapman called to order and introduced Mr. Gardner as toastmaster. This was followed by the singing of the grangers' national song, "Old Glory Song."

The roll call showed that 45 granges were being represented from four states, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont and Illinois. Deacon Glover of Danvers gave two humorous recitations and he was followed by E. D. Howe, who gave an address entitled "The Reflections of a Modern Hayseed."

A quartet composed of the following: Mr. G. F. S. Webster, Miss Elizabeth Webster, Mrs. F. E. Hall of Haverhill and Mrs. B. W. Farnham of Andover rendered several beautiful selections during the afternoon.

The address of the day was delivered by Mr. Wilson, master of the national grange, who spoke in part as follows:

"The band of fraternity which is represented in our granges has bound the farmers of our country together in bonds of alliance and friendship in which sectional and all other lines of demarcation have been erased. The granges also have stood from their formation for certain great principles, education, co-operation and a striving for better social and political conditions in our country.

"Today the farmer needs a better education than did the farmer of yesterday but at the same time the education he needs is somewhat different from that usually offered to him in our schools and colleges. The modern farmer must be a scientific farmer, a botanist, that he may understand the growth of plants, a chemist, that he may understand the nature of the soil he tills, and an entomologist, that he may understand the insect foes which threaten to destroy his crops. And so on down through the sciences, each has its contribution for him.

"And now for the co-operation. The department of agriculture has just published a report which shows that the produce of the farm for which the farmer gets $6, the consumer pays $13, a very considerable difference. Now the problem of the cost of living is a great problem today and by cooperation between the farmer and the consumer, that great principle for which our granges stand will be solved in a very satisfactory manner to both parties. But there is the merchant, some might say. Well, what of it? I think that we could support him in the poor house a lot cheaper than we have been supporting him for the last few years.

"The third great principle we stand for is that of social and political betterment. We have stood for these things stoutly from the very start and we have yet to meet failure. Every measure we have fought for has been won or is still pending. We won the free rural mail delivery, the making of the department of agriculture into a cabinet position, the postal savings bank, laws guaranteeing the direct election of senators and many other similar measures. And we are fighting to have farmers and business men put in our political offices instead of the lawyers who now seem to be the only men eligible. Lawyers are all right in the courts, but as law-makers they should never be put over us. As interpreters of the law they are a necessary evil, but as makers of laws they have proven themselves failures and unworthy of our trust. Let us have the farmers and business men in their places."

The program of speeches was closed with a very interesting address by Mr. Chapman. This was followed by a baseball game between the North Andover grangers' nine and a picked team, the latter winning by a score of 11 to 5.

The granges represented at the meeting were the following: Amesbury, Andover, Bradford, Haverhill, Tewksbury, Laurel of West Newbury, Merrimack, Methuen, Newbury, Newburyport, North Andover, Byfield, Salisbury, West Boxford, West Newbury, West Gloucester, Ipswich, Topsfield, Boxford, Danvers, Beverly, Hamilton in Wenham, West Peabody, Windham, N. H., Billerica, Acton, Wilmington, Nashua, N. H., Westford, Framingham, Salem, N. H., Enterprise, N. H. Dracut, South Royalton, Chelmsford, Hudson, N. H., Groton, Wachusetts of Leominster, Pelham, N. H., Westfield, Marlborough, Ludlow, Reliance of North Salem, N. H., and Magnolia, Illinois, the representations from each grange varying from two to 10.

Mr. Ira J. Webster of Haverhill, past county master, had charge of the general arrangements of this field meeting.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of Butler Ames camp, U. R. K. P., was held last night. There was a good sized attendance of members and considerable routine business was transacted. The resignation of Capt. Harry Bowen was read and accepted. Mr. Bowen having been elected major of the second battalion of the 1st Mass. brigade. Details of the new uniforms were talked over and an invitation was read from the New Hampshire brigade to attend camp at Manchester Aug. 31 to Sept. 3.

THE TRIP TO CALIFORNIA UNDER SPECIAL CARE

"You feel like sorting out and tying together the memories of this trip and keeping them separate from all other trips." A woman recently said this after a pleasant experience on a Burlington Route Through Tourist Car Excursion party to California. She traveled alone, but met many agreeable people on the car, which was in charge of a special conductor. This good natured official was a well-informed, courteous man who went all the way through with the party, looking after everyone's comfort and attending to all the little details of the trip. Thus a woman or child in one of these parties can travel with perfect safety and freedom from care. If you would like to know more about the Burlington's comfortable and inexpensive personally conducted excursions, please write me a postal and I'll send you maps, booklets, pictures, etc., by return mail. ALIENATION CHARGE AGAINST ARTIST

Brooks Reed is Made Defendant

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Brooks Reed of Maynard, proprietor of a fashionable art gallery at 13 Arlington street, Back Bay, has been made the defendant in a $10,000 alienation-of-affections suit brought by Garnet W. Stanley of Technology Chambers, who is employed by the Adams Express Company in its South station office.

Reed was indignant last night.

"I hardly know this man Stanley's wife," he declared. "I met her casually and saw her a few times after that. I did not even know she was married until last January. After that I never saw her."

Stanley says different. "I have a complete case," he said last night. "I intend to fight it to a finish if it takes 20 years and my last cent."

In the meantime, the cause of the contention, Marie Agnes Stanley, is living with her mother at the Hotel Balfour, 28 Westland avenue. The Stanleys lived at 32 Sudan street, Dorchester, before they separated. They have a 5-year-old daughter Doris, who is staying with Mr. Stanley's mother at present.

Brooks Reed is well known among Boston artists. The gallery on Arlington street of which he is proprietor is the repository of many valuable old masters, some of which are almost priceless. He is married, living with his wife in Maynard.

The 5-year-old daughter of the Stanleys will figure prominently in the proceedings. The question of her custody, raised by the parents, was before Judge Grant in the probate court a short time ago. Action was then indefinitely postponed.

The child has been with its mother at Winthrop until recently, where Mrs. Stanley has been staying with her mother, Mrs. Wallace.

As a preliminary to the court proceedings, Upton & Harvey, attorneys for the plaintiff, have attached accounts of Brooks Reed at the Bay State Trust Company and at the Alphabet bank at Maynard.

Mrs. Stanley is a petite blonde, more than ordinarily prepossessing. Her mother said yesterday that she had been forced to go to the country until fall on account of failing health.

Stanley, when seen last night at his apartments in Technology Chambers, would not make a denial of a rumor that the affair might end in a divorce court. The plaintiff has many friends in society circles.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley were married eight years ago.

WORCESTER MAN

SAYS THAT HIS WIFE IS NOT A SUICIDE

WORCESTER, Aug. 8.—Max Biller declared last night that he does not believe his wife intentionally took the dose of cyanide of potassium which caused her death last Thursday.

"I have searched the house everywhere and there isn't any more cyanide or anything out of which the poison could have been taken," Mr. Biller told a reporter.

"I am positive my wife had no intention of ending her life," was his positive assertion. "She knew I had forgiven her for running off with my brother and she seemed happy and contented back in our home here. If she took the poison herself, what became of the container out of which the cyanide came? Why didn't she say something to our little daughter, or leave some kind of a written message? Why did she close the window in the bedroom, when she went in to lie down, and say she was afraid of taking cold?

"If my brother Emile had only kept away from the house, as I ordered him, my poor wife would be here now. I would give all I possess to find him and ask him what happened that Thursday during the few minutes he was here before Emma died."

JUDGE SPEER

DECLARES THAT HE IS NOT FLEEING NORTH

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—United States Judge Emory Speer, who arrived in Boston a few days ago from Savannah, announced through his Boston attorneys yesterday that he left Macon not through fear of injury to himself or family, owing to his order for the arrest of Col. W. A. Huff, ex-mayor of Macon for contempt of court, but to spend his prearranged and long contemplated annual vacation at Yarmouth, N. S.

It had been stated erroneously that the justice hurriedly left Macon under the protection of deputy United States marshals, following his order to arrest Col. Huff. No marshals or guards escorted Judge Speer or his family to the Savannah docks or accompanied him on his trip to Boston.

Letters and telegrams, now in the hands of his Boston attorneys, show that weeks before the trial of Huff Judge Spear arranged for transportation by rail and water and engaged a suite of rooms for himself and family at the Grand Hotel, Yarmouth, N. S. Another letter under date of July 23 emphatically attests that Judge Speer was, prior to that date, planning his vacation trip.

This letter was sent by the justice to Secretary of State Knox, asking a letter of introduction to the Lieutenant-Governor of Canada, and on July 27 he received an answer to his request and in it a letter of introduction to the American consul at Halifax, requesting the latter to extend all possible courtesies to Judge Speer.

CHARLES W. MORSE

REPORTED TO BE HEAD OF ICE TRUST AGAIN

ALBANY, Aug. 8.—A mortgage just filed in the Rensselaer county clerk's office would indicate that Charles W. Morse, the financier recently released from the Federal prison at Atlanta "because he was in a dying condition," is again about to assume absolute control of the American Ice company.

The mortgage is for $6,500,000, and is made out jointly by the American Ice company and the Knickerbocker Ice company, the Ice Manufacturing company and the Knickerbocker Ice company of Philadelphia, to the Pennsylvania company for the insurance on lives and granting annuities.

It was shown at the time that the insurance company had already advanced $3,000,000, for which they had taken 5 per cent. five-year gold bonds and on which a tax of $7,063.79 had been paid to the state.

Deeds have also been filed in the Albany county clerk's office transferring from the Hudson River Towing company to the Washington Ice company properly on Baergens Island for $70,000; also a deed transferring the same property from the Washington to the Knickerbocker Ice company for the same amount.

Inquiry about these deeds revealed the fact that they were several years old and had not previously been filed. It was then brought out that experts representing the Pennsylvania Insurance company and the Charles W. Morse interests had been at work in Albany and Rensselaer counties for some weeks past.

This would seem to indicate that the ice trust, with Charles W. Morse at its head, was to take on a new lease of life and enter more actively into the business of housing and husbanding ice from the Hudson and contiguous rivers.

FELL TO FLOOR

MAN DIED OF BROKEN BACK AND BROKEN NECK

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Simply by falling his length on the floor, an exceedingly brittle unidentified man about 40 years of age, died of a broken back and a broken neck in the lodging house of Israel Stillman, at 168 Merrimack street, shortly after 10 o'clock last night.

The man, who was about 5 feet 8 inches in height, weight about 160 pounds, dark complexion and dressed in a dark serge suit, entered the lodging house and ascended the stairs to the second landing.

Here he spoke to Rebecca Stillman, daughter of the lodging house keeper, and asked her if she had any rooms to rent. As he spoke he stepped back and toppled over onto the floor.

The police ambulance was called, and at the Relief station Dr. Fay discovered that he had a fractured spine and that his neck was broken.

New Remedy Has Great Success

Considerable attention has been aroused at the tremendous success and astonishing cures made by the new remedy Var-ne-sis now being introduced in Lowell by Mr. W. A. Varney of Lynn, Mass. Testimonials from grateful people in Lowell and in fact all over New England have been coming in so fast that Mr. Varney was compelled to issue a little book giving their experience in their own words. Stories full of human interest that tell of the struggle to regain health, the terrible suffering that some have to undergo before obtaining relief, and the fortunes spent in their search for health, —all are told in this little book.

A few cases taken at random tell their own story, and probably you know some of them. The first case is that of Mrs. Frank J. Spooner who lives at 10 Coral street, city. Suffered for over 20 years with rheumatism and stomach trouble, so bad that she was unable to move about the house without assistance, joints distorted and large bunches on them the size of marbles. Could not eat anything without distress and today she is a well woman greatly to the surprise of her friends. One would have to see this woman to appreciate her case for it is considered one of the most remarkable ever brought to the attention of the public.

Mr. J. E. Willet suffered for over 20 years with rheumatism, so bad that he had to hold on to the bed in order to dress. Now entirely cured by Var-ne-sis and his address is 251 Moody street.

Another astonishing case is that of Officer George B. Palmer whose address is 23 18th street. Suffered for 25 years with dyspepsia and indigestion. Had to be very careful of his diet and was unable to eat fried food, pastry, rich foods or drink any coffee. Also had rheumatism and kidney trouble. After trying everything else Var-ne-sis cured him of every sign of the old trouble and today he is one of the healthiest men on the police force. Many more could be given but the Var-ne-sis physician is at the Dows' drug store every day from 10 in the morning to 5 at night, to give free advice to all who call. For those who live out of town it is said that all druggists sell Var-ne-sis. Don't take a substitute. If you have any trouble write to his headquarters here.

HOW THIN PEOPLE MAY PUT ON FLESH

Great Discovery by Eminent Specialist.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing the arms, neck and bust and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness, and it therefore gives us great pleasure to publish herewith a simple prescription which, by correcting faulty metabolism and stimulating the activity of certain, sluggish vital organs, quickly produces a marvelous transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently averaging from 4 to 5 pounds the first week, and very rarely less than 2. This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Catarrh, dyspepsia and nervousness, which nearly always accompanies excessive thinness, all gradually disappear; dull eyes become bright and pale cheeks glow with a bloom of perfect health.

The prescription, which contains no dangerous drugs and is absolutely harmless, calls for 2 oz. Tincture Cardamoms Compound, 2 oz. Fluid of Saltogyn, 2 oz. Elixir of Calisaya and enough water to fill an 8-oz. bottle, and can readily be prepared by any druggist. One or two tablespoonfuls should be taken about 20 minutes before each meal. Eat all you want, but chew your food thoroughly.

(CAUTION: Although the above prescription is unequaled for relieving nervousness, indigestion and catarrhal troubles, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.)

AGREEABLE TO HER.

Frank—How'd you like to sign with me for life's game?

Maude—I'm agreeable. Where's your diemond?

THE WAY.

Charlie—When I had money she used to think that nothing was too good for me.

George—And now?

NOTHING DOING.

Willie—Well, if you want to know, it's three cents, but you can't work me fer passes just because you come 'round to call on sis, and burn our gas.

NOTHING LEFT.

She—Why didn't you get seats for us instead of standing?

He—Well, I bet all I had on the game, and if I win we will sit at all the rest of the games this season.

His friends were Joseph A. Sullivan, of the North End, New Bedford, James Bowen and John Durtin. Mr. Sullivan is one of New Bedford's best known citizens, and he is a man of affairs with some politics mixed in. He is not the kind who shout their political preferences and ambitions from the housetops. He believes in doing things quietly and allows that a calm tone of voice has greater weight and greater influence than the shout. CENTENARY OF KRUPP WORKS

ESSEN, Germany, Aug. 8.—The German emperor arrived here today by special train accompanied by a large retinue, including his brother, Prince Henry of Prussia, to take part in the celebration of the centenary of the foundation of the great Krupp works.

The city was in gala attire. After the emperor had been welcomed by the mayor and the municipal councillors he proceeded to the administrative buildings where the head of the firm welcomed him in a speech to which the emperor responded briefly concluding by asking all present to join in three cheers for the firm of Krupp.

EXCISE PROWLERS TO CLOSE RESTAURANTS

Suspected of Violating the Law

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Commissioner W. W. Farley of the State Excise department said yesterday that he would make New York his headquarters for several months and push the campaign against violators of the liquor law. His inspectors will keep on the trail of the offenders and before he is through Mr. Farley expects to close up a number of cafes and restaurants and to have several persons fined.

"It took us nearly three months to clean up Albany," and it probably will take fully that long to finish what we have started in New York. We have the places pretty well sized up now and after this our work will be to keep a watch on them and make sure that they are not lapsing.

"The news that I am in town is pretty well noised around and for a week or two all the cafe and restaurant proprietors who have been violating the law will be careful to keep down the lid. As soon as they think that we have relaxed our watch they will be back at the old tricks. The fact that everything is closed tight now does not mean that we have a model city, but that the old offenders are fighting shy of us."

Yesterday morning Commissioner Farley, Deputy Commissioners Norris, Special Deputy Commissioner Jas. S. Regan and Lawyers Firestone and Donnellon with about fifteen department agents made a tour of Sheepshead Bay and Coney Island in automobiles. Saloon keepers and beer garden proprietors were waiting with bland smiles and closed shops. Commissioner Farley returned the smile and advised the men to keep on being good. It was midnight when the tour started.

The commissioner is going to do a good deal of spying around, and for a month or two he will be a frequent midnight visitor to places which his agents have reported to him as suspicious.

The agents or detectives of the department now number about forty in the city. They are distributed in the various boroughs with the largest number at Coney Island. They are dressed in civilian clothes and of course have to do their work after 1 o'clock in the morning. They stroll around from place to place in the guise of early morning revellers with a heavy thirst, and at each place they call for drinks. If the drinks are forthcoming the name of the cafe and of the proprietor go down in a note book, and the first thing the latter knows he is served with a summons to appear before the court of appeals to show cause why his license should not be revoked.

PANAMA CANAL BILL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Senator Johnson today unsuccessfully attempted to make the senate sit continuously until the Panama canal bill is finished and to limit speakers to five minutes each.

It was believed that when the bill was taken up today, however, that it might be completed and finally voted on before adjournment tonight.

MILLIONAIRE COP

WALKING STREETS AND HAS NOT GOT A CENT

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Ex-Lieut. John W. Vaughn of the New York police department, who used to be known both as Chickens, because of his liking for that fowl, and as the Millionaire Cop, is walking the streets today without a cent, without a home, and worst of all with his appetite for chicken unimpaired.

"I used to have almost a million," said Vaughn, "and now I haven't the price of a meal. It's been—well, I don't know how long since I squared up to a steak, and as for chicken, I can barely remember how it tastes."

Vaughn says his fall began the day he married 25 years ago. All the thousands he made in real estate he deeded to his wife, as well as a $25,000 house, a farm in the Catskills and a riding horse worth $1000. About 12 years ago his wife got a divorce and took all the property along with her.

In 1904, Vaughn said, he filed a petition in bankruptcy. In June of the present year he retired from the force, with a pension of $1125 a year. When he went around to headquarters to get the first payment, he found the money had been paid to his wife by order of the court, because he had fallen behind with his alimony.

He is going back to a farm in New Jersey, he says, as soon as he can raise carfare, because on a farm one can at least earn board and lodging with an occasional chance at a chicken.

REBELS BEATEN

TUCSON, Ariz., Aug. 8.—Word was received here today that Col. Costerlitzky, commanding 200 federal cavalry, made a brilliant charge Tuesday night and forced the rebels from La Dura, Senora, back into the hills in disorder. The rebel losses are reported heavy.

GRAND CIRCUIT

HANDICAPPED BY THE ABSENCE OF POOL SELLING

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 8.—That the absence of pool selling prohibited by law is a handicap to a grand circuit meet in this city is freely expressed by the management as well as horse-owners and drivers. With the weather that has prevailed this week the driving club officers say there would have been three times as many people as have thus far visited the track.

Today is counted one of the big days of the meet. The card calls for the 2:09 pace with a purse of $1000 the final in the professional drivers stake, 2:15 trot, $3000, the preliminaries of which were run Monday and the championship free for all trots.

SUES FOR $594,000

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Acting as administratrix of the estate of the late Geo. L. Clark, her husband, Mrs. Helen A. Clark brought suit in the superior court here today against four co-partners and stockbrokers in the firm of Hawes, Tewksbury & Co. of this city to recover $594,000.

Mrs. Clark claims that her husband lost the money in stock transactions while dealing with the defendants between September, 1909, and January, 1912.

CHRISTIAN WORKERS

EAST NORTHFIELD, Aug. 8.—This was musical day at the Northfield conference of Christian Workers. Two special services were led by George C. Stebbins of Brooklyn, the veteran hymn writer and composer. Miss Claire Chapman, another hymn writer, led a children's choir at a third service.

At the regular sessions the speakers included H. Jc Maxwell of the Somerville Y. M. C. A. and Mrs. Turner Hamlin of Washington, D. C.
